

CONVICTS THIRTY-EIGHT DYNAMITERS ON COUNTS OF FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

MILWAUKEE AND DAVENPORT MEN ARE ONLY TWO FREED BY JURY'S VERDICT AT INDIANAPOLIS TODAY.

HIGH UNION OFFICERS

Frank M. Ryan, Olaf Tveitmo, and H. S. Hockin Among Those Convicted of Dynamite Conspiracy Causing Inestimable Losses.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Indianapolis, Dec. 28.—Thirty-eight labor union officials today were found guilty of complicity in the McNamara dynamite plot including the wrecking of the Los Angeles Times building, Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, was among those convicted. He, with others, was accused of using union funds to destroy the property of contractors who refused to recognize the union.

Two defendants, Herman G. Seifert, Milwaukee, and Daniel Buckley, Davenport, Ia., were found not guilty.

Guilty on All Counts.

The verdicts were brought in at 10 a. m. All the indicted guilty were found guilty on all the counts as charged in the indictments. The jury was discharged and court adjourned until 10 a. m. Monday, at which time sentences will be imposed.

Seifert and Buckley, the only two men out of the forty labor union officials to be adjudged not guilty, immediately were discharged from custody.

After Judge Anderson had cleared the court room of all spectators and the families of the defendants, the thirty-eight prisoners were taken in custody by deputy United States marshals and special detectives and were taken to the Marion county jail.

The conviction of Olaf A. Tveitmo and Eugene A. Clancy, of San Francisco and J. E. Munsey of San Francisco, who were charged with plotting the Los Angeles explosion in which twenty-one persons were killed and assisted in the escape of James B. McNamara in his flight from the scene of that crime.

Sustains McNamara Charges.

By its verdict the jury also sustained the charges that the McNamara brothers, now in prison in California, were aided in the nation-wide dynamite plots by almost all the executive officials of the iron workers' union and that they knowingly carried on the conspiracy for years by causing explosives to be transported on passenger trains.

At the head of the union of 12,000 members, is President Ryan, once sought in the councils of the American Federation of Labor. Tveitmo, of San Francisco, was charged with not only supplying two men to assist in blowing up the Los Angeles Times building, but also with having asked for more explosives on the Pacific coast. He is secretary of the California Building Trades council, an editor and recognized labor leader in labor circles on the coast.

Hockin is Included.

Also at the head of those found guilty is Herbert S. Hockin, called the "ago" of the conspiracy because he was charged with first initiating the plot. He is a hired dynamite man, and then betraying all the dynamiters to promote his own ambition. It was he who once as secretary of the international union whispered into the ear of Detective Burns the names of the Los Angeles dynamiters.

John T. Butler, vice president of the iron workers' union also was convicted by the court as a "helper" after he had denied the McNamara was drawing $1,000 a month to pay for dynamitings.

Wives Make Appeal.

An almost tragic scene took place in the court room in the few minutes following the end of the trial. As United States Marshal Edward Schmidt ordered the prisoners one by one to step before the court the wives of a score of the men in the rear of the room leaned pitifully over the railings calling for their husbands.

Mrs. Frank J. Higgins of Boston leaned far over the railing and collapsed. She had been crying hysterically.

Another disposition was shown by Mrs. John H. Barry of St. Louis and with a smile she threw her arms about her husband begging him to have courage.

"Be of good cheer, John," she said. "You can't expect a severe punishment."

As soon as his name was called Frank K. Painter, of Omaha pulled a stick pin out of his necktie and handed them to one of his attorneys James K. Conney, one of the Chicago prisoners, sat with outward calm reading a newspaper while the verdicts were read and threw down the paper only when his name was called to step before the court.

Possible Punishment.

Possible punishments vary from minimum to a maximum of thirty-nine and one half years in the discretion of the court. Each prisoner as found guilty stands convicted of having in one instance joined a conspiracy to commit an offense against the United States government, this being punishable by two years in prison or a fine of $10,000, or both. Each prisoner also is found guilty of twenty-five charges of illegal transportation of explosives on interstate trains.

Each offense is punishable by an

CHRONOLOGY OF TRIAL.

Oct. 1, 1911, Government authorities exactly one year after the Los Angeles "Times" explosion, for first time, consider possibility of federal prosecution for illegal transportation of explosives.

Feb. 6, 1912, federal grand jury returns indictments against 54 labor union officials.

Feb. 14, most of the defendants scattered over the country arrested within a few hours by a telegraphic signal.

Oct. 1, trial begins exactly two years after Los Angeles explosion. Fifty defendants present; three dismissed by government; Otis E. McNamara pleads guilty, leaving 46 for trial.

Oct. 2, jury sequestered, composed mostly of farmers; government opens its case.

Oct. 5, Herbert S. Hockin accused by district attorney with having been a spy within the ranks of the dynamiters, and with having given information to the prosecution.

Oct. 7, Edward Clark, Cincinnati, pleads guilty to having blown up a bridge at Dayton, O., and accuses Hockin of having furnished the dynamite; 45 defendants remain for trial.

Nov. 9, McNamara begins relating his confession on the witness stand; implicates iron workers' union officials as having pointed out jobs for him to blow up in the business.

Nov. 23, Hockin's bond increased in default of which he is committed to jail, after more testimony that he was employed by defectives while an official of the union; court denounces Hockin as "not to be trusted by any one, day or night"; Miss Mary Field a writer, denounced by the district attorney as an "anarchist"; for criticisms published in union magazine; Olaf A. Tveitmo, San Francisco, a defendant, also denounced by district attorney for publishing "anarchistic" criticisms of the trial.

Dec. 2, Government concludes its case, after presenting 54 witnesses; whose testimony covers 25,000 pages; 4 more defendants discharged by the government, leaving 41 for trial; McNamara begins; Hockin resigns as secretary-treasurer of the iron workers' union.

Chief Prosecutor, United States District Attorney Charles W. Miller.

Chief counsel for the defense, United States Senator John W. Kern and William N. Harding.

Federal Judge who conducted trial, Albert B. Anderson.

Labor union of which most of the defendants were members, International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

Charges: Illegal transporting dynamite and nitro-glycerin on passenger trains, or conspiracy "to do the same."

Imprisonment of eighteen months or a $2,000 fine or both, while the cumulative possible punishments are thirty-nine and one half years. The court intimated in the course of the trial he would issue sentence in accordance with the degree of guilt.

Acts All Related.

All the other acts were charged as being related to the series of dynamite and nitro-glycerin explosions including those on the Pacific coast as well as those in New England which were directed against "open shops," structural iron and steel contractors against whom a strike was called about to reveal the iron workers' union in 1905.

After receiving their sentences the prisoners are to be taken to a federal prison, probably at Leavenworth, Kan.

Jury Out Fifteen Hours.

The end of the historic trial came at 10 a. m. the jury having been out since Thursday at 5 p. m. As the jurors entered Judge Anderson's court room and passed before the forty men on trial, the importance of what they were about to reveal was indicated only by intensely pale faces.

"Gentlemen of the jury, have you agreed upon verdicts?" asked Judge Anderson.

"We have," said the foreman, rising from his seat. His voice was like a whisper, but it echoed throughout the court room. The sobbing of women was heard from that part of the room where sat the wives of the defendants. A bundle of white papers was passed from the jury box to Clerk Noble C. Butler. On those papers was written liberty or imprisonment for many more men than usually are tried by one jury. In the rear of the room the suppressed sobbing again suggested agitation.

Ryan's Name First.

"Everybody remain seated," demanded the United States marshal. Silence again was restored save for the rustling of the paper which Clerk Butler tremblingly held in his hands and which he proceeded to read. The first name was Ryan, Clerk Butler pronounced it and cleared his throat. "Guilty," he read. "We find the defendant Ryan guilty as charged in the indictment."

All who could see him looked at Ryan, a gray-headed man of fifty-seven years and appearing older, a man who had traveled for the union much. He said he had no home and save for two grown sons had no family. "I have a repeated description of home," was his oft-repeated description of home.

Gentlemen of the jury, is that your verdict?"

The answer came from each juror: "It is." Then began the further reading of the brief message which pronounced one by one the fate of the other defendants. About thirty wives with almost as many children are separated from their husbands by the verdicts. While the scene was being enacted in the court room the four-year-old son of William C. Bernhardt of Cincinnati, one of the defendants, was playing in the lobby with a red-painted toy engine, which he had received Christmas. He had become the pet of the federal building and could not understand when told his father was "going away."

Miller's Statement.

Almost the entire staff of executive officials of the ironworkers' union was convicted. Charles W. Miller, the United States district attorney who prosecuted for the government, said: "Nothing else could have been expected. The evidence of a nation-wide conspiracy which began in local sluggings and assaults on non-union workmen and grew because local authorities were too weak to prosecute. Finally became so bold that dynamite was resorted to. The dynamiters grew bold in violating the federal laws in carrying these deadly explosives on passenger trains because they never dreamed of prosecution. That was what emboldened McNamara, the secretary of the union, to get an appropriation of $1,000 a month so that the work of destruction might be carried on systematically. It was what made him bold enough to send his brother, James B. McNamara, to blow up not only the Los Angeles Times building, but also plot to blow up the whole city of Los Angeles. This prosecution will be a benefit to organized labor. It will purge it of its worst tactics. The whole United States owes a debt of gratitude to that jury."

Great Crowd Gathered.

The foreman of the jury was Frank Dore of New Lisbon, Indiana, a retired farmer. Immense crowds assembled in the streets about the building where the verdicts were being returned and when the prisoners were brought out each handcuffed between two deputy marshals, the streets became so clogged that police had to force the people back.

As they emerged handcuffed on the top steps of the building with gray-haired Frank Ryan, his face seemed wrinkled and gray. The groups of prisoners stood between two colossal marble statues representing liberty and justice.

The scene was bathed in a golden winter sunlight. The crowds looked up silent. Silence, too, attended the prisoners as in a file almost half a block long they marched linked to their keepers toward the Marion county jail.

Disposition of McNamara.

Otis E. McNamara, the confessed dynamite man, who became the chief witness for the government, naming numerous men as having assisted him in causing explosions, and Edward Clark of Cincinnati, who pleaded guilty at the opening of the trial here, remain to be disposed of.

Clark probably will be sentenced with the others on Monday. He confessed to blowing up a bridge at Dayton, Ohio.

McNamara has been here in custody of a deputy marshal of Los Angeles county, California, as a "loan" to the federal prosecution. He probably will not be sentenced here at this time, but will be returned to Los Angeles to await sentence on his plea of blowing up an iron works.

History of Trial.

Indianapolis, Ind.—It was a scene blended with tragedy that confronted those who week after week sat through the historic "dynamite conspiracy" trials.

Now it was a baby crying from the rear of the court room, where the wives and children of the defendants sat; now it was the heavy voice of a man seated in the witness chair and defending himself against the charges of a nation-wide conspiracy, in which officials of union labor were deeply concerned. Witnesses from near and far came and went, those whose fate rested with the jury remained there, listening to the accusations and to the oft-repeated story of the killing of 21 people in the Los Angeles "Times" explosion.

The court room itself seemed a fitting setting for that sombre story. Surrounded by great marble pillars, with the daylight shut out by heavy curtains, and the judge installed before an allegorical painting of Justice.

(Continued on page 11)

KERN WILL APPEAL DYNAMITE CASES

Counsel for Defendants States That Preparations Are Already Being Made for New Trial.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Senator Kern of counsel for the defendants, when told of the verdict at Indianapolis, declared the cases would be appealed. "Preparations for the appeal were made in advance," said Senator Kern, "and will be made to the United States circuit court of appeals in the regular way." Further than that Senator Kern declined to comment.

May Turn Over Evidence.

Attorney General. Wickham said he considered the question of turning over to various states authorities the evidence taken at the dynamite trial for such action as local authorities might wish to take toward the possible prosecution of the convicted men on charges of being accessories to murders and destruction of property.

Morrison Taciturn.

Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, declined to comment today on the verdict at Indianapolis in the cases of the thirty-eight labor officials found guilty of complicity in the McNamara dynamite plot.

Gompers is Silent.

New York, Dec. 28.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, had no comment to make today on the outcome of the dynamite case in Indianapolis.

NEW JAPANESE AMBASSADOR.

Tokio, Japan, Dec. 28.—Lars Anderson, the newly appointed United States ambassador to Japan, arrived here today and will at once take over the duties of the embassy to which he was appointed in succession to Charles Page Bryan.

PEACE CONFERENCE TODAY IS FUTILE; WILL MEET MONDAY

Balkan Envoys Balk at Turkish Counter Proposals and Ottoman's Wire For Further Instructions.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Dec. 28.—The peace envoys representing the Balkan allies and the Turkish empire met again in St. James' palace today and after an hour and a half discussion decided on further adjournment until four o'clock Monday afternoon.

The delegates of Bulgaria, Greece, Montenegro, Serbia and Turkey gathered at eleven, it being the turn of the Turks to preside and Wreghad Pasha took the chair. Business began at once and the first matter on hand was the presentation by the Turkish plenipotentiaries of the counter proposals put forward by the Ottoman government in reply to proposals offered by the Balkan allies.

The Balkan representatives found the Turks' conditions quite unacceptable and after an hour and a half discussion, in which no further progress was made, the Turkish envoys said they must communicate again with their government at Constantinople.

The official of the sixth session of the peace conference issued immediately after adjournment says:

"The Turkish delegates having presented their counter proposals, the delegates of the Balkan allies made their observations and the meeting was adjourned until Monday."

The proposals presented by the Ottoman delegates were: First, the province of Adrianople to remain under the direct administration of Turkey.

Second: Macedonia is to be converted into a principality with Salonika as its capital, the principality to be under the suzerainty of the Sultan of Turkey, but governed by a prince chosen by the Balkan allies and nominated by the Sultan of Turkey, this prince to be a protestant and from a neutral state.

Third: Albania to be autonomous under the sovereignty of the Sultan and governed by a prince of the imperial family, who is to be chosen for five years with a possibility of a renewal.

Fourth: All the islands in the Aegean sea to remain Turkish. Fifth: The Cretan question not to be decided by the conference as it is a matter between Turkey and the European powers.

MURDERS HIS WIFE AND MOTHER-IN-LAW

Edward Hart of La Grange, Ind., Husband of Few Months, Captured Soon After Committing Crime.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

La Grange, Ind., Dec. 28.—Edward Hart early today shot and killed his wife, Mrs. Rena Hart from whom he was separated and her mother, Mrs. Sarah McBride. Hart was captured. Mrs. McBride was shot as she slept. Mrs. Hart awakened by the report ran from her bedroom and was shot down. Her death occurred two hours later. Hart had been married but a few months.

MAN FOUND UNCONSCIOUS DIES IN OSHKOSH HOSPITAL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Oshkosh, Dec. 28.—Friendless, poorly clad, almost exhausted physically, a man who carried a primer, after being the name of Arthur Reardon, was found last evening in an unconscious condition in the northern outskirts of the city. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital in the ambulance and died there at two o'clock this morning of prismatic poisoning.

NEW LICENSES REQUIRED FOR ALL AUTOMOBILES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Dec. 28.—In response to telephone communications and letters received at his office, Secretary of State Fear has informed all inquirers that under the provisions of the automobile law passed by the last legislature every motor vehicle license must be renewed for the ensuing year and that failure to procure the license for riding under the old number plates subjects the owner to the penalty provided for by law.

Make Your Dollars Do Double Duty

This is the time of the year when DOLLARS have their greatest purchasing power. The reason for this is the big stock-reducing sales and the specially prepared yearly sales now in progress at Janesville's leading stores.

Many stores are preparing for inventory. They are reducing heavy stocks, closing out odd lots, and sacrificing holiday merchandise in order to put their house in order for the coming year. And as an extraordinary inducement for you to stock up now on home needs and anticipate future necessity, they offer buying opportunities not to be thought of for several months to come.

The best way to know about all these "good things" and take advantage of the economy they afford, it is to read THE GAZETTE'S advertisements closely and constantly every day. Prove it yourself by reading the advertisements in THE GAZETTE tonight.

(Copyrighted 1912, by J. F. Fallon)

WELCOME TO WILSON AT HIS EARLY HOME

President-Elect Passes Night in Parsonage Where He Was Born 56 Years Ago Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Stanton, Va., Dec. 28.—Woodrow Wilson, president-elect of the United States, opened his eyes here today in the same home and in practically the same surroundings as fifty-six years ago today when he was born. He slept in the parsonage of the First Presbyterian church of which his father, the Reverend Joseph R. Wilson, was pastor more than half a century ago. From far and wide admirers and childhood friends flocked in the crowd which began to surge through the streets early to gain the best vantage points from which to catch a glimpse of the future president and to view the parade which marks the celebration of his birthday anniversary.

Governor Mann and other officials both state and local joined in welcoming Governor Wilson. To this reception he had planned a speech in response which will be followed by a public reception and tonight a banquet at which he is to speak. One of the features in the program today was when Governor Wilson decided to ribbon three women who held him on their knees when he yelled lustily and who admiringly examined his first teeth. They were Mrs. Elizabeth Kayser, Mrs. J. L. Hoover and Mrs. Amanda Sultz.

The parade, which the president-elect will review with Governor Mann will be followed by an informal reception at the manse. Reverend Doctor A. N. Frazier, pastor of the church which Governor Wilson's father was the head and who now occupies the birth home of Governor Wilson will deliver the welcoming address. At the parade to follow the first in line will be a negro, Paul T. Ware, who wheeled Governor Wilson in babyhood.

ADD WELCOME TO WILSON

With the music of a dozen bands, the cheers of thousands of people gathered from all parts of the country, President-elect Wilson stood in a glow of sunshine today receiving a great parade of his fellow townsmen. Practically the whole town and its guests joined in the parade. Everywhere along the line of march flags and colors were spread.

The president-elect smiled appreciatively as the demonstration proceeded with increasing noise and enthusiasm. Old residents came by the score to shake the governor's hands.

"I heard your father preach many years ago," said an old letter-carrier.

"Did it do you any good," asked the president-elect, with a smile.

"No, I'm a Methodist," was the letter-carrier's laughing reply.

The governor said he felt "as well as ever."

CHIEF OF MOUNTED POLICE TO RETIRE

Lieutenant Colonel Frederick White, C. M. G. Obligated to Leave Service Because of Poor Health.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 28.—After more than forty years of faithful and efficient work in the service of the Dominion, Lieut. Col. Frederick White, C. M. G., will retire next Tuesday from the post of Comptroller-General of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police. Few men in the Canadian civil service have better known than Lieut. Col. White and fewer still have rendered more distinguished services to their country.

Born in England sixty-five years ago, Col. White came to Canada as a young man and after a short time spent in the service of the Grand Trunk Railway he was appointed to a clerkship in the Department of Justice. By 1876 he had risen to the position of chief clerk.

On the organization of the Northwest Mounted Police Lieut. Col. White was selected by the late Sir John A. Macdonald to take charge of the administration of the police bureau of Ottawa. Since that time he has devoted himself wholly to affairs in connection with Western Canada, and no one has done more to advance the interests of that section of the country. Since 1876 he has been at the head of the Northwest Mounted Police, an organization famous the world over for its efficiency and discipline. An important extension of his work was undertaken in 1905, when he was appointed a special commissioner to administer the government of the unorganized Northwest Territories. At the time of the coronation of King Edward he was rewarded with the honor of C. M. G.

For more than a year Lieut. Col. White has been in failing health and since last spring he has been on leave of absence. It is generally expected that his successor as Comptroller of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police will be Lawrence Fortescue, I. S. O., who is at present assistant commissioner and accountant of the department. Mr. Fortescue has been connected with the Mounted Police since the early days of the force, having been appointed in 1875. He came to Ottawa from the West to assist in the administration of the force, and has held the position of assistant comptroller since 1908.

INSTRUCTOR OF GERMAN HELD FOR BURGLARY.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., Dec. 28.—After a persistent watch had been maintained nightly by the police for a man who entered West End homes, patrolman George Schwartz last night arrested Erick Schroetter, an instructor in German at the university of Wisconsin. He was fined $25 and costs today on his plea of guilty to a drunk and disorderly charge and is now held for alleged burglary in the night time.

CITY CLERK CERTIFIES THAT RECALL PETITIONS CAN'T HOLD UNDER LAW

DECISION THAT THREE RECALL LISTS ARE INSUFFICIENT IS FILED BY MR. HAMMARLUND THIS AFTERNOON.

MANY IRREGULARITIES

Failure to Give Specific Grounds for Removal, Discrepancies in Affidavits, and Disqualifications of Signers, Give Many Loop-holes.

Petitions for the calling of an election to determine whether Mayor James A. Fathens, and Councilmen R. M. Cummings and Chauncey K. Millmore shall be recalled from office were certified by City Clerk Hammarlund today as being insufficient and not in accordance with the provisions of the commission government act.

The effect of this certification is to throw out the petitions submitted and necessitate the circulation, signature and verification of new petitions if a recall election is to be held. The signers have ten days in which to amend the petitions, but from the nature of the defects they disclose, such amendment appears altogether improbable.

Not Sufficient Grounds.

As reasons for declaring the petitions insufficient the city clerk states that they are not in accordance with sub-section 925M-397 of the statutes of 1911 because they do not contain a sufficient "general statement of the grounds upon which removal is sought"; that they call for the election of a mayor and two councilmen at one time which is illegal, according to the most evident intent and construction of the statute; and further, more that the verification on various sheets of the petitions were made at an earlier date than the dates of the signatures. This latter defect in itself would make the petitions illegal.

Another ground for declaring the recall petitions illegal is that a number of those who signed the affidavits could not swear to the genuineness of the signatures. Examination of the qualifications of the signers disclosed the fact that 150 of them were not qualified electors, according to information based on the last registration and the poll lists of the last presidential election. A number of those not found electors may be so but the information at hand does not show it and the proof of their qualifications rests with the recall supporters. Eight signatures were found to be duplicated on various sheets in the petitions.

In his findings as to the legal insufficiency of the petitions the city clerk has relied upon an opinion drawn up by City Attorney W. H. Dougherty, which is made a part of the certification by reference.

The opinion of City Attorney Dougherty, with regard to the legality of the recall petitions filed against the mayor and councilmen, delivered at the request of J. P. Hammarlund, city clerk, is as follows:

Submits Conclusions.

"Sir: Within ten days from the filing of a petition for the recall of the mayor or either councilman, it is your duty under the law to determine the sufficiency of said petition, and certify the result of said examination." It for any reason you should determine the petition to be insufficient "the particulars of such insufficiency" should "be set forth in such certificate." The three petitions, together with the findings of fact thereon, having been referred to me, I submit the following conclusions for your consideration.

"The law provides that 'the mayor or either councilman may be removed' when a petition shall be filed with the city clerk demanding the election of a successor to the person sought to be removed. Such petition to contain a general statement of the grounds upon which the removal is sought. The 'grounds' assigned in said petition for the recall of the mayor and councilmen are, in substance as follows: Incompetency; failure to perform the duties of the office; lack of moral courage; failure to enforce the laws of the city and state; that certain officers permit and allow the money of said city to be squandered upon the streets; and lastly, that favoritism is shown in the enforcement of the ordinance.

Grounds Insufficient.

"In my opinion the above is not in compliance with law. While it is true that the law does not require a particular statement of the facts constituting the official or personal misconduct complained of, yet it seems to me that some 'ground' should be set out in a 'general statement' in such manner that the particular officer and the public in general should be advised of the complaint. To say that a man is incompetent is a mere conclusion and is not a sufficient general statement of a 'ground' for removal. To say that the officer lacks moral courage means absolutely nothing in a 'statement of grounds.' To say that the officer fails and neglects to perform all the duties of his office is nothing more than a charge of neglect. The law doesn't call for a general statement of the charges, but of the 'grounds' upon which the charges are based. It would profit nothing to continue a further survey along this line. It must strike any reasonable man that for the purpose of a recall something more should be set forth than the loose allegations contained in these petitions. There should be some statement of fact. It is fair to assume that those interested in this movement are basing their action upon facts and it imposes no burden upon them to ask that they state these facts in a general way. It is not required that the statement be as particular and exact as is made incumbent in court, but only that the facts be generally set forth. This is a most serious business in the nature of a public impeachment. Its consequences are important to the public and of grave personal consequence to the official to be tried. Formerly a public officer once elected to office by the suffrage of the people could be removed only for sufficient cause and was entitled to notice of the time and place of hearing and an opportunity to defend against the charges. Our own charter provides for a procedure of this kind.

On Trial Before Public.

"The theory of the recall, however, is to place the officer upon trial before the public. All that is required is that a 'general statement' of the grounds upon which his removal is sought, be incorporated in a petition. This he has a legal right to insist upon before he is tried; this the public are entitled to have before they are called upon to bear the expense of his trial.

"The fact you have learned with regard to the verification of the petition, or rather as to the verification of the separate sheets of the petitions, clearly indicates (Continued on page 6).

START ON LAST LAP OF TRIP TO ALBANY

Suffragette Band Plod Through Deep Snow on Last Day of March To New York Capital.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Niverville, N. Y., Dec. 28.—Notwithstanding a decided drop in the temperature "General" Rosalie Jones and her "army of suffragettes" started out this morning through the deep snow on the last day of their march on Albany. The five pilgrims were in high spirit and there was a great stir and bustle in camp long before the hour set for departure. Mrs. Joseph Givitt and Miss Elizabeth Smith of the Albany Equal Franchise League with fifty or more Albany enthusiasts headed by a brass band will lead the procession triumphantly into the city of Albany.

STATE TREASURER CALLS IN MONEY IN DEPOSITORIES.

Madison, Wis., Dec. 28.—The state treasurer is calling in all the money now in the 110 state depositories aggregating $1,487,000 in order to audit the account, and begin January first with a clean set of books.

FIFTEEN SAILORS DROWNED IN WRECK OF STEAMER.

Penzance, Eng., Dec. 28.—Fifteen of the crew of the Danish steamship Volmer were drowned when she was wrecked on Thursday in the gale which had been raging in the English channel.

DECREASE IN THE RESERVES OF CLEARING HOUSE BANKS

Hanan Shoes for Gentlemen

HANAN Shoes are the acme of perfection in shoe making. Built on custom lasts; typically a gentleman's shoe. $5.00 and $6.00.

D.J. LUBY

New Year's Gifts

Many people have made it a custom to give New Year's Gifts. We have a nice line of moderately priced Gold and Silver articles. Look them over and you will find something which will please you.

Geo. E. Fatzinger
JEWELER.

HIGHEST PRICES.

govern our dealings with all our clients. Try us on junk of all kinds.

S. W. ROTSTEIN IRON CO.,
60 So. River St., Bell, 459.
Rock Co. phone 1212.

MEN'S SUITS AND OVERCOATS
Now is the time to have them
FAULTLESSLY DRY CLEANED
And this is the place to bring them
JANESVILLE CHEMICAL STEAM DYE WORKS
C. F. BROCKHAUS & SON.

HOT MALTED CLAMS
A MIGHTY FINE DRINK, 10c

RAZOOK'S
CANDY PALACE

CHILBLAINS

Are you suffering the tortures of frost, swollen feet? Get a 25c bottle of Badger Chilblain Remedy, never fails to remove the swollen inflammation or soreness. Sold only by the Badger Drug Co., Cor. W. Milwaukee and River Sts.

When In Need Of Local Time Tables

CALL AT THE GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU.

For the convenience of the public The Gazette Travel Bureau is supplied with material regarding most every line of transportation in the country. Particularly is this true regarding the two local lines. A large number of their time tables have been received here, which, as well as other literature pertaining to travel, can be secured at this office.

Cloth Gloves

Warm, not clumsy, yet serviceable. If you are not already wearing them, you should test the undeniable merits of our gloves and mittens.

Canton Flannel Gloves, excellent quality, Men's, Boy's or Youths' sizes, band or knit wrists, at 10c, or 3 pair 25c.

Extra heavy Canton Flannel Gloves, 14-oz., blue knit wrists, at 15c, or 2 pair 25c.

Canton Flannel Gloves, leather tips on fingers, knit wrists, at 15c, or 2 pair 25c.

Canton Flannel Gloves, with leather fronts, at 25c.

Men's Canton Flannel Gauntlets, large size, at 15c, or 2 pair 25c; same style with leather fronts, at 25c pair.

Brown Jersey Gloves or Mitts, at 10c a pair.

Men's Tick Mitts, warm lining, at 10c a pair; same style only heavier weight, at 15c, or 2 pair 25c.

Men's Cloth Mitts with leather fronts, at 25c.

Boys' Tick Mitts, at 10c pair.

Give us a trial and convince yourself that you can get the best values here.

HALL & HUEBEL

The last two years the supply of copies of the Review and Chronological of the Gazette has been exhausted and many people have been disappointed. The price is 50c per copy, 6 for 25c, and orders should be phoned or sent in to the office tonight.

How Fifteen-Year Old Drummer Boy Enlisted In the Union Army

In a recent issue of the Madison Democrat appeared an article by H. W. Rood of Madison, patriotic instructor of the Department of Wisconsin, G. A. R., in which was included a letter from Dr. F. O. Burdick of Boulder, Colo. Dr. Burdick was a member of the Fortieth Wisconsin regiment as a drummer boy, enlisting when only fifteen years of age. His story of how he came to enlist will be of interest to local veterans and people of Rock county as well.

In the letter mention is made of some of the officers, notably Bishop Samuel Fallows, now of Chicago, but who was then lieutenant-colonel of the regiment. Also W. Augustus Ray, colonel of the regiment, and Prof. Albert R. Crandall of Milton, who was first lieutenant of Company C, of which Mr. Burdick was a member.

I have before me a letter written by Dr. F. O. Burdick of Boulder, Colorado, in which he gives an account of his army service. It was not written for publication, yet I shall take the liberty of printing a part of it.

"My father served fourteen years in the New York state militia, seven years as a drummer and seven as a fife. Among my first recollections of him was his playing the fife, and this led to my enjoying martial music myself. He bought for me a toy drum when I was a little fellow, and encouraged me to learn to play it. So long as it lasted I used it to good advantage. The next drum I owned was one made by an older brother, assisted by a neighbor.

"At this time we lived in Utica, Dane county, Wisconsin, to which place my father had moved in 1851. With this home-made drum, my father playing the fife and some one else the big drum—I took a proud part in a martial band that furnished music for a flag raising at Utica a year or two before the beginning of the war. A 75-foot liberty pole had been erected by the boys of that community, and a new flag purchased to float from it. Appropriate exercises were held in which our martial band played an important part. Old Glory was hoisted amid the shouts of the people who had assembled to show their love for our country and our flag.

"At this time I was about eleven years old. A little later than this I joined a 'Wide-Awake' cavalry company organized by the Rev. Zuriel Campbell, an uncle of mine—whose father, John Campbell, had served as captain in the war of 1812. Elder Campbell was captain of this company of cavalry. I was, though young, large enough to stick to the horse's back pretty well. My steed's name was Topsy, and a 'wide-awake' she was indeed. Between paying the necessary attention to her antics and listening to orders, I was kept busy enough.

"We were uniformed with white pants, and blue roundabouts trimmed with red. Not all of us had saddles, and I remember how, when the horses began to sweat during our evolutions, our trousers were wet through and soiled. Our company was not mustered into the service, yet our organization and drill aroused an enthusiasm for service. As a member of this company, I played the drum only before and after our drill.

"On the day when Abraham Lincoln was first elected president—if I remember rightly that was on the 6th of November, 1860, I was twelve years old. That day I peddled molasses candy at the polls. This was in the town of Christiansburg. When the war began, in 1861, I was in my thirteenth year. I went to Camp Randall, near Madison, and hired myself to an older brother who had a contract from the government to letter soldiers' accoutrements. While working with him the 8th and 11th Wisconsin regiments were in camp. It was at this time that I first became acquainted with 'Old Abe,' the war eagle of the Eight, the bird that made that regiment famous. He was brought into camp while I was there. I remember how proud he looked as, sitting on his shield, he was borne by his keeper through the gate and across the grounds.

"There was a lack of drummers in the Eleventh, and I was asked to enlist as such in one of the companies. This I was very anxious to do, and I went home at once to Utica to get the consent of my parents, but to my great disappointment, my mother said I was too young to go to war. Believing it my first duty to obey my mother I had to be content with staying at home. Though many boys ran away to enlist contrary to the wishes of their parents, I never attempted to do so.

"Thus the matter went on during the early years of the war, until the spring of 1864, when the 40th regiment was organized. The colonel of the 40th was W. Augustus Ray, a banker of Delavan; and the present Bishop Samuel Fallows of Chicago was lieutenant colonel. The regiment was made up mostly of companies recruited from the university and the various colleges of the state—Beloit, Appleton, Milton and Albion academy. It was known as the 'student regiment.' My own company, C, was recruited largely from Milton and Albion. Professor Nathan C. Twining was our captain and Professor Albert R. Crandall first lieutenant. Both were teachers at Milton. Professor Crandall is still teaching the sciences there—an honored veteran and educator. Richard A. Wareham of Milton was our second lieutenant.

"A little before this company was organized I had entered Albion academy as a student. Captain Twining came over to Albion soliciting enlistments. He asked me to go into his company as a drummer. I told him I had wanted to enlist before but that my parents had objected on account of my being so young. I signed the enlistment roll, however, telling him that, if he would go up to Utica and get the consent of my parents, I would be glad to go. He went to see my father and mother and they told him I might go, and so, in my fifteenth year I became the drummer boy of Company C of the 40th Wisconsin regiment. This was the color company, and my place in the line of march was next to that of the color sergeant.

"I will not say much concerning our stay in Camp Randall, yet will relate one incident that may be of interest. It so impressed itself upon my mind that it has influenced all my life since. Like many another boy at that age, I thought it would make more of a man of me to learn to smoke. One day my bunk-mate went up town and bought a new pipe and some tobacco. He put in on the beam over our bunk, said it was free plunder and told me to help myself. So I took the pipe, filled it and took my first smoke. I soon became terribly sick. To be tobacco-sick with a hundred men in the barracks to poke fun at a poor fellow was not very pleasant, so I went out upon the camp ground. But I was no better off there, for I was then in the presence of two thousand soldiers. I did not know what to do. I did not wish to have anybody know that smoking had made me sick, and so, seeing a place where there was a board off the fence, I thought to get out of camp. But a guard was pacing back and forth near the hole—and he carried a musket. I watched my chance, however, and when his back was turned I slipped through the fence and heeled it for the woods. There I had it out all by myself. I then and there vowed never again to use tobacco, and I have kept that vow.

"Our regiment left Camp Randall June 14, 1864, to re-enforce the Army of the Tennessee. We went first to Camp Douglas, Chicago and were from there transported over the Illinois Central railroad to Alton. There we took passage down the Mississippi river to St. Louis. From there we proceeded down the river to Memphis. There we relieved the army of General A. J. Smith, which went on an expedition into Louisiana. Our first service was picket duty, doing the work of a whole brigade. We were also put on train guard duty, taking provisions to General Smith's army in Mississippi and up the Red river.

"While we were at Memphis General Forrest raided the place in an attempt to capture General Washburn and release the rebel prisoners held in Memphis. We took an active part in driving General Forrest back. As Colonel Ray went to the city for a fresh supply of ammunition, to the great delight of all of us Lieutenant Colonel Fallows took command of the regiment. He was a fine officer, and was afterward promoted to be colonel of the 49th regiment. The most of our service in the south was doing picket, train and guard duty."

TODAY'S EDGERTON NEWS

Edgerton, Dec. 28.—Miss Tresa Quigley is visiting the Dimmick family in Beloit.

The Dallman Bros. received the contract for cementing the walls and basement of the new ware house.

Prof. Danour will hold his second dancing party and school in academy hall tonight.

Miss Hazel Conn was a Janesville visitor yesterday.

Miss Christine Rosoboe left today for Molina, Ill. She has been visiting friends here for the past week.

Lowell Whittell returned from Chicago last night.

The Stoughton Boy Scouts basketball five were defeated by the Edgerton five by a score of 44-7.

Visitors at the Carlton Friday: L. H. Larson, Stoughton; F. Cook, Stoughton; R. J. Gilbert, New York; George J. Engelheath, Milwaukee; John Linden, Chicago; P. L. Pederson, Janesville; A. Newell, Madison; J. P. Coon, Madison; W. C. Wendt, Monroe; A. M. Bundy, Chicago; Chas. Hanx, Chicago; C. B. Evans, Janesville; F. J. Colman, Madison; J. C. Lenoss, Chicago; M. Larson, Rock-dale; Max Hemberg, Cleveland; P. L. Powers, Milwaukee; F. M. Adams, Milwaukee; H. J. Hartman, Whitewater.

Mrs. P. J. Brown and daughter are visitors in Chicago this week.

Lyman Wood is in Janesville on business today.

Mrs. Harry Ash is a Janesville visitor today.

Frank Pyne is visiting in Janesville today.

R. J. Bontelle is a Janesville visitor today.

Mrs. Wetman Dickinson and daughter are in Janesville on business.

Ole Jacobson is a Chicago visitor today.

C. W. Beckmeyer is in Janesville on business.

Clarence and Charlie Olson are Janesville visitors today.

Harry McChesney is in Chicago on business today.

Will McIntosh is a Janesville visitor today.

Will Mills of Albion is in Janesville on business today.

The last two years the supply of copies of the Review and Chronological of the Gazette has been exhausted and many people have been disappointed. The price is 50c per copy, 6 for 25c, and orders should be phoned or sent in to the office tonight.

How many copies of the Review and Chronological edition do you want? Telephone your order to the Gazette Office tonight; the price is 50c per copy, 6 for 25c.

Buy it in Janesville.

UNCLE SAM EXPERIMENTS IN CAPITAL WITH NEW POSTAGE VENDING MACHINE

In the effort to give the public good postal service the postmaster general is trying out a new invention in the form of a postage stamp vending machine. One of the machines is in the lobby of the Washington post office building and a penny placed in the slot marked "one cent stamps" will operate the interior mechanism which forces the penny stamp out of a horizontal slot. The same operation is necessary for the two-cent variety. There is a letter-box below where the mail may be deposited.

New Postage Vending machine.

BULGARIANS USE AEROPLANES WITH GRATIFYING RESULTS IN WAR ON TURK

General Yankoff reading report of birdman after latter's trip over Adrianople. The Bulgarians have made use of the aeroplane with very marked success in the present war. They have several machines in constant use. The accompanying picture shows General Yankoff reading the report of Lieut. Tarentchieff after the latter's trip over Adrianople.

CHILDREN'S BUREAU HEAD IN THICK OF FIGHT TO REDUCE INFANT MORTALITY

Miss Julia Lathrop, director of the U. S. children's bureau in the department of commerce and labor, is in the very thick of the present fight to reduce infant mortality. Miss Lathrop recently declared that three out of every ten born die before reaching the age of ten years. Miss Lathrop's work is to better the existing conditions, and it was due to the government's belief that the welfare of the nation and its advance is dependant on the preservation of the children that her job and her department were created. Although her work embraces a wide field, she is directing her efforts particularly toward the diminution of infant mortality.

Opposition.
A Blair county barrister recently handed a brief up to the court in which he thus described his two brethren on the other side: "They are like two ghouls in a country graveyard seeking a carcass to devour."—Philadelphia Record.

There Are Compensations.
"This increased cost of living is something terrible!" said the young man as he paid the third installment on the engagement ring.

Read the Want Ads.

WATCHES

People who want good, reliable watches will find in our stock the products of the best European and American factories at reasonable prices.

OLIN & OLSON, Jewelers.

Cheap Medical Treatment.

There is a little medical mission in the East end of London which in the last ten years has treated a quarter of a million patients at a fee of four cents each. A physician attends to give advice and medical assistance every day from 11:30 to 12:30 in the forenoon and from 4:30 to 5:30 in the afternoon and always finds a long line of patients waiting to consult him.

Sympathetic Judge.

A middle aged woman, who was charged at Marylebone (Eng.) with being drunk, was said to have been found lying fast asleep in a garden on a quantity of cut flowers. "I must say I feel a little sorry for you," said Mr. Plowden. "Asleep on a bed of flowers—wakened up and brought back to this wicked world. It must have caused you a shock. You may go with a caution."

For Shoe Lace Tips.

The tips of shoe laces sometimes come off quite good laces. In this case they may be replaced with impromptu tags of sealing wax. Cut the tag, smear it over with sealing wax, then press it to a point while the wax is still warm.

Application.

The important end of historical knowledge is a prudent application of it to ourselves, with a view to regulate and amend our own conduct.—Thomas Zouch.

Mountain Weather Station.

The Argentine government has established a meteorological station at San Esteban, province of Cordoba, at an altitude of 4,000 feet.

Foils A Foul Plot.

When a shameful plot exists between liver and bowels to cause distress by refusing to act, take Dr. King's New Life Pills, and end such abuse of your system. They gently compel right action of stomach, liver and bowels, and restore your health and all good feelings. 25c at People's Drug Co.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, price 50c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Have Your Sewing Machine Repaired By An Expert. I am That Expert. Prices Reasonable.

A. R. STEELE
126 Corn Exchange.

Perfectly Natural

An affected pose never does a sinner justice and that's why we try to have our patrons assume natural poses which, with our superior lighting effects and rapid plates, make it possible for us to uniformly produce photographs which make their friends say "How perfectly natural!" Rain or shine, light day or dark, we can make a good negative of you.

Mott Studio
115 W. Milwaukee St.

Great Values In Furs At Reid's

A Positive Saving of One-Third On Any Fur Piece or Set In Our Stock.

If it was ever questioned that this was Janesville's most popular fur store, this season's constant activity and the superior showing of all classes of furs dispelled all doubt. Nor will it be doubted that we are giving the greatest values now. A saving of at least one-third on all furs.

Archie Reid & Co.
On The Bridge.

New 1913 Sturgis Go-Carts

Baby's health is, or should be, a source of much consideration. Lay early the foundation of a life free from physical ailments by giving your child every possible opportunity to take advantage of health-giving elements. Fresh air and sunshine are absolutely essential to the baby's welfare, and are the best two and most inexpensive doctors to be had. See our new line of 1913 famous Sturgis Go-carts, better than ever, $5.50 upwards.

W. H. ASHCRAFT

HOOSIER KITCHEN CABINETS

FURNITURE AND UNDERTAKING.

BOTH PHONES.

GINK AND DINK.

BY C. A. VOIGHT.

Mahager Clark of the Pittsburgh Pirates has just given Cupid a knock-out blow. Hans Wagner recently let it be known that he thought seriously of getting married this winter and retiring from baseball. As soon as this news reached Clark he made haste to arrange an interview with Hous. After the interview the flying Dutchman coyly announced that he had postponed the wedding a year. Clark wants to win the pennant next season and is mighty anxious to keep Wagner.

Before another year rolls round it's likely that some big league magnates will put their feet down on the practice many big league players now indulge of playing winter baseball. Close to half a hundred major league players are now playing daily on the Pacific coast. Many of these men will be stale when the time comes to get into their old uniforms next spring. Athletes need vacations. And besides, there's very little money in winter baseball for them.

Hans Brawn, Germany's champion middle distance runner, has announced his permanent retirement from athletics, giving pressure of the business as his reason for quitting. Brawn will be favorable to him.

FIGHT FANS WOULD LIKE TO SEE JACK BRITTON AND McFARLAND GET TOGETHER

Packey McFarland (at the left) and Jack Britton.

The recent report that Packey McFarland has at last consented to fight Jack Britton, and that the bout will be pulled off not later than January, was a welcome piece of news to fight fans. There has been a pretty general demand on the part of the sporting world for a battle between these two classy lightweights. It ought to be a fine fight. The two men are pretty evenly matched. Britton resembles Packey very much in face and form, and shows a style of boxing that closely resembles that of the Chicagoan. He does not look quite as big as Packey and it is doubtful if he is as strong. But Jack has wonderful speed and is a most clever boxer. He uses both hands well, judges distance accurately, and hits with much snap and steam.

REVIEW OF THE YEAR IS TO BE COMPLETE

Annual Gazette Publication Will Appear on Tuesday Next Replete in Every Particular.

For the past two months work has been in progress on the review and chronological number of the Gazette which is to be issued next Tuesday, Dec. 31st. This edition has come to be a reference number and is preserved and referred to for an indefinite period by those who secure a

The Busy Woman's Day.
It begins early, ends late, and is full of work. She often has kidney trouble without knowing it. Her back aches, and she is tired and worn out. Sleeps poorly, is nervous, no appetite. Her bladder gives her trouble too. Foley Kidney Pills will cure all that and make her strong and well. Mrs. Lena Beyer, 12 Frederick St., Auburn, N. Y. Says: "Three boxes of Foley Kidney Pills were all that were needed to make me strong and well." They are the best medicine made for kidney and bladder disorders. Try them. Badger copy, as it contains in condensed form a complete summary of all of Drug Co.

the occurrences of the year past. It covers the obituaries, births, reviews the progress of the city's affairs, the building, and commercial and social occurrences, which have transpired in the twelve months past.

There is always a very liberal advance call for extra copies of this edition and already orders have commenced to come into the Gazette office for it. In the past two years the supply has been entirely exhausted and many have been disappointed because they had not given in their orders early enough to be cared for. We advise immediate reservation of whatever number of copies you would desire. The public is assured of a paper equal in all ways to those of the past.

No single edition reflects the city's progress nor is so representative of the community as this review edition and for that reason it is extremely valuable as an advertising medium. Those who have announced intentions to make should have their copy in within the next forty-eight hours so that they can be accommodated. Orders for extra copies should be in also by Saturday evening at nine o'clock. The price of the edition per copy is five cents.

STAR BALL PLAYERS COME FROM BURG

Ed Walsh and Chief Myers.

Small towns and country places seem to have a monopoly on the production of big ball players. Among the stars of the diamond who have hailed from the burgo or the farms are Ed Walsh of the Chicago Cubs, Chief Myers of the New York Giants, Ty Cobb, C. Mathewson, Ed Plank, Clyde Milan, Frank Baker, Charley Herzog, Nap Rucker, Jeff Tesreau and Walter Johnson.

How many copies of the Review and Chronological edition do you want? Telephone your order to the Gazette Office tonight; the price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c.

LOCAL BASKETBALL TEAM BEATEN BY WHITEWATER.

Team Picked From Y. M. C. A. Players Defeated 44 to 22 by company Five last Night.

At Whitewater last evening, the Company C basketball team of that place, defeated a five selected from local players, doubling the score of the locals, 44 to 22. The Janesville squad was hurriedly picked in response to a telephone call from Whitewater, and went to Whitewater in an automobile about eight o'clock, returning about one o'clock. The lineup of the Janesville players was as follows: R. Cunningham and Atwood, forwards; Mott, Captain and Spooner, guards; Wilkinson center; Chase, sub.

How many copies of the Review and Chronological edition do you want? Telephone your order to the Gazette Office tonight; the price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c.

Girl's Definition of Good Taste.
In the Woman's Home Companion a writer reports his adventures with his niece Beth, who went to Boston to get culture. Beth was 13 years old, and after a visit at the art gallery, made this remark: "Well, of course I don't know anything about critics, but I know what I'd like. I'd like a critic who would tell me which the things are that nice people can keep on liking."

Stick to Right Principles.
The man whose principles are right will suffer his setbacks, lose his friends and have doubts, but in the long run he will win, and the victory, which is the result of principle, is a permanent one.

Could Shout For Joy.
"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Rader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It suited my case as though made just for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice, and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism, Electric Bitters have no equal. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50 cents at People's Drug Co.

Today's Evansville News

Evansville, Dec. 28.—Misses Hazel and Celia Keylock very pleasantly entertained a number of young ladies last Thursday evening at a kitchen shower in honor of Miss Ida Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Barnard entertained Christmas, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Barnard, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Robinson and daughter, Mrs. Lee Barnard and daughter of Evansville and Mrs. T. Calmers and daughter and L. Barnard of Janesville. The dinner was unique, on the order of the barbecue and an interesting and delectable feature consisted of a roasted two-month-old pig.

Miss Neva Smith was hostess at her home on First street, to a shower given for Miss Ida Ross. The guest of honor received many pretty gifts and the young ladies spent a very pleasant evening.

Miss Lulu Van Patten entertained at her home on First street a group of girl friends at a 1:00 o'clock luncheon in honor of Miss Lavina Gillies of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Richardson are entertaining tonight at a 6:00 o'clock dinner the members of the Saturday Evening Card club.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dumphy very pleasantly entertained thirty-one children and grand-children on Christmas. A handsome player piano furnished appreciable entertainment.

Miss Addie Lowell Maury of Louisville, Kentucky, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Van Patten.

Miss Madge Robinson of Sparta who has been visiting her parents, returned yesterday, her sister Miss Olive going with her for a brief visit.

Miss Mina Shreve has returned to Hillsboro after visiting her brother here.

Ex-Y. M. C. A. Secretary Charles Atkinson was in town several days this week to the pleasure of the Y. M. C. A. boys.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas announce the birth of a daughter Friday, Dec. 27.

William De Lap of Madison was a business visitor here yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Brenner announce the birth of a daughter.

Miss Myra Slater of Cainesville, is home for a two weeks' visit.

John and Juliette Finnane have spent several days of this week with Hager relatives.

Burr Slater, who has been visiting his brother at Amherst, Wis., for several weeks, has returned home.

Miss Ruth Winston of Bloomington is home for a visit.

Arthur Hall of Taylor, Nebr., is in town this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Luchsinger and daughter, Violet, have returned to Footville after visiting at the home of Sidney Slater.

Miss Lulu Axel of Oberlin, O., is visiting at the F. H. Winston home.

Abe Seantles and son of Bloomer, Wis., are the guests of local friends.

Mrs. Mary Powers is entertaining her son, Henry, of Sioux Falls, S. D.

Mrs. R. M. Antes is entertaining her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Cornelius of Berkeley Springs, W. Va.

W. S. Austin and wife are visiting in Sun Prairie.

Miss Winnie Haynes is visiting in Portville.

Miss Clara Richardson is visiting in Muncie, Mich.

Dr. and Mrs. Leon Patterson of Green Bay, are the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Baker.

Harry Bender of West Salem is visiting his father, Henry Bender, of this city.

Mrs. E. Reilly was a recent visitor in Kendall.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stewart of Hudson, are visiting Mrs. F. H. Whistou.

E. M. Wilder of Madison is visiting here.

Fraternal Accounts

Treasurers of fraternal and religious societies will find it convenient and desirable to have surplus funds in a savings account. Not only will this fund serve as a reserve in time of need, but the money will earn 4% interest, payable twice a year, during all the time it is on deposit.

THE BANK OF EVANSVILLE
EVANSVILLE, WIS.
FOUNDED 1870.
Geo. L. Pullen, Pres.

Mrs. W. Taggart is visiting in Kenosha.

Burton Hollister of Chicago, is visiting at the D. J. M. Evans home.

Will Marshall of Beloit is visiting local relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Morgan and child of Ridgeway, are visiting at the J. M. Morgan home.

Miss Zora Howard of Madison was the recent guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Howard.

Miss Clara Larson of Rockford, is spending the week with local friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Rogers recently entertained at dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. W. Wood, were recent Beloit visitors.

Frank Comstock and family of Madison were recent guests at the E. H. Morrison home.

Misses Faith and Hope Calbert and Mrs. D. N. Wright of Beloit, were recent visitors at the Will Calbert home.

J. C. Frusher of Janesville was a business caller Thursday.

W. Williams of Albany was a local caller yesterday.

Levi France has returned from a visit in Belvidere.

Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Johnson have returned from a visit in Sun Prairie.

Harold Brown has returned to Alton after a visit here.

George Didwell has returned from a visit in Beloit.

Mrs. P. L. Meyers of Janesville, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Claude Rogers of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso Whaley are visiting relatives in Janesville this week.

Miss Adelaide Evans of Tomahawk is visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Evans.

John Anderson of Janesville was a business caller here yesterday.

Al Fessenden is visiting his daughter in Milwaukee this week.

W. S. Austin and wife are visiting in Sun Prairie.

Cecil Ware returned yesterday to Flint, Mich., after visiting his father, Dr. C. S. Ware.

John and Will Williams have returned to Viola after a visit here.

Miss Ella Townsend of Magnolia was a local caller yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gardner of Janesville are visiting local friends.

E. C. Fish of Footville, was a recent visitor here.

Mrs. Emmett Reilly was the recent guest of her daughter, Mrs. Dallas Jones of Kendall, Wis.

Rev. Spitzer, wife and the latter's brother, Mr. Strood from the north, spent Friday at S. Slater's.

The last two years the supply of copies of the Review and Chronological of the Gazette has been exhausted and many people have been disappointed. The price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c, and orders should be phoned or sent in to the office tonight.

FREE USE OF GAZETTE LIBRARY FOR COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

The spacious library of the Gazette is open to the public for the use of small gatherings such as committees, etc., and will be placed at the disposal of those desiring it upon notification, afternoon or evening.

How many copies of the Review and Chronological edition do you want? Telephone your order to the Gazette Office tonight; the price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c.

At The Theatre

MISS LENA LIPPS, WITH FRANK WINNINGER, AT MYERS THEATRE WEEK OF DECEMBER 30.

"FRANK WINNINGER."
Frank Winninger is playing this season as a feature bill, "The Man Who Stood Still," one of Mr. Louis Mann's successes. The part of the old clock maker is so admirably adapted to Mr. Winninger's peculiar style of work, that after seeing him one can hardly imagine that the piece was written for anyone else. When the curtain rises on the first act, you imagine yourself in an old-fashioned jewelry store. Seventy-two clocks of every description and size decorate the rooms, a workbench with tools, an old double section show-case filled with old-fashioned jewelry, an old melodeon, and the quaintness of it, all go to make "The Man Who Stood Still" one of the most pretentious productions ever presented by a popular priced company. Frank Winninger and his own company will open a week's engagement at the Myers Theatre, Monday night, Dec. 30, matinee New Year, Saturday and Sunday.

YOU will find no reason why you should swear off smoking if you will continue to smoke

Imperial

PERFECTO 10c CIGAR OR

Max No. 10

A MIGHTY GOOD 5c CIGAR.

At your favorite dealer's; cheaper by the box.

Whatever You Drink Outside Let Your Home Beer Be Buob's

Buob's is pure beer. No bacilli in it, nothing to make you bilious. Beer is a saccharine product, and germs multiply rapidly in it. The slightest taint of impurity quickly ruins its healthfulness. We go to the utmost extremes to prevent that. And Buob's Beer is aged. The beer that makes you bilious is green beer. When you order beer for your home, get the healthfulness without the harm. Get a pure beer, get an old beer, get Buob's.

M. BUOB BREWING CO.

Prompt Deliveries.

Both Phones 141

The Janesville Gazette
New Bldg. 200-204 E. Milwaukee St.

PRINTED AT THE POSTOFFICE AT JANESVILLE, WIS., AS SECOND CLASS MAIL MATTER.

BUSINESS OFFICE OPEN SATUR DAY EVENING.

MEMBER OF ASSOCIATED PRESS

WEATHER FORECAST.

Fair tonight and Sunday; warmer tonight.

Daily Edition by Carrier.

One Month $5.00
One Year, cash in advance 50.00
Six Months, cash in advance 25.00
Daily Edition by Mail.
CASH IN ADVANCE.

One Year $4.00
Six Months 2.00
One Year, Rural Delivery in Rock Co. 1.50
Six Months, Rural Delivery in Rock Co. 1.50
Weekly Edition—One Year 1.50

TELEPHONES.
Editorial Rooms, Rock Co. 62
Editorial Rooms, Bell 75
Business Office, Rock Co. 77-2
Business Office, Bell 77-2
Printing Department, Rock Co. 27
Printing Department, Bell 77-4 Rock County lines can be interchanged for all departments.
GAZETTE PRINTING CO.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

Nineteen Twelve is almost gone,
Age is tottering its gait;
Nineteen Thirteen's hustling on,
For the change of years can't wait;
When the bells strike up their chime
Old Man Twelve will get his blow;
But he wants to take his time—
Say, but ain't it hard to go?

Slowly stepping out his age
Stately, like a Gothic pile,
Old Man Twelve now treads the stage,
Monarch for the little while;
Well, the old boy had his fling,
Made a mighty handsome show,
But he's old—and that's the thing—
Say, but ain't it hard to go?

Never mind, in books to come
Will be writ his doings rare;
His old body may be numb,
But his record will be there;
Consolation's in this fact:
Good is counted here below;
Does the grim death counter?
Say, but ain't it hard to go?
—New York Tribune.

The history of the old year, with all its varied experiences, is rapidly drawing to a close. It is fitting that a little time should be spent in remembrances, for the record has been made, and we are a part of the history. There are some things which we would like to recall, but that may not be.

That the year has been good to us as a city, is apparent by the low death rate recorded, and by the evidences of prosperity, which the history dis-closes. No particular boom, and no spasm of speculative promotion, but tokens of substantial improvement, on every hand.

The year Nineteen Twelve marks an epoch in the history of the city, for it records the death of the old form of government, and the birth of the new and concrete commission plan, and while the double event caused some bitterness and many misgivings, the radical change is justifying itself in the light of experience, and the seal of approval stamps the volume of the old year.

There are times in the history of many happy lives, when an air of content is so all-pervading that we would like to set the old clock of time ahead for a twelve-month, and live over the seasons which have come and gone.

The closing days of the kindly old year stimulates memory, and calls back many happy experiences which would bear repeating, and while the outlook for the new year may be rich in promise, it is also fraught with uncertainty.

The panorama of a year is not all comedy, and while there is always more sunshine than shadow, and more joy than sorrow, the tragedies of life often come to the surface. They may not have touched your life and mine, during the year just closing, but they are common to humanity, and every community has its victims.

To this class of sojourners the review of a year is never pleasant, and so, in this holiday season, so full of joy and good cheer, there are some hearts which are filled with grief, and some heads which are bowed with sorrow because of the tragedy which has blighted their lives.

The year has not only been good to us as a city, but the people of the nation have shared richly in its blessings. It has been a year of bounty, and universal prosperity—a year free from plague or pestilence—while the rain and sunshine have been so evenly distributed that every nook and corner of the broad land has responded with bud and blossom, and rich fruition has crowned the efforts of the husbandman.

The long continued era of prosperity, which we have enjoyed as a nation, has developed a spirit of unrest, and the feeling is more pronounced than ever before, that some way should be devised to more equally distribute the wealth of the people. This spirit has influenced state and federal legislation, to greater or less extent, and burdensome taxation and all sorts of regulations have resulted.

Perhaps the most important event of the year is the change of the national administration. If the democratic party, soon to assume control, maintains its reputation, many of the questions which have troubled the people, will settle themselves, and the spirit of envy will be lost in the shuffle.

There are two reasons why men engaged in business take an inventory at the close of the year; one to satisfy themselves how they stand financially, the other to satisfy their creditors of their condition.

The great commercial agencies of the country revise their ratings, once a year. They are the clearing house, on whose reports credits are largely based, the custodians of confidences, which are held as a sacred trust, and never betrayed. The honest man in business has nothing to conceal from these agencies, and the annual inventory places him in position to make an intelligent report.

There are also two reasons why every life should take account of stock, at least once a year. One to satisfy itself, the other with reference to the circle where its lot is cast, as well as to the broader field of citizenship.

The recent national election disclosed the fact that more than twenty per cent of the voting population stayed at home and refused to assume any responsibility. Many elections, of less moment, suffer from the same sort of neglect every year. The man guilty of this kind of neglect, has no right to the protection and privileges which the government provides, and the new year is a good time for this class of men to reform.

There are other questions, which enter into community life, which have to do with personal responsibility.
The influence of a life is not neutral.
It stands for something, and that something is either good or bad. The character of every community is the product of individual units working together. Public sentiment is thus established and maintained.

Where the good prevails, the people who believe in righteousness, work together as a unit to establish it.
They are not influenced by policy or indifference. The campaign against lawlessness finds them outspoken advocates of law enforcement.

The three-fold nature, which has to do with our personal well-being, is entitled to a careful inventory, at the close of every year. The resorts of the South and West are crowded with semi-invalids, who are shelled long before their time, because they neglected to conserve the resources of the body, and scattered all over the land are many representatives of this same class. It pays to find out where we are at physically, at least once a year.

Development of the mind is a lifelong process, and a careful account of stock, at the close of the year, determines whether progress has been made in the right direction. We ought to know more than we did a year ago, and the knowledge acquired should contribute to the wealth of our mental equipment.

The heart, the main-spring of life, never grows old, but it changes with the passing of the years. If inspired with good impulses, the changes are for the better. A careful inventory will tell us how we stand with our selves, and that is more important than anything else connected with life.

The old year is rapidly fading away and the new year is waiting for admission. The history of the old has been written, and not a line may be changed. Let us face the new with determination to make it a record breaker in developing the best that is in us.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

DO IT TODAY.

When you urge the Mexican to make a decision or close up the business deal he squirms, shows his teeth and ex-claims:

"Manana," which means tomorrow.
Although he lives in the most fertile zone of the world, that habit of mind has made the Mexican a poor man.

And there are others. Many of us lose out in life because of the disposition to put off until tomorrow what should be done today. We say, for instance:

Tomorrow I will decide.
Tomorrow I will begin.
Tomorrow I will reform.
Tomorrow I will be happy.
When tomorrow comes, alas, we do not decide, we do not begin, we do not reform, we are not happy, because—
The habit persists.

It is fatal to initiative and resolute action. When the habit is indulged it becomes easy to say to oneself: Tomorrow I will come to a final stand in the matter; tomorrow I will start the business going; tomorrow I will speak the word of kindness; tomorrow I will be happy. And thus we go on. We—"Resolve and resolve, then die the same."

Begin now. Today is the day of salvation. If thinking is required, think; if action is required, act; if change of habit is required, reform.

Strike now! The iron is red.
Whether it be the plowing of a field, or the selling of merchandise, or launching the boat, or courting the girl—

Do it now. You may make a mistake. Well, you may make a mistake tomorrow, and if you make the mistake today there is all of tomorrow to begin over.

Plunge in. Do not stand shivering on the brink and fear to launch away.
The water may be a little cold, but it may be colder tomorrow. "Come on in;
the water's fine."

Let the Mexican say "Manana." You will fare much better if you will do the thing today.

I need not remind you of the mistakes you have made, the chances missed, the deals that got away, the decisions that were too late, the reforms that never materialized, all because of putting things off. You know.

Send your friends a copy of the Review edition of the Gazette and let them know all about the home news of the year. Price, 5c copy; 6 for 25c.

APUR OF THE MOMENT

Some New Year's Hints.

Say, wouldn't it be rather swell in this country to dwell

On every single whizzing wagon clatter
Would wear off running at the rate
Of ninety miles an hour and wait
At crossings for the common walking duffer.

And then, again, if all the gents
Who wield the razor would comment
On New Year's day, a silent contemplation

Of all events and never crowd
The atmosphere with talk that's loud,
Monopolizing all the conversation.

And if the girl clerks in the stores
Would swear off treating us as bores
And conductors yell so we could understand 'em,
And would not give the doubtful stare

At every coin that's paid for fare
And never bite the nickels that we hand 'em;

And if the laundryman would swear
That no collars they would tear
Nor starch the handkerchiefs so stiff and rigid

That it seems just like it were kin
Unto a sheet of roofing tin Nor forgets to send our shirts when weather's frigid.

And if the bunch of city dads
Would swear to try and earn the scads They're paid for sitting in the council meeting,

And if in every trolley car
The company would go so far As to provide some better way of heating.

If these pipe dreams should e'er come true
The chance will then be given you Your native town to take some bon-est pride in.

Twill be the only perfect one
That can be found beneath the sun;
A very pleasant village to reside in.

Another Dizzy Revolution.

Nicaragua, the comic opera republic, bounded on the north by revolutionists, on the south by reconcentrados, on the east by mosquitoes and on the west by fleeing ex-cabinet ministers, is just now reveling in the ecstatic delights of another war.
The greatest excitement prevails.
Several hens have been captured by he invading army and the president has been unseated after a bloodless campaign of one day. Members of he far famed Gomez, Estrada, Ze-aya and Tumala families are arrayed in their best uniforms and some of them honored the occasion "by putting on shoes and stockings."

This thing happens every once in while in the Central American belts.
Residents who go to work in the morning meet themselves coming back out of a job and if one gets down late in the morning he is more likely to find a new dictator with his feet on the desk. The war was generally less harmful and dangerous than the average Fourth of July celebration in an American town of 1909, but the fiery revolutionists have to do something for excitement and their only other amusement, chicken fighting, is bound to pull up on them occasionally. There seems to be little hope of ever securing stability of government in that section.

Popular Song.

A days of old, when nights were cold,
And blizzards blew this way,
No bandit bold, the hard coal sold,
No trust magnate held sway, held sway,
No trust magnate held sway.

CHORUS:—(By the congregation).
Alas and alack,
Here is the winter coming back
And the evenings are getting mighty nippy.
To buy a ton of coal
Fries the home provider's soul,
And makes the common cuss go slightly dippy.

They used to eat all kinds of meat
In the days of old King Saul
No trust complete, the people beat,
By bluster, bluff, and gall, and gall,
By bluster, bluff and gall.

CHORUS.
In days of Julius Caesar
The ordinary geezer
Had a chance to eat some porter-house or mutton;
But it's very different recently
The trusts can't treat us decently.
There's no chance now to e'er be called a glutton
Twas fun to bake their pies and cake,
In the good old days of Adam,
There were no flour trusts in the land;
For it was before they had 'em,
For it was before they had 'em, had 'em.

SCRIPTURE

PROVERBS 1:7-15.

The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge; but fools despise wisdom and instruction.
My son, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother;

For they shall be an ornament of grace unto thy head, and chains about thy neck.

My son, if sinners entice thee, consent thou not.
If they say, Come with us, let us lay wait for blood, let us lurk privily for the innocent without cause;

Let us swallow them up alive as the grave; and whole, as those that go down into the pit.

We shall find all precious substance, we shall fill our houses with spoil.

Cast in thy lot among us; let us all have one purse:

My son, walk not thou in the way with them; refrain thy foot from their path:

The last two years the supply of copies of the Review and Chronological of the Gazette has been exhausted and many people have been disappointed. The price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c, and orders should be phoned or sent in to the office tonight.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

You Young Men of Janesville:
There is too much opportunity along your road—too big a future for each and every one of you, for you to deliberately turn your back upon them and join the procession of down-and-outs and the hopeless without a protest from a friend of yours who is fighting the same fight you have to make against circumstances, and making headway.

See that prosperous merchant, that bank cashier, that wide-awake salesman, that manufacturer, that successful practitioner? Ten or twenty years ago he stood where you stand. See that faded, ruined weakling, hanging around waiting for you to buy, that grouchily ne'er-do-well, who lies because good luck never struck him, that stumbling wreck who reels past you and clings to the lamp post for support? They, too, stood where you stand.

The men who climb to the high places of respectability, position, power, wealth, or honor, and stay there, are the men who are true to principle, who cultivate larger and clearer perception, accept responsibility, discharge their full duty, conserve their health, respect the laws of society, and get up and hustle to render the largest service to society and to industry.

The down-and-outers laughed at an appeal to principle as "Sunday school talk." They demanded larger liberties and smaller responsibilities. Duty to them was a matter of individual response. They dissipated health and energy in what they ignorantly imagined was pleasure, disregarded the laws which safeguard society, and considered that the world owed them a living; and they proceeded to get it in the easiest way, finally patronizing the free-lunch counter in the saloon, leaning on the lamp post as a backer, taking a bed in the police station, and throwing themselves upon the clemency of the court for their standing as a free citizen.

Quite a number of you young men have recently put your names upon the petition circulated to recall the city officers and elect other men in their places. From talking with a few who signed, I take it that the paper was not well understood when signed, and that the main issue was not presented with the petition, but that various pleas were made to make you believe you would get advantages from the change in officers which you do not have now.

Don't be fooled, my young friends, by the various inducements that are held out for you to support the recall.
The one reason for the recall is the wish of a number of men to elect officers who will make it easy for them to capitalize the baser instincts of men for profit, and carry on business which shamelessly tramples on the moral and civil laws.

To profit from this illegal trade, these interests must make vice and the giving away to weakness so attractive that young men will give up their hard earned money—their capital for a future business—in order to indulge. These interests have an eye on your money, young man, and all they will give you for it is a one-way ticket to the Down-and-out Club.

Don't be misled by the personal claims of any candidate. No candidate on the recall can point to any thing he has done that show him more able to conduct the city affairs than the present officers. This recall is made because our officers in response to the will of the citizens are attempting to enforce the laws which they are elected and sworn to enforce, and no man, whatever his personal qualities may be, can stand on the present recall platform and talk of his intended work for the interests of Janesville.

The merchants, manufacturers and business men who are able to conduct a clean, square, efficient, profitable business according to law, demand that the present Mayor and Commissioners be retained until they have had time to make good, and that law be respected and enforced in Janesville. All public and professional men and private citizens who are working for the best interests of Janesville and of Janesville's young men, voice this sentiment. Whether the present petition of recall is valid or another is presented in its place, we ask you young men who aspire to a worthy position to think carefully before you take up any bricks from the path that has been started for a safe, clean, prosperous life for you in Janesville, and if you think twice, you will not support the recall.

A BUSINESS MAN.

The last two years the supply of copies of the Review and Chronological of the Gazette has been exhausted and many people have been disappointed. The price is 5c per copy, 6
for 25c, and orders should be phoned or sent in to the office tonight.

ROYAL THEATER.

Sunday, Last Regular Performance.

"The Thunderbolt."

The story of the heroism of the gamekeeper on a Danish estate, who, rather than compromise the lady of high birth whom he loved and who secretly loved him, permitted himself to be branded a thief. How circumstances formed the net about him, but how the meshes were finally cut by the lady herself, is an intense story. Produced in Denmark.

Royal Theater closes Dec.
29, to be opened only now and then, with a special attraction.

New Year
Cards

Beautiful line of New Year
Cards, New Year Letters, etc.

New Year Post Cards, 5 for 5c,
2 for 5c and 5c each.

DIARIES AND CALENDAR PADS FOR 1913.

Subscriptions taken for all newspapers and magazines at best prices from publisher's rates.

Skelly's
Book Store

ROYAL THEATER

Saturday

"The Nihilists' Conspiracy"

A powerful drama of Russia, with a startling climax in a terrific automobile chase. The desperate Nihilists end the mad rush by driving over a precipice to their doom.

MYERS THEATRE

ONE WEEK OPENING

Monday, Dec. 30

MATINEES: NEW YEARS, SATURDAY AND SUNDAY.

Return of Janesville's Favorite Comedian
WINNINGER BROS.
Present

Frank Winner
Varieties

A Festival of Clean Amusement

There is Joy in Living When
There is Music and Laughter.

Opening Play
"The Man Who Stood Still."

PRICES: 10c, 20c, 30c, 50c.
Seats now on sale at box office.

J.M. BOSTWICK & SONS.

Highest Quality Lowest Price:

Can they go together?
This is a question naturally everyone would ask, because to the average mind high prices would mean high quality. But is that right? No. Many stores get a reputation for high quality by charging high prices, because the idea of low prices brings the thought of correspondingly low quality. The Big Store is an ardent example of the fact that high quality and low prices can go together.
Quality for quality we guarantee that our prices are lower than what you pay elsewhere. What you get for your money is as important as what you pay. No matter how low the price, it's always value received here.

IMPORTANT

Start the year right. Don't make any more promises about that Life and Accident Insurance, but see to it now that you have your policies in the old

"Travelers of Hartford" fixed up this week. You will never regret it. We will gladly call on you any time or you can

"COME IN AND TALK IT OVER"

H. J. Cunningham Agency

General Insurance and Real Estate

Carle Block

Both Phones

Main and Milw. St.

N. B.—We Insure Women the same as Men.

Broken Down Teeth

May be put in healthy condition and saved for 10 years of good service. Let me show you how well this can be done and at how little cost.

DR. F. T. RICHARDS
PAINLESS DENTIST.
Office Over Hall & Sayles.

ESTABLISHED IN 1855.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Money deposited in our Savings Department on or before January 10th, will draw interest from January 1st.

3 per cent interest paid or credited on pass book January 1st and July 1st, on all deposits left six months or LONGER.

Every deposit remaining six banking months or longer, is entitled to interest at rate of 3% for all full months.

Picture Mouldings

A large and complete stock. Have that picture framed at small cost to you and have it on the wall instead of having it laid away.

BLOEDEL & RICE

The S. Main Street Painters.

BLAIR & BLAIR

Insurance, Real Estate, Surety Bonds.

424 Hayes Block

Good CoffeeDedrick Bros.

Literature Regarding Travel To Florida

When every one in a position to travel is thinking of escaping for a time the cold winter months still to come, the thoughts of a Southern sojourn are very attractive. THE GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU is prepared to furnish them with literature and information which will assist in making plans for their departure to a milder climate.

Particularly is this true of a trip to Florida and there is plenty of material free to every one regarding a trip to that state at the GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Plan Bar Banquet. Plans are being made for the annual banquet of the Rock County Bar to be held at the opening of the Circuit Court term sometime during the month of February.

Land Patent Filed. A land patent, issued to Barron Stuart for the sale of forty acres of land in Township 2, Rock county, bearing the date of March 1, 1843, and bearing the signature of S. L. Laughlin of the Milwaukee land office, was filed today in the office of the register of deeds.

How many copies of the Review and Chronological edition do you want? Telephone your order to the Gazette Office tonight; the price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c.

CHURCH TO BENEFIT BY TERMS OF BRAND WILL

By the terms of the will of the late Mrs. Rexaville Brand, which has been probated in the county court, the Baptist church of this city is bequeathed the sum of two thousand dollars to be divided as follows: Baptist Publication company, $250; Ladies' Aid society, $250; Woman's Temperance Union, $100; Relief Corps of the G. A. R., $100, and the balance of the sum as the trustees of the church deem necessary, with the provision that one third of the income from the donation is to be used for home missions every year. Two relatives in Illinois receive bequests of $100 each and other relatives small sums. Five hundred dollars is to be set aside as the nucleus for a fund to establish an Old Ladies' Home in Janesville, and $200 is given to Mercy hospital for the care of poor patients. The house and household property, together with all securities are given to Eugene Fredendall, in place of compensation for his services in managing her affairs, and he is named as her executor. The balance of the estate, the will says, is to be divided equally between the Y. M. C. A. of this city and Wayland Academy of Beaver Dam.

How many copies of the Review and Chronological edition do you want? Telephone your order to the Gazette Office tonight; the price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c.

BIG PREPARATIONS FOR POULTRY SHOW

MEMBERS OF LOCAL ASSOCIATION SAY FIFTH ANNUAL EXHIBIT WILL ECLIPSE ALL OTHERS.

PLAN NEW FEATURES

An Auction Sale of Pedigreed Birds Will be Conducted on Last Two Days of Show—Many Fine Premiums.

Officers of the Southern Wisconsin Poultry association and the committee in charge of the fifth annual show which will be held at the Auditorium, January 13 to 18, are exerting every effort to secure for Janesville the finest exhibition of poultry that has ever been seen in the state.

Between six and seven hundred premium lists have been sent out to fanciers all over the state and many have been sent to Illinois and Iowa, so far as the fame of the Janesville show extended. This reputation is all the more remarkable and indicates the fact that it rests entirely on its merits when it is considered that the local association is in its infancy.

Never before has there been such an attractive list of premiums made up for a poultry show in this section. Fifteen silver cups have been donated as special awards and a cash prize of $25 will be given on the most popular American breed, the Barred Rocks, as well as the cup which alone would bring together some of the best Rocks in the state. Every cup that is given is presented outright to the winner without any string or requirement to it.

In regard to the show and its relations to the farmers one of the prominent fanciers said today: "Our exhibition should be a great help to the farmers and it has been and will continue to be the means of securing more thorough bred poultry on Rock county farms. As one farmer put it, 'This show has done more for farm poultry raising than any other factor,' consequently it is expected that the number of birds brought from the farms, especially Rock county farms, will be the largest in the history of the local organization."

First class accommodations will be provided for all exhibitors. The auditorium is the finest exhibition hall in the state and the association has an adequate supply of modern show coops. The decorations this year will be a feature and considerable time will be spent in trimming the hall in an attractive manner.

C. V. Keeler of Indiana and E. G. Roberts of this state will be the judges which insures fair treatment to all exhibitors and a score card filled out by them will determine beyond a doubt the exhibit's standing in the poultry business as compared with his competitor and his fowls.

One of the new features will be an auction of poultry on two days of the week, Friday and Saturday, when exhibitors will be able to dispose of their stock if they wish, and the possibility of some very fancy prices is extremely likely. The bidding will be high and fast when two rival fanciers determine to purchase an extra fine bird. This sale is an entire new innovation here and promises to be a most interesting part of the exhibition. Last year several birds brought as high as $100 in private sales and the price might have gone higher should there have been competitive bidding.

In connection with the show there will also be a young people's corn growing contest for boys of Rock county. A Janesville plow will be given to the winner who has the best ten years of Silver King corn.

The local merchants and manufacturers have been very liberal this year and have given many valuable prizes. The business men have the sincere thanks of the poultry association.

There are a number of premium lists which may be secured on application at Helms' Seed store, Sheldon Hardware store, Amernob's Flower shop or F. H. Green and Son's Feed store.

SACRED CONCERT
First Baptist Church Sunday night.

GIVE THIRD ANNUAL BALL
DELTA TAU CLUB MONDAY.

All preparations have been made for the third annual dancing party of the Delta Tau Club which will be given at Assembly hall next Monday evening. A large number of invitations have been mailed, many of them to out-of-town people, and the attendance promises to be very large. The Hatch seven piece orchestra will furnish music and dancing will begin at nine o'clock and continue until one. The hall will be especially decorated for the occasion.

FOOTVILLE YOUNG LADY MARRIED HERE TODAY

Miss Margaret M. Hastings married to Charles M. Black of Rockford at Presbyterian Parsonage. Miss Margaret M. Hastings of Rockville and Charles M. Black of Rockford were united in marriage at ten o'clock this morning at the Presbyterian parsonage by the Rev. J. W. Laughlin. The marriage was witnessed by Mrs. Janet Bowley of Beloit and Miss Elizabeth Black of Rockford. Mr. and Mrs. Black will reside in Rockford.

SACRED CONCERT
First Baptist Church Sunday night.

OBITUARY.

Frank Leck.
Last services for Frank Leck were held at the home of his mother, 514 Eastern Avenue, at two o'clock this afternoon, the Rev. C. J. Koerner officiating. Interment was made in Oak Hill cemetery.

Michael Madden.
Requiem mass for Michael Madden will be celebrated at St. Patrick's church at nine o'clock Monday morning. Interment will be made in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

PERSONAL MENTION.

W. S. Shaurean who has been under Dr. Munn's care for the past five weeks, is able to be up a little each day.

George Milligan of this city, underwent a serious operation at the Mercy hospital Thursday morning, and lies in a critical condition.

Misses Frances von Kuster of Minneapolis, and Frieda David of Oshkosh, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Yahn for the holidays.

Miss Gladys Smith of Eau Claire, is visiting in the city.

Miss Jean McLean of Rockford, is the guest of friends in the city.

Mrs. F. W. Malbon and daughter, Miss Celia of Chicago, are guests at the home of A. Malbon, North Washington street.

Miss Ruth Erickson of Monroe, is visiting in the city.

Armand Ehringer has returned from Minneapolis, where he has been taking a course in window trimming.

William Graves of Beloit, was in the city on business yesterday.

Sterling Campbell of Muscatine, Ia., physical director of the Y. M. C. A. there, and formerly physical director at the local association, is spending a few days in the city.

Miss Marion Gleason of Chicago, is the guest of relatives and friends in the city.

Don Stewart, formerly of this city, but now located in Nebraska, is the guest of his parents.

Miss Emma Clarke of Beloit has returned to her home after visiting in the city.

Mrs. K. J. Hall of Waukesha, is visiting in the city.

Miss Mae Brinker is the guest of friends in Morse, Sask., Canada, over the holidays.

Miss Florence Hayes of Chicago is visiting in the city.

Mrs. James H. Ryan and Miss Eva Pound have returned from a few days' visit in Chicago.

State sealer of weights and measures, Mr. Boettcher, returned to Madison yesterday, after spending Christmas at home on South Main street.

Mrs. Chas. Selmer is confined to her home on account of illness.

Theodore Hankins of Mineral Point, has been the guest this week of his aunt, Mrs. J. M. Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gage of Milton, have returned to their home after a visit with Mrs. Gage's sister, Mrs. E. T. Foote of North Madison street.

Mrs. Anna McNeill of the Hotel Myers, is in Milwaukee on business.

J. P. Baker of 403 North High street is confined to the house with a case of infection in one of his arms.

Miss Helen Nash leaves on Tuesday next, for Chicago, where she will spend New Year's day, with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Behrendt.

At the Christmas luncheon given at the residence of Mrs. Harry Carter yesterday noon, the prizes fell to Mrs. Stanley B. Smith and Mrs. William Judd. The next meeting of the club, will be held at the residence of Mrs. Charles Fife on January the eighth.

Mrs. W. Schneider and daughter have returned to their home in Evansville.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Wait of Evansville, spent several days in Janesville last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Summers entertained Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Barlass of Four Corners the past week.

Richard Davis and daughters, have returned from a visit in Milton with Samuel Green and family.

J. C. Fishers transacted business in Evansville yesterday.

Miss Emma Drahal has returned from Afton, after a visit of a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gifford, Miss Clara Gifford of Milton, attended the funeral of Charles Penny on Thursday.

Mrs. A. E. Cornwell has returned to her home in Clinton, after a visit with her parents in this city.

James Walde of Whitewater was a Janesville visitor today.

D. J. Scanlon of Oregon, was in the city today.

W. V. Dale was a visitor in Delavan today.

E. Olson of Broadhead, was in the city yesterday.

William Lloyd Davis of Madison, was a Janesville visitor yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Stephenson of Broadhead spent the day in the city.

D. B. Clark was in Madison today on business.

George Ford and B. T. McDonald of Stoughton, spent the day here.

W. T. Thiele visited in Whitewater today.

Harry Smith was a business visitor in Walworth.

Howard Green transacted business in Broadhead today.

J. R. Tracy of Sparta, was in the city yesterday.

Mrs. J. A. Sampson and daughters, Hazel and Lillian of Chicago, are visiting at the home of Mrs. John Madden, South High street.

R. T. Griepold is at Oconomowoc visiting his uncle, W. V. Jones.

John Crawley and family of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Crawley of Fond du Lac, who came to spend Christmas at the home of the Messrs. Crawley's mother, Mrs. John Crawley, Sr., on Ravine Street, have returned to their homes.

Mrs. W. M. Futter, 625 West Milwaukee street, has been seriously ill and under the doctor's care for the past week.

J. C. Road of Beloit was a visitor in the city today.

Miss Ida Curtis of Ft. Atkinson is spending a few days with friends in Janesville.

The last two years the supply of copies of the Review and Chronological of the Gazette has been exhausted and many people have been disappointed. The price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c, and orders should be phoned or sent in to the office tonight.

WORD RECEIVED OF DEATH OF A FORMER RESIDENT

Albert W. Kollie, who for many years Resided Here, Passed Away in Portland, Ore.

Word has been received in this city of the death in Portland, Ore., of Albert W. Kollie, a former Janesville man, which occurred over a week ago. The funeral was held last Saturday in Portland. Mr. Kollie resided in this city on Washington street for many years, and had a large circle of friends here. He left Janesville for the west about eight or ten years ago.

INCENDIARY ATTEMPT TO BURN WAREHOUSE OF E. M. CALKINS

Fire Started in Window of Basement Went Out—Fourth Attempt at Arson Within Five Weeks.

Indisputable evidence of an attempt to burn the tobacco warehouse of E. Miller Calkins at 510 West street, the fourth incendiary attempt made in Janesville within five weeks, was discovered this morning and reported to Chief of the Fire Department Henry C. Klein, who with J. T. Baker of the state fire marshal's office at once made an investigation.

Straw and excelsior had been piled in a basement window at the rear of the building and ignited. The flames caught in the window frame and in the wooden siding above it and had evidently gone out of themselves. It appears that the fire was started last night, but it may have been kindled on the previous evening. This circumstance is very strange as the walls of the building are very dry and inflammable.

Stored in the basement are from $30,000 to $35,000 worth of leaf tobacco, some of it six and seven years old and as dry as tinder. The buildings on either side are frame structures as are all in the block with the exception of one residence, and if the fire had obtained headway it would have been very difficult to keep it from spreading and causing a possible fire loss of $150,000. The water mains in that vicinity are only six inches in diameter and there are very few hydrants.

The fire bears all the earmarks of the one started at the T. P. Welch tobacco warehouse, just across the tracks from it on November 16, and of the one at the Sadler harness shop last Wednesday. Chief Klein believes that they are the work of one man. It would seem that the attempt on December 16 to burn the Boetwick building on Court street was made by two men as fires were started in opposite ends of the building.

Local Fire Traps Numerous.
That prevailing conditions in and around buildings in Janesville are ready in need of improvement, and tend to greatly increase the fire hazard and the danger of disastrous fires, was the statement made to a Gazette reporter by Mr. Baker, who is in the city investigating the circumstances in the incendiary fires as attorney for the state fire marshal's department. Conditions here are awful, said Mr. Baker. "There are a number of firetraps here, ready to burst into flames at any moment—old buildings and careless and dirty conditions around, other buildings. In some places, the danger of bad fires would not be so great, if a little care were exercised, but inflammable material is left around, and if a fire started, your department could not stop it, try as they might. There is absolutely no excuse for the conditions here."

HOPE TO RAISE SUM WITHIN NINETY DAYS

Directors of Y. M. C. A. Hope To Secure Subscriptions For Amount Needed For Improvements.

Within the next ninety days, it is hoped by the directors of the Y. M. C. A., that the sum necessary to start the work of remodeling and equipment of the local association's building may be subscribed for, and the contract for the work let. "Pledges secured thus far are within $5,000 of the amount necessary, $23,000, but the letting of contracts is delayed because the subscriptions are made on the condition that the whole amount necessary to complete the building free of debt is pledged. The directors feel that a large part of the work of securing subscriptions for the necessary amount could be done within the next ninety days, and thus secure for the city a permanent center of attraction, with modern equipment, of which everyone who took a part in the enterprise, though they might have to make sacrifices to give to the work, would have right to be justly proud.

GAVE SHOWER LAST NIGHT FOR PROSPECTIVE BRIDE

Mrs. George Schaller Entertained at Home on Terrace Street in Honor of Miss Clara Ludolph.

Mrs. George Schaller entertained a company of young people last evening at her home at 472 North Terrace street at a shower in honor of Miss Clara Ludolph, who is soon to be wedded to Alexander G. Shuman of Kohlskonong. Supper was served at seven o'clock, and the evening was delightfully spent with games and music.

A number of quiet selections were given by the Rev. E. H. Schneider, Adolph Anderson, Edward Larson and Miss Pauline Olson. Miss Ludolph was presented with many beautiful gifts.

LARGE SUMS IN TOTAL AMOUNTS ON TAX ROLLS

Three Villages and Four Cities Will Pay Over Six Hundred Thousand

Figures for the aggregate amounts on the tax rolls for the county are being prepared at the office of the county clerk, but as yet the figures are incomplete, as reports have not been made from all of the townships. The aggregate amount for the three villages and four cities is $622,031.12, divided as follows: Clinton village, $134,777.77; Milton village, $78,846.46; Orfordville, $4,990.78; Beloit city, $253,959.17; Edgerton, $49,005.78; Evansville, $45,088.37; Janesville city, $249,612.79. This amount includes all items, state and county taxes and special charges, and all items included in the tax list.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Wanted, twelve girls for general work and stitching. Steady employment. Good wages guaranteed beginners. Lewis Knitting Co.

Finger Cut Off. A. F. Wendt of Johnston had the index finger of his right hand cut off while operating a corn shredder on the Thos. Canavan farm in Richmond this morning.

CLAMP DOWN LID IN SOUTH JANESVILLE

Three Prosecuted on Charge of Selling Liquor on Sunday—George Wilbur Pleads Guilty.

As the result of prosecutions instituted against three South Janesville men, alleged to have sold liquor last Sunday in violation of the state laws, the lid promises to be closed down tight in that hamlet which has heretofore been an oasis for the thirsty and a thorn in the flesh to those desirous that the laws be enforced. Warrants have been served on Theodore Langdon, proprietor of the brick hotel there, J. A. Robinson and George Wilbur. All three appeared in court this morning. Wilbur, who was not represented by an attorney, pleaded guilty to the charge and said that he was "ready to take what was coming to him." He was fined $25 and costs, amounting to $13.08. Attorney Charles Lang appeared for Langdon and Robinson and asked that the trial of his clients be adjourned to Friday, January 3. District Attorney Duhndwille consented to the postponement which was granted by Judge Eifield. Complaint was made to District Attorney Duhndwille by Town Chairman Rehfeldt.

LIBRARY RECEIVES FINE NEW VOLUMES

List of Latest Books on Non-Fiction Subjects Which Have Lately Been Placed on Shelves.

Many are looking for something new and interesting to read during the long winter evenings. A glance at the shelves at the public library shows, in addition to the best of the new fiction, books on almost every topic of current interest. Among those recently added are the following:

Antin, "Promised Land."

Bryce, "South America."

Burchenal, "Folk Dances and Singing Games."

Castille, "Sun Yat Sen and the Awakening of China."

Carpenter, "Profit Making Management."

Cope, "Evolution of the Sunday School."

Courtney, "Conquest of Nerves."

Cross, "Essentials of Socialism."

Curtis, "Around the Black Sea."

Dole, "Life of Lyof N. Tolstol."

Dwight, "Thoughts of a Catholic Anatomist."

Eliot, "Durable Satisfaction of Life."

Fitch, "Beau Brummel."

Poster, "Boy and the Church."

Fowler, "How to Save Money."

Hutchinson, "Exercise and Health."

Hutchinson, "Food."

Hutchinson, "We and Our Children."

Jordan, "Unseen Empire."

Kent, "Mechanical Engineer's Pocketbook."

Key, "Century of the Child."

Langdon, "Explorer's Adventures in Tibet."

LeRoy, "Philippine Life."

Life of an Enclosed Nun, by a mother Superior.

Markino, "Japanese Artist in London."

Montessori, "Montessori Method."

Munro, "Government of European Cities."

Oberholzer, "Initiative and Referendum in America."

Porter, "Moths of the Lumberlost."

Rowe, "Problems of City Government."

Taylor, "Principles of Scientific Management."

Upton, "Standard Concert Repertory."

Watson, "Farm Poultry."

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED BY EQUITABLE FRATERNAL UNION

Carl H. Buchholz New President—Installation to C. Held on January 22.

At the regular meeting of Janesville Assembly No. 371, E. C. Thursday evening, Dec. 26th, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, C. H. Buchholz; vice president, M. C. Peterson; advisor, Otto F. Buchholz; secretary, Ed. O. Smith; treasurer, John Heller; warden, L. E. Anker; trustee for three years, F. J. Schmitt. The installation of officers will be held on January 22, when it is expected that Supreme President E. A. Williams will conduct the installation ceremonies. There will also be a dance and other amusements.

AFTON

Afton, Dec. 29.—The Sunday school gave a very good Christmas program last Tuesday night. All the children had their pieces well learned. All went home with cheerful faces after receiving their gifts.

Albert and Edgar Zickert of Fond du Lac spent Christmas with their cousin, Ervin Engelke. They leave for home today.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Oakley entertained at an elaborate Christmas dinner and supper the following people: Mrs. Thomas Oakley, Miss Maune, William Oakley of Janesville, Mr. and Mrs. William Oakley of Whitewater, Mr. and Mrs. M. Moriarty and two daughters of Milton Junction, Ida Oakley and H. Page of Janesville, John Inman and daughter of Zelma, Mr. and Mrs. August Engelke and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stark of Afton. The day was spent in playing progressive cinch.

Miss Emma Drahal, who is working in Janesville, spent Christmas at home.

Mr. E. Backus and children of Rockford spent Christmas with her parents.

Arthur Friebe of Racine spent Christmas with Rena Engelke.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bedy entertained a number of people for Christmas dinner.

How many copies of the Review and Chronological edition do you want? Telephone your order to the Gazette Office tonight; the price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c.

Want Ads are money savers.

SENTENCED TO YEAR IN STATE'S PRISON

Mark Matthews Pleads Guilty to Burglarizing Bar-room of Paul Leudtke—Tells a Sad Story.

Mark Matthews was sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the state's prison by Judge Eifield this morning after pleading guilty to burglarizing the bar-room of Paul Leudtke early yesterday morning. The judge, in passing sentence said that he took into consideration the fact that the prisoner had always been a good reputation for integrity and had never been charged with an offense of this kind before. He said that although Matthews' hard-drinking habits made his offense appear the lesser, they were far from being an excuse for his act; he

In the Churches

First Congregational Church.
First Congregational church.—Corner of South Jackson and Dodge streets. Rev. David Beaton, A. M., minister. Services at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.
Subject of morning sermon by Dr. Beaton: "Looking Up and Pressing Forward." A special sermon for the closing of the old year and the opening of the new.
Chorus—"Behold I Bring You Glad Tidings."
Solo—"Victory."
Mr. Will Miller.
Vesper Communion service: 4:30 p. m. Address: "Fellowship in Thought and Work."
Solo—"The Manger Cradle." Haven.
The Sunday school meets at 12:00 noon. Church service at 10:30 a. m., sharp, to be dismissed at 11:50 a. m.
Kindergarten meets in the morning at 10:30. Parents requested to send children under seven years.
The Y. P. Society will meet at 5:30 p. m. at the close of the vesper service. All young people cordially invited to attend the meeting.
The public are cordially invited to these services.

Cargill Methodist Church.
Cargill Methodist Church.—Rev. T. D. Williams, minister. Miss Hattie Kissel, deaconess.
9:45.—Class meeting. S. Richards, leader.
10:30.—Sermon by pastor. "All Things Work Together for Good to Them That Love God." A sermon appropriate to the closing of the old year.
7:30 p. m.—Sermon by pastor. "What Kept Noah Building the Ark During the Long Century With No Evidence of the Approaching Flood." Music by chorus choir in charge of Mrs. Van Ness Green.
Sunday School.—11:45 a. m. J. T. Bennison, supt.
Junior League.—3:00 p. m.
Epworth League.—6:30 p. m. W. I. Rothelmer, leader. Subject: "The World's Measure of Jesus' Loyalty to His Message."
Prayer meeting Thursday.—7:30 p. m.
All invited to all services.

Christ Episcopal Church.
Christ Episcopal Church.—The Rev. John McKinney, A. M., rector. The first Sunday after Christmas. Holy Communion.—8:00 a. m.
Morning prayer and sermon.—10:30 a. m.
Sunday school.—12:00 m.
Evening prayer and sermon.—4:30 p. m.
Wednesday: Feast of the Circumcision. Holy Communion 8:00 a. m.
10:30 a. m.

Trinity Episcopal Church.
Trinity Episcopal Church.—Rev. Henry Willmann, rector.
Holy Communion.—7:30 a. m.
Sunday school.—9:30 a. m.
Holy Communion and sermon.—10:30 a. m.
The Christmas music will be repeated at this service.
Evensong.—4:30 p. m.
Thursday: Festival of the Circumcision. Holy Communion.—7:30 a. m.

Presbyterian Church.
Presbyterian Church.—Rev. J. W. Laughlin, pastor.
Morning worship.—10:30.
Evening worship.—7:30.
Subject for morning sermon: "The New Appeal in Religion."
Sunday school.—12:10 m. I. F. Worsening, supt.
Subject for evening sermon: "Now Cometh the End." The evening sermon will be appropriate for the closing of the old year.
The music for the day will be by a chorus choir under the direction of Prof. J. S. Taylor with Mrs. F. F. Lewis, organist.
You are cordially invited to attend these services.

Christian Science Church.
First Church of Christ, Scientist, holds services in Phoenix Block, W. Milwaukee street. Sunday morning at 10:30 and Wednesday evening at 7:45.
The subject of the lesson-sermon Sunday morning will be, "Christian Science."
Sunday school meets at 12 o'clock. Reading room open daily, except Sundays and holidays, from 2 to 4 p. m.

Christian Church (Disciples).
10:00 a. m.—Bible school. A class for everyone.
11:00 a. m.—Communion and preaching. Subject: "Counting the Cost."
7:30 p. m.—Praise and preaching. Subject: "The First Sermon of the Kingdom."
Frank L. Van Voorhis will preach at both services and every Lord's Day hereafter.
Everyone invited to all services. A home-like place of meeting. Spiritual atmosphere. A hearty welcome.

First Baptist Church.
Jackson and Pleasant streets. Rev. Joseph Chalmers Hazen, pastor.
Regular morning worship.—10:30.
Sermon subject: "The Old and the New."
A New Year's sermon. Combs.
"The Victory." Neidlinger.
Sunday school.—12:00 noon. Music by the orchestra. A class for everyone. The Baraca Class will discuss "The Recall." All men interested are invited.
Young People's Society.—6:30 p. m. Topic: "Missionary Needs and How We May Help to Meet Them." Leader, Mr. E. E. Jones.
Sacred Concert.—7:30 p. m. Organ Prelude—Offertory in B. Ried.
Mrs. Thomas Wallis.
Overture—"Sweet Brial." Orchestra.
Hymn—"All the Way." Lowery.
Anthem—"Arioso, Shine." Holden.
Quartet.
Solo—"Light." Frederick Stevenson.
Miss Josephine Treat.
Violin Solo—"Adagio." Ried.
Miss Wilma Sovethill.

Offertory—"Evensong." Johnson.
Duet—"Tarry With Me." Nichola.
Mrs. Mohr and Mr. Olson.
Hymn—"The Son of God." Cutler.
Solo—"Psalms Christmas Bells." Combs.
Dr. Stewart Richards.
Quartet—"Good-bye, Old Year." Pavks.
"Grand Majesty March." Orchestra.
Postlude—"Festival March." Best.
Organ—Mrs. Thomas Wallis.
Soprano—Mrs. Charles Mohr.
Contralto—Mrs. Alice Shearer.
Thomas.
Tenor—Mr. Alfred Olson.
Bass—Mr. F. K. Doane.
A cordial invitation is extended to everyone.

St. Peter's English Lutheran.
St. Peter's English Luth. church.—Corner Jackson and Center streets. Rev. E. O. Hoffmeister, pastor.
Morning service.—11:00 a. m.
Sunday school.—9:45 a. m.
No evening services.
A cordial welcome is extended to all to attend these services.

United Brethren Church.
Church of the United Brethren in Christ.—Corner Milton and Prospect avenues. Rec. Chas. J. Roberts, B. O., pastor.
Preaching.—11:00 a. m. Subject: "The Junior Congregation." Preaching.—7:00 p. m. By the pastor. Subject: "The Old and the New Year."
Sunday school.—10:00 a. m.
Christian Endeavor.—6:00 p. m. Subject: "What of the New Year?"
The Ottawa Brotherhood will meet on Monday evening.
The Official Board on Tuesday evening.
The Cottage Prayer Meeting will be held at the home of Mr. C. E. Ward, 523 Caroline street, Thursday evening.

St. Mary's Catholic.
First Mass 8:00 a. m.; second Mass 10:30 a. m.
St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Rev. Wm. Gobel, pastor.
Vespers and benediction at 7:30 p. m.

St. Patrick's Catholic.
St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church. Corner of Cherry and Holmes sts. Dean E. E. Kelly, pastor. Rev. Wm. Mahoney, assistant pastor. Residence 215 Cherry Street.
First Mass, 7:00 a. m.; second Mass 8:30 a. m.; third Mass 10:00 a. m. Vespers and benediction, 7:30 p. m.

How many copies of the Review and Chronological edition do you want? Telephone your order to the Gazette Office tonight; the price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c.

EMERALD GROVE
Emerald Grove, Dec. 28.—The funeral of the late Thomas Jones was held on Dec. 26 at the Emerald Grove church at 2 p. m. Mr. Jones was born in Emerald Grove November 3, 1855, and died December 23, 1912. His age was fifty seven years. He was the fifth child of Arthur and Ann Jones, Nov. 8th, 1884, he was married to Josephine Rayden of Northville, S. D., who died Nov. 8, 1889, leaving two children, Mrs. Robt. Bovall of La Prairie, and Walter Jones of Abilene, Idaho. On Oct. 21, 1899, at Sioux Falls, S. D., he married Sena Newman who with five sons, Wm. Ralphford, Archie, Dewey, and Ray who reside at home survive. There are also two brothers, John A. Jones and David E. Jones and a sister, Mrs. Elmer Van Allen. With an exception of eleven years spent in South Dakota, his home has been in Emerald Grove.
Rev. C. A. O'Neill officiated at the funeral. A large number of friends and pay their respects. The remains was laid to rest in the village cemetery.
Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Barlass entertained the following on Christmas: Mrs. Eliza Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McCartney, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lloyd and family, David Barlass and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Jones, and daughter Catherine of Janesville.
Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Wetmore and daughters, Flora and Ruth ate their Christmas dinner with Mrs. Wetmore's mother, Mrs. J. V. Huggins of Janesville.
Mrs. J. S. Playter has returned home after spending a few weeks with relatives at Beloit and Clinton.
Mrs. Wm. Lester and Mr. and Mrs. John Lester and son, Robert spent Christmas day with C. D. Pitches of Avalon.
James Crooks of Janesville, visited a couple days of last week with George Playter.
Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Davis spent Christmas day with Mr. and Mrs. J. Bradt of Clinton.
S. E. Livingstone closed his school last Tuesday for a week's vacation. He is spending the holidays with his parents at Livingston, Wis.
J. R. Chamberlain and family spent Christmas day with C. Davis of La Prairie.
Glen and Vina McCarthy are home to spend the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McArthur.
Miss Margaret Jones spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Ruth Inman of Janesville.
How many copies of the Review and Chronological edition do you want? Telephone your order to the Gazette Office tonight; the price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c.

Famous Stage Beauties
look with horror on Skin Eruptions, Blotches, Sores or Pimples. They don't have them, nor will any one, who uses Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It glorifies the face. Eczema or Salt Rheum vanishes before it. It cures sore lips, chapped hands, chilblains, heats, burns, cuts and bruises. Unacquainted for piles. Only 25c at People's Drug

CITY CLERK CERTIFIES RECALL PETITIONS ARE VOID UNDER THE LAW

(Continued from page 1.)
ly shows that in this respect the law has not been complied with. Section 4 of Section 925M 307, a part of the recall law, provides that "One signer of each paper of such petition shall make oath before an officer competent to administer oaths that the statements therein made are true, as he believes, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name it purports to be."
"This requires that some one signer of each sheet must take his oath that the statements in the petition, as to the malfeasance of the officer, are true as he believes; that is, that the grounds assigned for the removal of the officer are true. This signer must also swear under oath to the genuineness of all the signatures upon the sheet upon which his own name is signed; he must swear to this absolutely and not upon information and belief. In all cases, therefore, where the person swearing to the paper has informed you that he did not circulate the paper and consequently does not know of his own knowledge as to the genuineness of the signatures thereon I advise you that such paper is not in accordance with law and that you should disregard it, not only as to the signatures unknown to the affiant, but the sheet itself is not filed in compliance with law and is therefore invalid and cannot be considered. While it has no place in this opinion it occurs to me that the men who took these oaths were in all probability not clearly advised as to the full import of their act."
Must Be Genuine.
"It is clearly the policy of the law to carefully surround this proceeding with the sanctity of the oath. The officer is to be tried upon sworn charges set out in a petition signed by qualified electors, whose signatures are sworn to as genuine. How a man can make oath as to the genuineness of a signature, when he doesn't know the signer, didn't see him sign, is unacquainted with his writing and in many cases wouldn't know the signer by sight, is an interesting problem. The more statement of this condition is a sufficient answer to it. The sworn character of this proceeding has been substantially disregarded and, if your information is correct it would seem that this disregard was in some respects intentional."
"I would also advise you that the names of persons appearing upon said petitions who have been convicted of felonies and not restored to citizenship together with such as may be aliens, incompetents, minors and non-residents, or who may otherwise lack the qualifications of the elective franchise may be disregarded. And these are questions of fact for you to determine."
"The filing of these three petitions simultaneously gives rise to another most perplexing question. The law in terms says: 'The mayor or either councilman may be removed at any time in the following manner.' All of the phraseology employed in the recall law is in the singular person. Nowhere does it give evidence of any thought of its having any application to more than one officer at a time. All of the machinery provided seems to give evidence of the legislative intent that but one officer should be recalled at a time. It provides that 'If there is more than one candidate exclusive of the person sought to be removed, in any election, when the person sought to be removed is a candidate a primary election shall be held.'"
One Recall at a Time.
"Now this primary election machinery doesn't provide any way in which the candidate may indicate which one of the councilmen he desires to supersede. If two are to be elected at once. Who is to determine which of the two who may be successful in the primary shall be pitted against the incumbent Cummings and which against the incumbent Millmore. Sub-section 10 of section 925M-307 provides: 'If one of the highest number of votes at such election the incumbent shall thereupon be deemed removed from office.' It might come about that one of the contestants could be defeated by one of the incumbents and yet have a larger vote than the other incumbent who was successful. This might give rise to a question as to whether or not the contestant so defeated would not be entitled to supersede the successful incumbent who received less votes. The attempt to hold an election covering these three officers at the same time and place is fraught with all of the dangers that attend upon irregular elections and may prove to be a source of extended litigation and controversy. While I have not been able to give this phase of the question the attention it deserves yet I am quite firmly of the belief that such a proceeding is irregular and not in compliance with the law. The whole spirit of the law seems to contemplate that a petition shall be filed against one officer and that such election shall be held upon the petition. It seems to contemplate that the officer sought to be removed shall be afforded the opportunity of going to the people on his own individual case; that he shall be heard on his own merits or demerits as the case may be. There is sense and justice in this construction which will be apparent on the slightest examination. If it were otherwise it would permit of political combination which might in its practical effect destroy the real purpose of the law. The guilty might through this combination make his escape and the innocent suffer in consequence."
Involves Great Dangers.
"The most important consideration in this regard is the absolute right under this law of the officer to be heard upon the charges against him and against him alone. No officer should suffer by the fault or profit by the strength of a colleague. If the three stood together at one election there would be no telling whether one was being tried for his own fault or for the faults of another; surely it cannot be argued that in a matter of such serious consequence to the accused official he should be denied the right of a separate trial, unless the law is clear and distinct in this regard. Inasmuch as this proceeding is the equivalent to an impeachment at law or statutory removal for cause the court would undoubtedly construe its terms strictly and would not indulge in any broad or loose interpretations. To be charged with official malfeasance presents no lightsome issue and to ask him who makes the charge to comply with the law, is but just and right. The theory of the recall is to bring the officer who is false to his duty to an accounting with the people; to try him on the charges preferred and remove him if his guilt is proven. Inasmuch as these three petitions are all signed by substantially the same individuals it is not certain that they are sufficient to recall any of the officers. Who can say that the gentlemen who signed these petitions would have done so had they understood that it meant three elections with possibly three primaries and all the attendant expense? In view of the above considerations I feel warranted in holding that each official is entitled to have his case submitted at a special election and that an election for the three together is irregular."

"I further advise you that any of these separate sheets of paper which are not verified by a person who is a signed thereon may be disregarded."
Irregular on Their Face.
"These petitions upon their face present an irregularity which makes it incumbent upon you to certify to their insufficiency as all or nearly all of them appear to have been verified on the tenth or eleventh of November while they do not appear to have been signed until a later date."
"The sections adding the recall provisions are known as chapter 387 of the laws of 1911. A short time after these sections were added another recall law was passed by the state legislature known as chapter 635 of the laws of 1911. Chapter 387 applies only to cities operating under the commission form of government, while chapter 635 is a general statute which applies to any city officer holding an elective office, and is not restricted in terms. The main difference between these two laws is that the latter law makes provision for a recall petition bearing thirty-three and a third per cent of the electoral vote for all candidates for governor at the last general election rather than twenty-five per cent. Both of these laws are general laws and the question arises as to whether the latter amends the former. It becomes a question of legislative intent. I have not had time to give this question more than passing attention and am unable to make any definite statement with reference to it. It is an important consideration, however, as it reaches to the validity of an election."
Assumes Responsibility.
"This opinion will probably be assailed in some quarters as being founded on political expediency rather than law. It is, perhaps, your duty to accept the construction given to this law by the city attorney and thus the responsibility for any error will fall where it belongs."
Submitted this 27th day of December, 1912.
W. H. DOUGHERTY,
City Attorney.

How many copies of the Review and Chronological edition do you want? Telephone your order to the Gazette Office tonight; the price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c.

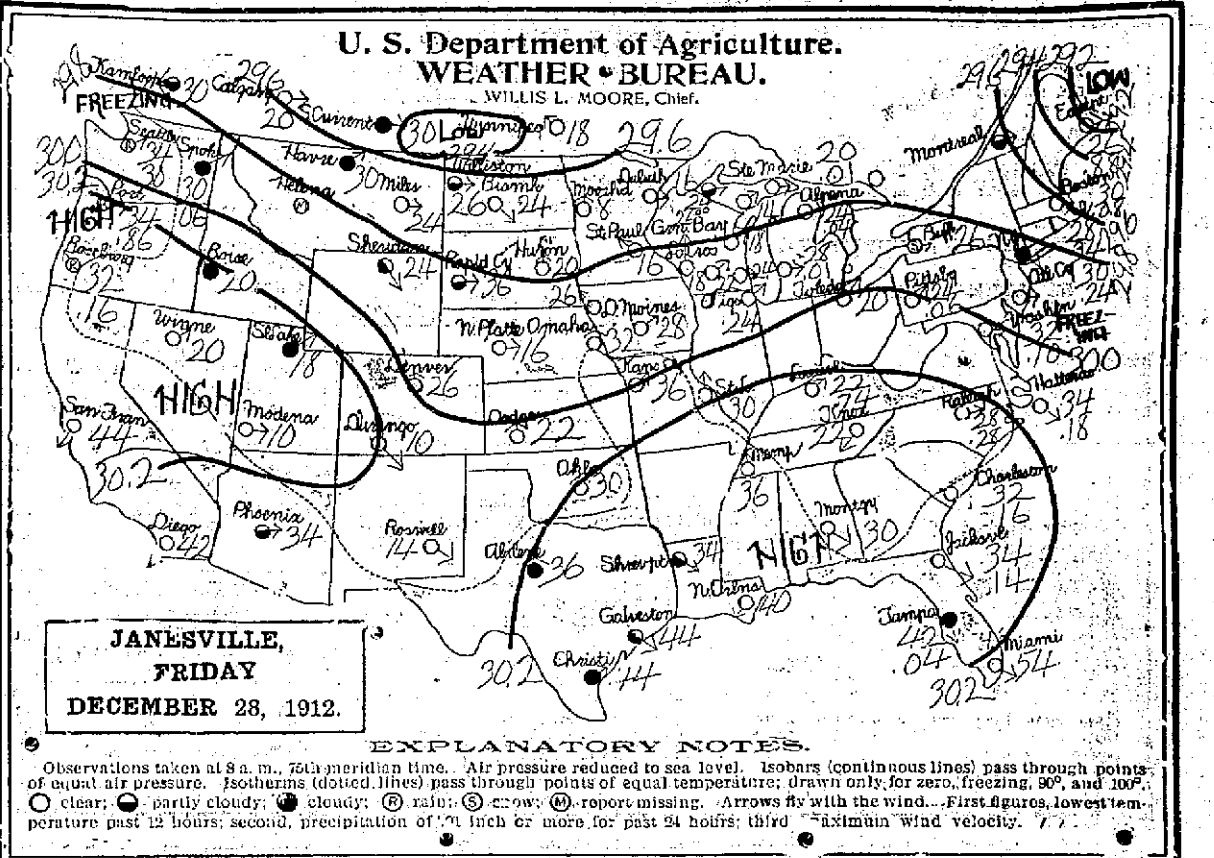

RESIDENT OF THE COUNTY FOR OVER FIFTY YEARS
Mrs. Nellie Bassett, whose death occurred at Milton Junction Christmas Day, Was An Old Resident.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milton Junction, Dec. 28.—Mrs. Nellie Bassett was born in Almond, Allegheny county, New York, April 24, 1851, and died at her home here Wednesday, December 25.
Nellie S. Rose came to Wisconsin with her father in 1855 and lived for about three years in the northern part of the state. Since 1856 she has made her home in Rock county. In March, 1875, she was united in marriage to Albert Bassett. Two children were born to them: Pearl, who died at the age of two, in 1880, and a son, Ray, who still survives her. Besides a son she leaves two sisters: Mrs. I. G. Stone and Mrs. C. H. Osborne, and a brother, Anson Rose, all of this place.
Funeral services were held from the M. E. church at 2 p. m. Friday, Rev. W. J. Perry officiating. Interment was in the Milton Junction cemetery.

Locals.
Lyle Crandall has returned from Milwaukee where he visited his sister.
Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Usher recently spent a few days with friends at Wauwatosa.
Mrs. Angeline Abber, who has been spending some weeks here, has gone to Grand Marsh, Wis.
Mrs. Purdy of Edgerton was in town yesterday.
R. A. Frink is numbered among the sick.
Miss Linda Buten is visiting friends in town.
Miss Irene Kyle spent Friday with her sister, Mrs. W. F. Bowers.

The last two years the supply of copies of the Review and Chronological of the Gazette has been exhausted and many people have been disappointed. The price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c, and orders should be phoned or sent in to the office tonight.

Well Answered.
When he once asked a London class of girls, added Dr. Macnamara, what they would say if he told them he saw the sun rise in the west, he got the reply that it was impossible. "But," he persevered, "supposing I still declared I had seen the sun rise in the west?" "Well," one of the girls at length replied, "I should think you must have got up rather late."

How many copies of the Review and Chronological edition do you want? Telephone your order to the Gazette Office tonight; the price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c.

The storm on the north Atlantic coast has been attended by heavy rains and high winds in New England and on the middle Atlantic coast, and has been followed by a cold wave on the south Atlantic coast. The temperature reached 32 degrees at Charleston and 34 degrees at Jacksonville.
Low barometer prevails in the Canadian Northwest, where the temperatures continue warm, under the influence of chinook winds. It is rainy on the north Pacific coast. The great area of high barometer that was so prominent in the Plateau region yesterday has migrated to the Pacific ocean, and an area of low barometer is forming over Arizona.

Kitten in Revolt.
A remarkable case of filial ingratitude on the part of a black kitten has occurred in Liverpool, England. A few days ago a customer threw a piece of meat between them, which was secured by the mother cat. To the surprise of everybody, the kitten sprang at his mother and drove her out of the house. Since then he has mounted guard over the doors to prevent her return, and, although she has attempted time after time to return to her old home, her stern, unbending, and ungrateful son bars the way.

All About the Frog.
"The frog is a very queer-looking animal which lives on land and in water. If we notice we will find that tadpoles develop into frogs. They first have a tail and no feet and legs; then it loses its tail and two pairs of feet and legs grow on it; and it comes from the water and lives chiefly on land."—From a Schoolboy's Essay.

Is This Optimism or Insanity?
An optimist is one who expects the coal trust to voluntarily reduce prices.

Relic of Spanish Armada.
An anchor of the Spanish armada period, recovered from the Wallett, a well-known "swathway," three miles off Gloucester, England, has been presented to Colchester (Essex) Museum. For generations this anchor has been an enemy to the trawls of local fishermen, but at length one of the fukes became worn partially away, and the last trawl that struck it thus lifted it from the ground.

Legal Repartee.
"And now I mean to handle your witnesses without gloves," said a counsel, whose witnesses had met with rather severe treatment from the other side. "Indeed! That's more than I should like to do with yours," smilingly retorted his learned friend.

It Makes a Difference.
Little Willie—"Say, pa, what is business courtesy?" Pa—"There are two kinds of business courtesy, my son. One is the kind extended to people who pay cash; and the other is extended to people who don't."—Stray Stories.

Somewhat Ambiguous.
A missionary stationed in a land where the natives were cannibals, wrote for assistance as follows: "Our small force of brethren seems to be unable to cope with the distress which prevails in the dark and benighted land. Please send a few more missionaries."—Sunday Magazine.

In Due Season.
"Is love of country strong in your breast?" asked the patriot. "Only in warm weather," said the man with the comfortable home in town.

New Zealand's Many Journals.
New Zealand has 233 daily, weekly and monthly periodicals.

Beautiful Cut Flowers For New Year's

You can't send your friends a nicer remembrance than flowers for New Year's.

We've arranged to have a splendid display at reasonable prices.

Fresh Home Grown Roses $1, $1.50, $2 per Doz.
Beautifully Colored Carnations 75c per Dozen
Fragrant, Full Blown Violets 50c per Bunch

For Out of Town Buyers--Our Expense Phone at

We particularly urge the out-of-town buyer to use the telephone in ordering flowers from us. It greatly enhances the service we are rendering and enables us to get flowers on the way the same day they are ordered. We gladly pay telephone charges from the following places: Delavan, Elkhorn, Ft. Atkinson, Jefferson, Sharon, Brodhead, Edgerton, Milton, Orfordville, Hanover, Darien, Lima Center, Afton, Shopiere, Walworth.

Janesville Floral Company

EDW. AMERPOHL, PROP.

50 South Main St. Flower Shop

A New Year's Sermon

By REV. JAMES M. GRAY, D.D.,
Dean of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

TEXT.—And now, Lord, what wait I for?
My hope is in Thee.—Psalm 39:7.

Another twelve months has rolled around and we are still here. How remarkable this is! Some people think death is the greatest wonder of human history, but life is a stranger miracle. The steam engine in a vessel tied up at its dock is not so extraordinary as one in a vessel plowing the broad seas; and it is less singular that the machinery of our existence should cease to operate, than that it should operate at all. How surprising that one should live an hour, to say nothing of three score years and ten!

"Strange that a harp of thousand strings should keep in tune so long."

When we thus reflect, it is not to be wondered if, like David, we sometimes put the question as to what we are waiting for?

Our Experiences Last Year.

Putting the question to ourselves, is it enough for boys and girls to say that they are waiting to be men and women? Or, for youths to say that they are waiting to get a start in life and settle down? Or, for fathers and mothers to say that they are waiting to see their children educated and established? Or, for others that there are enterprises to whose success their presence is still necessary? Are these contracted carnal things really what we are waiting for?

Let us ask God the question, as David did, and he replies:

1. It may be that you are waiting to be saved, for God is not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance and live. How he has been pleading with some of you during the past year! Was there no sermon, no hymn of invitation or warning, no loss of a friend by death, no providential escape from bodily peril or serious illness, to remind you of your mortality, and plead with you to accept Christ?

2. It may be that you are waiting to bear fruit. By the grace of God you are already saved, let us suppose, but for what purpose are you saved? Why did he not call you to himself at the moment of your conversion? As a saint, for what are you waiting? "Ye have not chosen me," said Christ, "but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye shall go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain." (John 15:16). Is it for this reason you are waiting here? Is the dresser of the vineyard pleading that you be let alone this year also, that if you bear fruit it shall be well, and if not, then after that shall thou be cut down?

The Second Coming of Christ.

3. It may be that you are waiting for his coming. The coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, personally and visibly, for his saints, has ever been the hope of the true church, and blessed is the man whose heart is animated by it. Blessed is he, who like the mother of Siseria, only with a holier expectation, is looking out of the window and crying through the lattice:

"Why is his chariot so long in coming? Why tarry the wheels of his chariot?"

Oh, blessed be God, that from his own word the cheerful announcement is made "Yet a little while, and he that shall come, will come, and will not tarry."

You have seen the luscious fruit hanging from the bough long after the digging and the pruning have been ended, waiting for the genial sun to put the final bloom upon its beauty, and beget the sweetness and mellowness of completed growth. Something like this is often true in a human life, and may be true in yours. "We all do fade as the leaf," but the fading of some is often illumined by the grandeur of an autumnal sunset. God grant this to be true of you, young and old, rich and poor, first and last. May you have a "Happy New Year" in the highest and truest sense. "Happy is the people whose God is the Lord." Accept him, serve him, wait for him. It is only as we stand in such relationship to him that, after employing the psalmist's question, "And now Lord, what wait I for?" we can equally apply the comfort of that which follows it, and add, "My hope is in thee."

"Upheld by hope"—a glorious hope, As days and years roll by; The coming of our Lord and King Is surely drawing nigh.

"Upheld by hope" all toll is sweet With this glad thought in view, The Master may appear tonight To call his servants true.

"Upheld by hope," in darkest days, Faith can the light descry; The deepening glory in the East Proclaims deliverance nigh!

"Upheld by hope," how glad the heart! My soul is on the wing! Even down its hand is on the door, He comes—my glorious King!

—E. May Grimes.

The last two years the supply of copies of the Review and Chronological of the Gazette has been exhausted and many people have been disappointed. The price is 50¢ per copy, 6 for 25¢, and orders should be phoned or sent in to the office tonight.

COUNTY BOARD PROCEEDINGS

Janesville, Nov. 13, 1912.
The County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, met in annual session at 2 o'clock, P. M., at Court House, in the City of Janesville, Nov. 12th, 1912.

Called to order by A. C. Gray, chairman.
At roll call the following members were present: Barker, Bear, Clemenston, Crall, Denning, Ebbott, Gettle, Gleason, Hansen, Harper, Heddles, Hopkins, McGee, Moore, Morton, McEvoy, Newhouse, Overton, Porter, Rathman, Rehfeld, Richardson, Roach, Ross, Sherman, Simon Smith, C. M. Smith, Steele, Swingle, Treadway, Wilford, Gray.

Quorum present.
Clerk read appointment of John Tullar, City of Evansville, in place of M. L. Paulson, resigned. Fred Effen Dahl, town of Beloit, in place of H. B. Mosely, W. A. Rossow, City of Beloit, in place of E. D. Cannon, resigned.

There being no objections they were allowed to be seated as members of county board.
Clerk read petitions from the towns of Avon, Beloit, Bradford, Center, Clinton, Fulton, Harmony, Janesville, Johnston, Lima, Magnolia, Milton, Newark, Plymouth, Porter, Rock, Spring Valley, Turtle and Union for aid to highways.

Referred to committee 6.
Trustee Langworthy read report of Trustees of Asylum.

Referred to committee 14.
D. M. Barlas read report of Superintendent of Asylum and Physicians.

Referred to committee 14.
Supervisor Simon Smith moved to election of Superintendent of Poor for southern district.

Carried.

Supervisor Gettle moved the clerk cast ballot for Geo. Seegmiller. Ballot so cast and Mr. Seegmiller declared duly elected.

Supervisor Simon Smith moved to election of trustee of asylum in place of C. E. Langworthy.

Carried.

Supervisor Gettle moved that Clerk cast ballot for C. E. Langworthy. Ballot so cast and Mr. Langworthy declared duly elected.

Supervisor Treadway moved to election of janitor for Court House, in place of L. M. Nelson, and that Clerk cast ballot for Mr. Nelson.

Carried.

Ballot so cast and Mr. Nelson declared duly elected.

Supervisor Treadway presented the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the sum of ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00) or so much thereof as may be needed from time to time, be and is hereby transferred from the general fund to the asylum fund.

Adopted by the following vote: Barker, Bear, Rossow, Clemenston, Crall, Denning, Ebbott, Gettle, Gleason, Hansen, Harper, Heddles, Hopkins, McGee, Marquart, Maxson, Moore, Morton, Effen Dahl, McEvoy, Newhouse, Overton, Tullar, Porter, Rehfeld, Richardson, Roach, Ross, Sherman, Simon Smith, C. M. Smith, Steele, Swingle, Treadway, Wilford and Gray. Ayes, 38; Nays, 0.

L. M. Nelson submitted the following: Janesville, November 2, 1912. The Soldiers Relief Commission met at the office of the County Clerk at 10 A. M. Pursuant to adjournment, present, Simon Smith, A. C. Gray and L. M. Nelson, the committee proceeded to examine the receipts and disbursements for the past year, and to prepare report to the County Board and submit the following report:

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Rock County, Gentlemen, in compliance with the requirements of Chapter 339 Laws of 1889 we respectfully report to your Honorable Body that the persons named in the following list have received from the County Treasurer by order of the Soldiers Relief Commission the several amounts set opposite their respective names from the Soldiers Relief fund for the year ending November the 20th, 1912, to-wit:

Edgerton.
Mrs. Daniel Harrington $ 50.00
Mrs. Harvey Thomas 50.00
Mr. A. Alder 40.00
Mr. A. E. Rice 60.00
Mr. Z. H. Bowen 12.00
Total $212.00

Fulton.
Mr. J. F. Kramer 56.00
Mr. George Murwin 56.00
Mr. Benton Peirce 24.00
Total $136.00

Evansville.
Mrs. Willson Brown 60.00
Mrs. Julia B. Berry 56.00
Mrs. William Graves 64.00
Mrs. Mary E. Powers 60.00
Mrs. Sarah Johnson 48.00
Minor Children of Nettie McKibbin 46.00
Mrs. Ira Emerson 18.00
Mrs. William Wilcox 32.00
Mrs. Margaret Colby 32.00
Mrs. Nelson Everson 32.00
Thomas O'Leary 24.00
Mrs. Melissa Trunkhill 32.00
Mrs. James Hubbard 36.00
Mrs. H. W. Hamilton 10.00
Mrs. Lucian Palmer 8.00
Mrs. Charles Stanford 10.00
Mrs. Henry Seales 10.00
Mrs. William Burk 10.00
Total $600.00

Indian Ford.
Mr. P. S. Alverson 32.00
Total $32.00

Beloit.
Mr. E. S. Thompson 56.00
Mrs. Squire Morse 56.00
Mrs. Lousia King 56.00
Mrs. Oscar Watt 44.00
Mrs. William West 44.00
Mrs. Reuben Sprague 44.00
Mrs. Millinda Washburn 44.00
Mr. Richard Burton 44.00
Mrs. Rozina Wall 50.00
Mrs. Sally A. Pettet 50.00
Mrs. Olive Gulbertson 52.00
Mr. E. C. Pierce 48.00
Mr. C. H. Upham 48.00
Mrs. Celia Westcott 42.00
Mrs. Ema Hendee 44.00
Mrs. Edson Hollister 60.00
Mrs. Mary Artip 44.00
Mrs. E. M. Gammon 44.00
Mr. Verlan Hauns 52.00
Mrs. Martha McClellan 8.00
Mrs. Mary McDonald 32.00
Mrs. H. A. Stratton 42.00
Mrs. H. F. Hollister 42.00
Mrs. Charles Secor 36.00
Mr. Frank B. Ward 30.00
Mrs. Hugh Lee 24.00
Mrs. Mary McDonald 34.00
Mrs. Jane Bullard 6.00
Mrs. John Yonts 8.00
Total $1,049.92

Special Relief Janesville.
Mrs. L. S. Stillman $ 8.00
Mrs. Emery Patch 4.50
Total $12.50

Special Relief Beloit.
Mr. Patrick Ridge 25.00
Mr. W. B. Person 16.00
Mr. Charles Fountain 19.00
Mr. Charles Upham 8.00
Total $68.00

Special Relief Evansville.
Mrs. Henry Benway 5.00
Mrs. James Hubbard 8.00
Mrs. Harvey Thomas 1.42
Mrs. H. W. Hamilton 10.00
Total $24.42

Total Special Relief. $1049.92
Total Relief $5380.92
Balance on hand $238.55
Received from appropriation 5614.70
Orders returned 24.00
Total $5859.28

SIMON SMITH, A. C. GRAY, L. M. NELSON.
Referred to Committee No. 14.
Supervisor Moore made verbal report in regard to bill for repairs for Road Roller from Austin-Western Co. Supervisor Gettle presented the following Resolution and moved its adoption:

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the bill of the Austin-Western Co. for the repair of the road roller be referred back to the committee No. 6 for investigation and report on the matter at the January session.

Adopted.
County Treasurer made report in regard to Tax Certificates Nos. 144 and 145, Sale of 1908, and Nos. 182 and 184 Sale of 1912. Also in regard to Tax Certificates subject to deed.

Supervisor Gettle presented the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That tax certificates Nos. 144, 145, 182 and 184 be referred to the district attorney and the county treasurer for consideration as to the best interest of the county relative to disposing of them and that a report be made thereon at this session of the board.

Adopted.
Supervisor Gettle presented the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That all tax certificates over three years old, except certificates Nos. 144, 145, 182 and 184, be referred to the district attorney for consideration as to the most favorable disposition of the same for the best interest of the county and that said committee report thereon at the next January session.

Adopted.
Supervisor McEvoy moved to adjourn to 10:30 o'clock a. m. tomorrow.

Carried.

Mrs. Mary Consey 6.00
Mrs. William Newhouse 68.00
Mrs. William Witham 28.00
Mrs. Henry Becker 10.00
Mr. E. J. Hollingershelt 32.00
Mrs. T. J. Dann 24.00
Mr. E. F. Baldrige 34.00
Mr. S. S. Stockwell 32.00
Total $300.00

Janesville.
Mrs. John Lawler 44.00
Mrs. Ed. Gillespie 22.00
Mrs. Betsy Main 56.00
Mrs. Annie Anderson 26.00
Mrs. Lucy J. Miller 50.00
Mrs. Eliza M. Coon 24.00
Mrs. Ellen Ring 42.00
Mrs. Ephraim Sheffield 24.00
Mrs. G. H. Horton 42.00
Mrs. Hiram Cowan 68.00
Mrs. Catherine Sollinger 32.00
Mr. Michel Minnahan 60.00
Mrs. W. W. Strong 44.00
Mrs. Martha Hayford 66.00
Mrs. Mary E. Richardson 56.00
Mrs. Emma Stinson 60.00
Mrs. Jennie Beach 24.00
Mr. George Videtto 44.00
Mrs. Bertha Fessenden 32.00
Mrs. George Winter 46.00
Mrs. Philander Wash 38.00
Mrs. P. J. Bogardus 42.00
Mrs. L. S. Stillman 72.00
Mr. Neil Gillespie 42.00
Mrs. E. A. Strong 52.00
Mr. Michel Griffin 46.00
Mrs. C. C. Spaulding 32.00
Mrs. Mary Dunphy 22.00
Mr. Ed. Alden 22.00
Mr. William Wall 58.00
Mr. C. L. Totten 14.00
Mr. R. R. Sherman 8.00
Mr. Henry Collin 8.00
Mrs. Sherman Phelps 8.00
Mrs. Jennie Beliton 26.00
Total $1,049.92

Spring Valley.
Mrs. John Bahr 62.00
Mrs. Nancy Walker 56.00
Mrs. Anna Black 42.00
Mr. Henry Hysell 38.00
Total $198.00

Milton.
Mrs. Martha J. Miller 56.00
Mrs. G. C. Reynolds 56.00
Mr. E. B. Wigley 42.00
Mrs. A. B. Lee 42.00
Mrs. Ruby Crane 42.00
Mrs. Martha Catright 42.00
Mr. W. H. Fross 42.00
Mr. P. M. Parttridge 24.00
Mrs. Mary Goodrich 32.00
Mr. Chaney B. White 32.00
Mr. N. P. Palmer 38.00
Total $576.00

Milton Jct.
Mrs. N. R. Brown 56.00
Mr. O. C. Garthwait 40.00
Mr. D. M. Terwilliger 8.00
Total $104.00

Johnstown.
Mrs. Asell Millard 54.00
Mrs. James Kinsley 22.00
Total $76.00

Union.
Mrs. Margaret Lamb 44.00
Mrs. Jerry Ham 24.00
Mrs. Jerry Ham 26.00
Total $94.00

Lima.
Mr. J. W. Burhans 24.00
Mr. G. F. Croft 44.00
Total $68.00

Town of Janesville.
Mr. C. W. Robinson 26.00
Mr. Steven A. Gendner 8.00
Total $34.00

Harmony.
Mr. D. M. Terwilliger 24.00
Total $24.00

Rock.
Mr. Myron Hollis 24.00
Mr. P. E. Conley 42.00
Total $66.00

Janesville, Wis., Nov. 13, 1912.
Board met pursuant to adjournment at 10:30 o'clock A. M.

Called to order by A. C. Gray, chairman.

At roll call all members present.

Quorum present.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved as read.

District Attorney made report in regard to tax certificates Nos. 144 and 145, Sale of 1908, that Treasurer would be justified in sale as proposed.

Clerk read the following: Board of Supervisors, of the town of Turtle, Rock County, Wisconsin.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Rock Co. Wis.

Gentlemen: Whereas the town boards of the townships of Turtle and of Roscoe, Illinois, were under the necessity of rebuilding the bridge on the state line road across Otter creek, said bridge, being maintained jointly by the two towns at an expense of $894.50, the town of Turtle share being $447.25;

Therefore, we the undersigned supervisors of the town of Turtle, petition you, the County Board of said county to appropriate the sum of $223.67 being one-half of the town of Turtle's share in erecting said bridge, according to chapter 435, laws of 1911.

Dated at Turtle, Rock County, Wisconsin, this 4th of October, 1912.

J. V. SWINGLE,
V. B. WALKER,
A. F. HAHN, Supervisors.

Attest:
M. N. WHEELER,
Town Clerk.

Referred to committee 12.

Supervisor Overton submitted the following:

To the Honorable, the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County:

The undersigned, supervisors of the town of La Prairie, would respectfully petition your honorable body that whereas it became necessary to build a bridge in said town on section line between Sections 6 and 6 of said town at a cost of $794.00 it being impossible to delay the building of such bridge until meeting of County Board, so as to comply with statutes. We, the town board of the town of La Prairie would here respectfully ask that the County appropriate one-half of cost of said bridge, to-wit $397.00.

R. K. OVERTON, Chairman.

WM. MCCONNON,
S. S. THOMAS,
Town Board of town of La Prairie.

Dated this 13th day of November, 1912.

Referred to committee 12.

Supervisor Simon Smith presented the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the salary of the County Judge to be elected at the spring election of 1913 be placed at the sum of three thousand ($3000) dollars per annum, the same being in lieu of all fees which according to law must revert to the county.

Adopted.

Supervisor Newhouse presented the report of Committee No. 1, illegal cases and moved its adoption.

The attention of your committee No. 1 has been called to illegal tax certificates Nos. 61, 62, 1907, No. 78 of 1908, No. 90 and 1908, No. 74 of 1910, sold to Rock County, No. 51 on the 21st day of May, 1907, No. 78 on the 19th day of May, 1908, No. 90 on the 18th day of May, 1909, and No. 74 on the 17th day of May, 1910. On investigation find the same illegal by reason of an erroneous description of land covered thereby.

Now therefore your committee recommend that the sums of $62.02, of $33.02, of $33.02 and $41.14 including the amounts with interest at 7 per cent from date of issue until date of cancellation be refunded to Rock County or assigns and the same charged back to town of Turtle.

The attention of your committee No. 1 has been called to illegal tax certificates Nos. 107, 107, 108 and an investigation find the same illegal by reason of an erroneous description of land covered thereby.

Now therefore your committee recommend that the sums of $5.06, $11.48 and 79c be returned as unpaid which in fact as shown by treasurer's receipt the said tax was paid.

Now therefore your committee recommend that the County Clerk be and is hereby instructed to clear the books of said error and charge the sum of $5.06, $11.48, 79c with interest at 7 per cent from date of issue until date of cancellation, amounting to $22.85 back to city of Beloit.

H. B. MOSELEY,
H. T. HARPER,
K. K. NEWHOUSE,
Adopted by the following vote:

Barker, Bear, Rossow, Clemenston, Crall, Denning, Ebbott, Gettle, Gleason, Hansen, Harper, Heddles, Hopkins, Marquart, Maxson, Moore, Morton, Effen Dahl, McEvoy, Newhouse, Overton, Tullar, Porter, Rehfeld, Richardson, Roach, Ross, Sherman, Simon Smith, C. M. Smith, Steele, Stoney, Swingle, Tollefson, Treadway, Wilford and Gray. Ayes 39; Nays, 0.

Supervisor Gettle presented the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the County Treasurer be and is hereby authorized to sell tax certificates Nos. 182, 184, 144 and 145 at their face value with one-half of the accrued statutory interest to the time of sale.

Special order of business for 3 p. m. Adopted.

Supervisor Bear presented the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the balance of $192.00 in the district attorney's emergency fund heretofore appropriated for the use of John L. Fisher as district attorney be appropriated for the purpose of special criminal investigation.

Adopted by the following vote: Barker, Bear, Rossow, Clemenston, Crall, Denning, Ebbott, Gettle, Gleason, Hansen, Harper, Heddles, Hopkins, Marquart, Maxson, Moore, Morton, Effen Dahl, McEvoy, Newhouse, Overton, Tullar, Porter, Rehfeld, Richardson, Roach, Ross, Sherman, Simon Smith, C. M. Smith, Steele, Stoney, Swingle, Tollefson, Treadway, Wilford and Gray. Ayes 39; Nays, 0.

Supervisor Gettle presented the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the sum of $298.05 be and is hereby appropriated for the payment of the balance due over and above a prior appropriation for the building of the jail; that the clerk draw an order for said amount on the request of the building committee.

Adopted by the following vote: Barker, Bear, Rossow, Clemenston, Crall, Denning, Ebbott, Gettle, Gleason, Hansen, Harper, Heddles, Hopkins, Marquart, Maxson, Moore, Morton, Effen Dahl, McEvoy, Newhouse, Overton, Tullar, Porter, Rehfeld, Richardson, Roach, Ross, Sherman, Simon Smith, C. M. Smith, Steele, Stoney, Swingle, Tollefson, Treadway, Wilford and Gray. Ayes 39; Nays, 0.

Supervisor McEvoy presented the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the sum of thirty dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, be and is hereby appropriated for the purchase of a typewriter for the municipal court of Beloit, and that one-half of the above amount be charged back to the city of Beloit.

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the sum of thirty dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, be and is hereby appropriated for the purchase of a typewriter for the municipal court of Beloit, and that one-half of the above amount be charged back to the city of Beloit.

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the sum of thirty dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, be and is hereby appropriated for the purchase of a typewriter for the municipal court of Beloit, and that one-half of the above amount be charged back to the city of Beloit.

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the sum of thirty dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, be and is hereby appropriated for the purchase of a typewriter for the municipal court of Beloit, and that one-half of the above amount be charged back to the city of Beloit.

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the sum of thirty dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, be and is hereby appropriated for the purchase of a typewriter for the municipal court of Beloit, and that one-half of the above amount be charged back to the city of Beloit.

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the sum of thirty dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, be and is hereby appropriated for the purchase of a typewriter for the municipal court of Beloit, and that one-half of the above amount be charged back to the city of Beloit.

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the sum of thirty dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, be and is hereby appropriated for the purchase of a typewriter for the municipal court of Beloit, and that one-half of the above amount be charged back to the city of Beloit.

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the sum of thirty dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, be and is hereby appropriated for the purchase of a typewriter for the municipal court of Beloit, and that one-half of the above amount be charged back to the city of Beloit.

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the sum of thirty dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, be and is hereby appropriated for the purchase of a typewriter for the municipal court of Beloit, and that one-half of the above amount be charged back to the city of Beloit.

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the sum of thirty dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, be and is hereby appropriated for the purchase of a typewriter for the municipal court of Beloit, and that one-half of the above amount be charged back to the city of Beloit.

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the sum of thirty dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, be and is hereby appropriated for the purchase of a typewriter for the municipal court of Beloit, and that one-half of the above amount be charged back to the city of Beloit.

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the sum of thirty dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, be and is hereby appropriated for the purchase of a typewriter for the municipal court of Beloit, and that one-half of the above amount be charged back to the city of Beloit.

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the sum of thirty dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, be and is hereby appropriated for the purchase of a typewriter for the municipal court of Beloit, and that one-half of the above amount be charged back to the city of Beloit.

Resolved: By the County Board of Supervisors of Rock County, That the sum of thirty dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, be and is hereby appropriated for the purchase of a typewriter for

MEXICAN REBELLION CAUSES THOUSANDS TO LEAVE COUNTRY

Estimated That Thirty Thousand Mexicans Left to Take Homes in United States This Year.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Mexico City, Dec. 28.—Thirty thousand Mexicans left their country for homes in the United States last year.

This intelligence has disturbed the local press, a part of which, assuming that the emigrants are attracted by the higher wages paid on the railroads, in the cotton fields and at industrial centers of the north, are sounding a warning against what they describe as "false promises" intended to lure the Mexican laborer across the line, to his advantage.

Other papers explain the exodus on the ground that continued revolutions have robbed the toiler of an opportunity to follow his usual vocation and left to him no occupation except that of fighting his countrymen. He is pretty tired of the war trade, particularly as it must be pursued at the risk of his own life.

Quite a different view of the situation is taken by some observers, who hold that an even greater desertion of working men might prove a blessing in disguise, for the effect on the public mind would be an economic influence in restoring tranquility in the state.

A story is told of a well known American mining man in Mexico, whose foresight probably will save him considerable money.

During the "Madero revolution" his property was visited frequently by the rebels, who forced him to "contribute" lavishly to the rebellion. For monies, horses, provisions and other things taken he was given the "provisional" receipts through the evidence of which he was to be reimbursed when the revolution triumphed.

Soon after the close of the first revolution the mining man deposited in the office of the Minister of Finance the receipts which called for some $25,000. He was assured that in due time he would receive his money.

It was not forthcoming, however, and several months later he called again, whereupon he was told that unfortunately the receipts which he had presented had been lost, and the department had no evidence that anything was due him. It was added that if the receipts were found a full settlement would be made.

But the claimant had provided for just this contingency, and the next day he appeared at the office of the minister and deposited a new and complete set of receipts. At the same time he informed the official that if the second lot were lost he could replace them, as he had taken the precaution to make fifty photographs of each original receipt.

Owners of haciendas on which the maize plant, from which pulque is derived, is threatened to abandon this crop if President Madero insists upon the proposed measure to have the taxes on the milky beverage increased. A committee of haciendas recently obtained from the president a promise to give the bill further consideration.

Calculations made at the department of war show that since the beginning of Madero's revolution in 1910 the infantry alone has used 200,000,000 cartridges. Most of these were bought in Germany, though not a small part—that for the 30-20 rifles—came from the United States. The cavalry, and irregular forces have played as important parts in the defense of the government as the infantry, so that it is estimated the total expenditures of cartridges has not been less than 600,000,000. General Huerta's report of the battle of Bellano states that he used 1,500,000 cartridges and 2,500 shells.

In addition to the taxes now paid to the various state governments the pulque growers already pay to the federal government $900,000 a year. The proposed tax would raise this income $300,000.

Pulque sold in the capital comes for the most part from the state of Puebla, Hidalgo, and Tlaxcala. The planters argue that since their properties will place the state in a position of magnificence culture would result in throwing thousands of men out of employment in the country, in addition to the four thousand families in Mexico City whose income is derived from the local handling of the beverage. Other losses would be the railroads, whose daily freight charges are approximately $1,000.

A CHRISTMAS PARTY ON THURSDAY EVENING

A pleasant entertainment was given Thursday evening, December 21, at the home of Esther Buggs, 322 West 4th avenue. The evening was spent at music and games, and light refreshments were served. Prizes were won by Maybelle Dickinson, Edward Link, Nannie Grundy, and Hector Rollman. Those present were: Misses Alma and Martha Nobs, Grace and Bessie Bissel, Maybelle Dickinson, Nannie Grundy, Cora Buggs and Esther Buggs; and Messrs. Edward Funk, Charles Field, Hector Rollman, Clarence Selgren, Frank Kerzmann, and Harry Benwitz.

SUFFERED FROM PARALYSIS WHILE ON SHOPPING TOUR OTHER STATE OBITUARIES.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Appleton, Wis., Dec. 28.—Mrs. Leonard J. Williams died yesterday failing to recover from a stroke of paralysis suffered while she was returning from a Christmas shopping tour.

Pioneer Resident. Grand Rapids, Wis., Dec. 28.—Ernest Henzel, eighty-five years of age and one of the oldest residents died at his home on the east side, Thursday afternoon. Death resulted from paralysis.

Old Neenah Resident. Neenah, Wis., Dec. 28.—Geo. E. Scott, resident of Neenah, since 1849 is dead at the age of seventy-three years. He died suddenly of heart trouble while visiting relatives at Oshkosh.

HOG MARKET SLOW AND PRICES LOWER

Decline of Ten Cents from Friday's Average is Noted in Quotations—Sheep Market Weak.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, Dec. 28.—This was an off day on the hog market with the trade slow and inactive and prices generally ten cents lower than yesterday. Receipts were not large at 23,000 but packers were indifferent to offerings. Sheep also had a poor day with trade weak. Following are the price lists:

Cattle—Receipts 500; market steady; beefs 5.70@5.80; Texas steers 4.60@5.80; western steers 5.75@7.00; stockers and feeders 4.25@7.40; cows and heifers 2.75@7.50; calves 6.50@10.00.

Hogs—Receipts 23,000; market slow, 10c under Friday's average; light 7.05@7.42½; mixed 7.10@7.50; heavy 7.05@7.50; rough 7.05@7.20; pigs 3.25@9.20; bulk of sales 7.30@7.45.

Sheep—Receipts 2,000; market slow and weak; native 4.20@5.50; western 4.25@5.50; yearlings 6.00@7.20; lambs, native 6.10@8.55; western 6.45@8.55.

Butter—Steady; creameries 30@35.

Eggs—Easy; receipts 2419 cases; fresh current 21@24; refrigerator firsts 18½; prime firsts 25.

Cheese—Fair; dairies 16½@17; twines 1½@16½; young Americas 16½@17; long horns 16½@17.

Potatoes—Fair; receipts 25 cars; Wis. 45@50; Mich. 48@50; Minn. 47@50.

Poultry—Steady; turkeys live 12, dressed 21; chickens, live 12; springs live 12.

Veal—Steady; 50 to 60 lb. wts. 9@13.

Wheat—Dec: Opening 85½; high 86; low 85½; closing 85½; May: Opening 91½@91½; high 91½; low 91; closing 91½.

Corn—Dec: Opening 47¼@47¼; high 47¼; low 47; closing 47¼@47¼; May: Opening 48¼@48; high 48¼; low 48; closing 48¼@48.

Oats—Dec: Opening 32¼; high 32¼; low 32¼; closing 32¼; May: Opening 32¼@32¼; high 32¼@32¼; low 32¼@32¼; closing 32¼.

Rye—63.

Barley—48@75.

JANESVILLE WHOLESALE MARKET.

Janesville, Wis., Dec. 1912.

Feed—Oat meal, $1.90@2.00 per 100 lbs.

Oats, Hay, Straw—Straw, $6.00@7.50; hay, loose, $15.50@16; baled, $16@17; barley, 60lbs., 40c@45c; rye, 60 lbs., 58c@58c; bran, $1.20@1.25; flour middlings, $1.40; standard millings, $1.30; oats, 25c@30c for 32 lbs.; new ear corn, $8@9 per ton.

Poultry—Hens 10c; springers, 11c; old roosters, 6c; ducks, 10c; geese, 10c; dressed 10c; dressed, geese live, 10c; geese dressed 20 cents; turkeys live, 17c, dressed 20 cents.

Steers and Cows—$4.50@7.50.

Hogs—Different grades, $7.00.

Sheep—Mutton, $4.00@5.00; lambs, light, $5.00@5.50.

Butter and Eggs: Creamery, 36c; dairy 32c@33c lb.

Eggs—28c@27c dozen.

ELGIN BUTTER IS FIRM AT THIRTY-FOUR CENTS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Elgin, Ill., Dec. 28.—Butter firm, 34 cents.

Janesville, Wis., Dec. 1912. New potatoes, 45c@50c bu; home-grown cabbage, 5 cents; leaf lettuce, 2 bunches 5 cents, 25c a box; head lettuce, 12c@15c; parsley, 5c bunch; California tomatoes, 10c lb; beets, 2c lb; green onions, 2 bunches, 5c; green peppers, 3 for 5c; home-grown turnips, 2c lb; red peppers, 2 for 25c, 25c doz; cauliflower, 15c@20c; white onions, 3c lb; Spanish onions, 8c lb; oranges, 20c@50c doz; celery, 5c bunch; sweet potatoes, 3 lbs. for 25c; home-grown spinach, 8c lb; dill, 5c bunch; egg plants, 15 cents; pumpkins, 10c; red cabbage, 5c head; Hubbard squash, 10c@15c each; parsnips, 3c lb; yellow wax beans, 10 lb; beets, 25c peck; cucumbers, 15c@18c each; rutabagas, 2c lb; vegetable oysters, 5c bunch; carrots, 2c lb; popcorn, 3 lb. for 25c.

Butter and Eggs. Creamery, 37c@38c; dairy 34c; eggs, 28c@30c.

Fresh Fruit—bananas 10c@20c doz; lemons 35c@40c doz; Malaga grapes 10c lb; cranberries, 10c lb; bulk apples, $2.75 bbl; grape fruit, 8c, 2-15c; radishes, 5c box; apples, 5 cents pound; Jonathan apples, 6 cents lb; Concord grapes, 25 cents basket; Tokay grapes, 45c basket; Snow apples, 5c lb; Florida grape fruit, 5c each; new figs, 15c@20c; dates, 10c lb; Baldwin apples 35c pk, $2.25 bbl; greenings, Russets and Tallman sweet apples, 35c pk; northern spy and king, 40 lb.

Nuts—English walnuts, 18c@20c lb; black walnuts, 35c peck; hickory nuts, 5c lb, $1.75@2.00 a bu; Brazil nuts, 15c@18c lb; Paradise nuts, 15c.

ADD CHURCHES.

St. Paul's German Lutheran Church. Services Sunday morning at 9:30 at St. Paul's German Lutheran Church.

Confession service; oration, no text. Theme: "The Lord's Table the Most Bountiful Christmas Favor."

Ten o'clock service with preaching. Text: St. John 1, 1-14. Theme: "Christmas Chimes."

Celebration of Lord's supper.

DIRECTORS OF EXPOSITION OPEN CONSTRUCTION BIDS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 28.—The directors of the Panama-Pacific International exposition today opened bids for the construction of Machinery Hall, which is claimed will be the largest exhibit palace ever built.

The structure will have a floor area of more than eight acres and will have a length equal to several ordinary city blocks. Great columns, 60 feet in height and 6 feet in diameter, will face the building on all sides. Surmounting the columns will be allegorical figures representing epochs in mechanical history. It is proposed to break ground for the building next Wednesday when a program of exercises appropriate to the occasion will be carried out.

Want Ads are money savers.

ASK A SEMI-ANNUAL PAYMENT OF TAXES

Railroad Commission Will Ask Legislation For Laws Relating to Railway Tax Collections.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Dec. 28.—Simultaneous with the preliminary announcement of the valuation of the 28 street railway companies of Wisconsin, the state tax commission made public its legislative recommendations relating to the collection of these taxes in the future. The commission asks for the passage of a law which will permit the street railways to pay taxes twice yearly, one-half of the tax to be paid before March 1 and the remaining one-half on or before Sept. 1. This is the method now used in collecting street railroad taxes in this state.

In the case of steam railroads the tax roll is to be completed by Feb. 1, says the report, "and one-half of the tax is made payable on or before the fifteenth day of February, and one-half on or before the tenth day of August. The street railway companies are not required to pay any part of the tax until the following December. A street railway thus escapes any tax during the first year of its existence. Where some other public utility, such as the lighting plant or hydro-electric power plant, is taken over by a street railway company during the early part of the year, and thus made subject to assessment as a part of the entire by the tax commission, the question arises whether such part of the whole may be locally assessed or whether its absorption by the street railway company absolves it from taxation for the year."

The commission has always held that in such cases the property shall be assessed locally, but asks that the legislature clear up this ambiguity in the law.

Change in Distribution. Until 1911, eighty-five percent of the tax collected from street railway companies was distributed in proportion to the gross receipts of the company in each district through which the line passed. Under a law passed two years ago it is now distributed in proportion to the property located and business transacted in each district.

Some country districts receive sufficient revenues from this source to meet all ordinary town expenses. The tax commission points out that one town in Waukesha county received in 1911 from the street railway tax $3,915.40. It raised only $678.31 cash from taxes upon property. Another town received $1,401.43 in street railway taxes and raised $896.46 from property taxation. The commission states that some change should be made so that towns contiguous to the line should receive the benefit in a county apportionment. This year there will be collected from the street railways of the state over $55,000,000. The final assessment rolls will be closed Jan. 10.

General M'Clernand Ends Active Career

Famous Indian Fighter Sixty-Four Years Old and Will be Placed on the Retired List of Army.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—Brig. Gen. Edward J. McClernand, famous as an Indian fighter, closed his active career in the army today. Tomorrow he will reach his sixty-fourth birthday anniversary, and will be placed in the retired list in accordance with the law.

Few of the present-day officers of the United States army are more widely known than Gen. McClernand. He was born in Jacksonville, Ill., the son of Gen. John A. McClernand, one of the famous Union commanders in the civil war. After graduating from West Point in 1870 he was appointed a second lieutenant of the Second Cavalry and has been identified with the cavalry arm of the service ever since.

When less than two years in the service he received his baptism of fire in a battle with the Indians at Pryor Creek in 1872. Several years later he participated in the rescue of the regiment of Custer's command, and in 1877 he assisted in the capture of Chief Joseph and his band of Nez Perces Indians in the Bear Paw Mountains. For his distinguished services in the pursuit of the Nez Perces he was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant and later was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor. Gen. McClernand saw active service in Cuba and Porto Rico during the war with Spain and later held an important command in the Philippines. In the war between Russia and Japan he was one of the United States attaches with the Japanese army in the Manchurian campaign.

The last two years the supply of copies of the Review and Chronological of the Gazette has been exhausted and many people have been disappointed. The price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c, and orders should be phoned or sent in to the office tonight.

Nest in Bunch of Bananas.

While Miss McName, fruiterer, of Stranraer, Wigton, Scotland, was recently cutting off a bunch of canary bananas from a stalk she came on a tiny nest built between the bananas about half-way down the stalk. The nest, which contained two small, white eggs, was built of dried grass, while the inside was lined with soft, yellowish material.

Wanted Advice.

Wife of City Gentleman (who has gone back to the land)—"Oh, doctor, you are just the man I want to see. I want you to tell me how to cure a side of bacon."

Cheerfully Subscribed.

Mrs. Noopop—"Charlie, what do you think? Dad just sent us a $1,000 check for our new baby! Wasn't that good of him?" Mr. Noopop—"I should say so! I'll write at once and thank him for his contribution to the Fresh Hair Fund."—Judge.

In the Majority.

Any man more right than his neighbor constitutes a majority of one already.—Thoreau.

Nell's Financial Crisis

"I wish to see the cashier," demanded Nellie sternly.

"He's busy just now," explained the teller. "Is it any thing I can do for you?"

"It's something you did to me," she said coldly. "I must see the cashier."

The teller sent a messenger to see the cashier and Nellie sat down to wait, her head held very high, and an angry flush on her pretty face. Presently the boy came back and she followed him into the glass-partitioned office.

"What can I do for you, Miss Behman?" he asked, rising. "In difficulties already?"

"My credit has been attacked by this bank," she said heatedly. "Your clerk would not pay my check; my very first check, and after I had told all the girls how nice it was to have a bank account. They were all going to open accounts with this bank, but they won't now."

"I am sorry there has been trouble," he said diplomatically. "Perhaps there was some trouble with the signature. It sometimes happens with new accounts."

"But isn't your clerk supposed to know my signature?" she persisted. "I thought they had to know the signatures."

"Jordan is a very clever chap," he said. "Suppose you let me have the troublesome check?"

"It's the one I gave Berth Seymour for my club dues. Berth was over for lunch yesterday. I had the five dollars in my purse, but I thought it would help advertise the bank if I gave her a check."

"Very thoughtful, I'm sure," he said gratefully, though his lips twitched a bit.

"Well, you see, father being a director, I ought to do all I can to help," she explained. "Berth stopped in to get it cashed and the man said he couldn't pay it."

Stockton took the check and through the glass Nellie could see him comparing it with the big book in which she had written her signature the day before. It was with a perfectly grave face that he brought it back to her.

"It seems that you signed the register as 'Helen Behman,'" he explained. "This is signed 'Nell Behman.'"

"Helen is so formal to your friends," she said. "Berth would think I was angry with her if I was to sign it 'Helen.' I'd hate to hurt her feelings."

"I can understand," he agreed. "But business has certain stern laws that must be obeyed. One of these is that checks must always be signed in one way. You cannot even change the style of capital letters you use. Had the teller cashed that check it might have cost him his position."

"Are they as mean as that?" she cried in surprise. "I think it's horrid. I sign my letters all sorts of ways."

"Checks are not quite the same thing," he reminded. "If you will draw another check I will get you the money and you can mail it to Miss Seymour."

"I'll mail it in one of your envelopes," she decided. "Then Berth can see how well I stand with the bank."

He escorted her to the door when she was through, but all the afternoon he could see the golden head bending over his desk and when Richard Behman, a few days later, extended him an invitation to dinner, he was raised to the seventh heaven of delight.

That dinner was the first of many. Behman had always liked the young cashier, and was glad to have him at the house. If Nell shared the sentiment she did not give such open expression to her views, but Stockton went away with a happy heart, and it is to be inferred that he was reasonably sure that she did not dislike him.

Then came the financial crisis. Nell burst into his office one morning and raised her veil to disclose a tear-stained face.

"What are they going to do to me?" she demanded apprehensively. "I have the money."

She held a roll of crumpled bills toward him.

"Did you steal it?" he gasped. "I stole it," she sobbed, "that is, I guess I did. I overdrew. I made the bank give me more money than I gave them and they wrote me about it."

She held out the blank notification of an overdraft of five dollars and watched him while the smile crept over his face.

"That's all right," he explained. "The bank knew you were good for it and they paid it out to save your check from protest. It's done every day. Your father put some money over to your account this morning and you're all right again."

"And they won't arrest me?"

"It's not a crime. If we chose to pay an overdraft that's our account. You didn't steal it."

"I was so afraid," she said with a suggestion of a sob. "I could not find father and I came right straight to you."

"I'm glad of that," he said softly. "Now that you have come, may I keep you, Nell?"

"I guess I'd better say yes," she said with a little attempt at a smile. "Perhaps with a father and a husband—in the banking business, I might keep things straight."

TO MAKE STUDY OF CAPITAL AND LABOR

Senator George Sutherland and F. C. Schwedman.

In accordance with an act of congress President Taft has appointed nine men to act as members of the industrial commission which will investigate working conditions and attempt to make more amicable the relations between capital and labor. These men are: U. S. Senator George Sutherland of Utah; F. C. Schwedman, electrical engineer of Mo.; George B. Chandler, member of the Connecticut legislature; Charles S. Barratt of Ga., president of the Farmers' union; F. A. Delano of Ill., president of the Wabash railroad; Adolph Lewisohn, merchant and philanthropist of New York; A. B. Garretson of Iowa, president of the Railway Conductors' association; John B. Lennon of Ill., treasurer of the American Federation of Labor, and James O'Connell of the District of Columbia, vice president of the A. F. of L.

Concerning Greenbacks. Forty-five per cent. of the greenbacks of this country are of one, two and five dollar denomination.

GOV. WILSON HAS GREAT CONFIDENCE IN McCOMBS; MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

Senator George Sutherland and F. C. Schwedman.

Gov. Wilson has great confidence in McCombs; may put him in cabinet

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

Wm. F. McCombs and Gov. Wilson (taken since election)

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

McCombs, MAY PUT HIM IN CABINET

WOMAN'S PAGE

CHATS WITH THINKING WOMEN

by Barbara Boyd

Her New Year Resolutions

WHAT New Year resolutions did you make yesterday?" asked the young married woman joining the group at the tea-table.

"That sort of thing is out of date," responded one of the crowd. "Nobody makes resolutions any more."

"Nobility has time to make them," observed another. "Maybe they are of a too personal nature to tell."

"Pshaw! We are all good friends. Haven't we grown up together from the time we were kittens?"

"I don't know as I made specific resolutions," said the young married woman reflectively. "But I did do some thinking as to just what I want to achieve this coming year. That is, I tried to see my home a year from now, and my expense account, and myself, and a lot of things like that; and I wanted them all to be an improvement on what they are now, and I tried to think how to bring this about."

"You did a very wise thing," said the elderly woman of the party. "The reason so few of us make any real progress is because we never stop to look where we are going. We live along from day to day and week to week, and let circumstances force us into the path we take. If we get invitations to social affairs, we accept or not, as we feel like it. We do not stop to think, we do not even know, whether we are overdoing or underdoing this matter of pleasure. We do not know whether we are overdoing or underdoing in the matter of dress or of the table. If we find that we are spending more than we should, we temporarily retrench here or there. But few of us have any method in any of these things. Few of us map out any definite plan to pursue."

"That is the way it seemed to me when I got to thinking about it yesterday," said the young married woman. "I was just living along doing whatever came up for me to do. There was no sense of proportion in anything. And it seemed to me I could make more of my life by introducing proportion and method into it. Of course, I do not mean hard and fast rules that cannot be changed, for naturally, things will happen occasionally to upset one's plans. But I mean in a general way. I think I'll have more to show at the end of this year for having lived, than I have now. I hope so, at any rate."

"We'll watch the experiment," said the friends around the tea-table. "Don't watch it," laughed the young married woman. "Try it yourself."

Barbara Boyd.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

SYMPATHY SELFISHNESS.

WELL I just do enjoy having that woman come here, because I can pour out all my woes to her and she is always ready to sympathize with me. I heard a woman say the other day, of one of her friends.

And I wondered as I listened whether that friend could say in return, "I just love to visit that woman."

I doubt it.

She was evidently good enough to permit this wholesale raid on her sympathies. But that does not mean that she enjoyed it. No one could. And the people who thus abuse other folks' willingness to sympathize with them as just as foolish and thoughtless as those who ride any other kind of a free horse to death.

One of the most common kinds of egotism is sympathy selfishness. In the eyes of people who have this fault a good friend's best use is as a safety valve for their troubles. Some husbands and more wives, look upon their co-partners in this way, and look forward to the meeting after the day's work is done as an opportunity for pouring out all the troubles and annoyances of the day. Heaven pity the man or woman with such a helpmeet. He needs it. With all the pity he has to give out, he hasn't any left for himself.

Other people write letters in this spirit. Apparently they have had since they wrote last. "Somehow it relieves my mind and makes me feel less unhappy to write out my troubles," I heard one of the victims of this habit say. For such people let me suggest what Abraham Lincoln said to Stanton when the latter was to post a very sharp letter which he had written. The President had seen the letter and approved it, but when Stanton prepared to mail it he appeared surprised. "What! You aren't going to send it," he said, "I quote the spirit rather than the letter, 'don't do that, man. You've written it and relieved your mind; it's served its purpose. Now throw it in the wastebasket.'"

Sympathy is a form of vitality. Those who demand an unreasonable share of sympathy are stealing their friends' vitality. Anyone who has ever had anything to do with a nervous invalid, especially one who is subject to depression and needs continual cheering up, knows what a tremendous drain that is. In a lesser degree, the person who is sympathy selfish, drains his friends.

Do not think I am saying that one should never ask sympathy from one's friends. On the contrary, sympathy is the very breadth and life of friendship. Friendship without sympathy is a body without a soul. But all the more because it is such a precious and wonderful thing one should not try to make it too common. An overtaxed sympathy is sure to become enfeebled. Is it not better to be careful not to abuse this precious privilege so that we may be sure of deep and strong sympathy when we really need it?

four. Add the water gradually and mixing with the knife as little as possible. Only use sufficient water to handle and as little flour as possible when rolling. Cover and let stand several hours before using. This pastry should be light, crispy and flaky. The principle of pastry is, combination of the proper materials, incorporation of cold air, and the expansion of the same in a hot oven.

The last two years the supply of copies of the Review and Chronological of the Gazette has been exhausted and many people have been disappointed. The price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c, and orders should be phoned or sent in to the office tonight.

The KITCHEN CABINET

BE NOBLE, that is more than wealth; Do right, that is more than place; Then in the spirit there is health, And gladness in the face.

A FEW COMPANY DESSERTS.

When one is to entertain, a little extra work and expense will often transform an otherwise common dish into a creation of some distinction. As cookery is both an art and a science, one has a vast field for developing individuality.

At this season of the year, when chestnuts are in their prime, it seems good to try some of the recipes in which we use them.

Mousse Marron.—Cook together a half cup of sugar and a fourth of a cup of water five minutes, pour over the beaten whites of two eggs, dissolve a teaspoonful of gelatin in one and a half tablespoonfuls of boiling water and add to the first mixture. Set this in a pan of ice water and stir until cold. Add one and a half cups of cooked chestnuts; fold in the whip from a pint of cream and a half teaspoonful of vanilla.

Maple Parfait.—Beat four eggs slightly and pour a cup of hot maple sirup slowly over it. Cook very carefully until the mixture thickens; cool and add a pint of cream, beaten stiff. Mold and pack in ice and salt and let stand three hours. Use four parts ice and one part salt.

Orange Delicious.—Boil together a cup of water and two cups of sugar eight minutes, then add two cups of orange juice. Scald a cup of cream, add the yolks of two eggs and cook over hot water until the mixture thickens. Cool and add to the first mixture with a cup of heavy cream. Freeze, and when nearly frozen, add a fourth of a cup of shredded candied orange peel. Line a melon mold with orange ice, fill with the orange delicious and let stand two hours packed in ice and salt.

Orange Pekoe Ice Cream.—Scald a pint of milk with three tablespoonfuls of orange pekoe tea, let stand five minutes. Beat the yolks of four eggs, add a cup and a half of sugar and add to the first mixture; when thick, strain, and add a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, the grated rind of an orange and a pint of cream. Freeze and serve, garnished with candied orange peel.

Nellie Maxwell.

How many copies of the Review and Chronological edition do you want? Telephone your order to the Gazette Office tonight; the price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c.

DAILY DIET AND HEALTH HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist

LIFE INSURANCE EXAMINERS PREACH SIMPLE DIET.

At the recent annual meeting of life insurance examining physicians at Des Moines, Ia., the increasing mortality of adult age was emphasized. It was shown that diseases that formerly attacked men after sixty now appear at forty. This accords with the result of recent investigations in England leading to the conclusion that the cancer age is gradually lowering, while the mortality is increasing. Dr. Millroy, and others, believed that the increasing mortality is due to extravagant diet and prophesied "that unless the people return to a simpler diet there will be an even greater mortality in the older ages." There is no higher authority on longevity and mortality in general than insurance examiners. The obvious lesson is that diet should be simplified, the monodiet being the ideal, which will be only approached in practice. The excessive indiscriminate mixing of foods, which has been shown to be the chief physical factor in the causation of cancer, is the extreme to be avoided.

The last two years the supply of copies of the Review and Chronological of the Gazette has been exhausted and many people have been disappointed. The price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c, and orders should be phoned or sent in to the office tonight.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Novel Breakfast Food.

We prepare and serve "popcorn cake" (as the children call it) in the following manner:

We use a two-gallon iron kettle, put in a tablespoonful of lard and let get hot, then put in a cupful of well dried (two-year-old is best) popcorn. If this pops up nice and flaky (as it should) it will make the kettle two-thirds full. This can be ground (we have a foundation-minute coffee mill) in a hand mill or served whole with cream and sugar.

We also take thoroughly cleaned wheat, wash it in several waters, then dry it. When perfectly dry we grind it as fine as possible in a hand-mill, after which we prepare it exactly as we do oatmeal. This makes a nice breakfast food and, what is more, a nutritious one.

We also take wheat prepared as above and, before grinding, roast it to a coffee brown; then to every half gallon of wheat stir in one-fourth pint of sirup or table (or baking) molasses and one-fourth pint of melted butter; stir thoroughly, then put in oven for another 10 to 15 minutes. When well ground and put in glass jars. This costs us about 4 cents a pound and we like it better than coffee and have no poisonous glazings to contend with.

The Table.

Biscuits.—Two cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one cup of milk, four tablespoons melted butter. Sift flour, baking powder and salt three times, then place melted butter in center of sifted flour, add milk and stir with a knife until well mixed. Roll out and cut with biscuit cutter.

Tomatoes Stuffed With Pineapple.—Pare medium-sized tomatoes, remove a thin slice from top of each, take out the seeds and some of the pulp, sprinkle inside with salt and let stand in a cold place half an hour. Fill cases with pineapple cut in small cubes, or shredded, and nut meats.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two girl clumps. Tess says she knows a certain nice gentleman only by sight and he knows her by seeing her with her steady gentleman friend who has told her that this friend of his also likes her some. Now would it be unadvisable or bad form for a lady to drop this other gentleman a greeting of the season postcard and should she sign her name or just "A Friend"? I said it would be improper, but Tess says not under the circumstances. Which one is right?

EUNICE.

It would be decidedly bad form to send a postcard to him, under the circumstances.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been keeping company with a young man about six months. He has always been real nice to me till lately. He goes to places and does not say anything to me about it. Do you think he cares for me? I think a good deal of him and would hate to give him up.

CECIL.

My dear, you never can be certain a man really cares for you unless he asks you to marry him. Then he is earnest. As for his going to places and not telling you—why do you want to know where he is all the time? If you want him to care for you don't be "nosey." Just be sweet and pleasant, and if he doesn't tell you things of his own accord just make up your mind you don't want to know them anyway.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (I—I am a young girl and have known a young man one year and since I was eight years old. I love him very much.

Fads and Fashion

New York, December 26.—Combinations in furs are much worn this winter. One of the latest is a long ermine stole striped with very narrow bands of skunk and for evening wear it is both practical and becoming. Less practical perhaps, but charmingly soft and graceful are the mouseline scarfs with narrow strips of fur over the entire surface. One stole of black mouseline with strip of spotless ermine about two inches wide and a fringe of ermine tails on each end was luxurious and beautiful in effect. The large muff, for these very soft muffs really need to be large, was of the same combination, with the ermine tails at the bottom.

Moleskin with either smoked or blue fox is also a good combination. A unique neckpiece, which had warmth as well to recommend it, consisted of a broad flat piece of moleskin laid flatly on the chest from shoulder to shoulder. Attached to it on either shoulder were two smoked fox skins, which hung down the back after crossing at the back of the neck. For a woman with a short neck such a wrap would prove a boon, as all effect of bulkiness around the neck was obviated. It was sufficiently warm both back and front to provide ample protection.

There are many little fur conceits this season. The fur brushes and quilts make charmingly simple hair trimmings. An ermine quilt or a moleskin or seal hat carries with it a note of distinction, simplicity and elegance. Quite the newest things are the fur purses. Fur bags we have had before, but they have been of the handbag variety and did not meet with much popularity. This season one very smart fur establishment is showing a fur made as were the old fashioned purses of long ago. These fur purses have much to recommend them, in that they can easily be slipped into a muff, and are sufficiently roomy to broken in small pieces, using two-thirds pineapple and one-third nut meats mixed with mayonnaise dressing. Arrange on lettuce leaves and garnish with mayonnaise, halves of nut meats and slices from tops of tomatoes cut square.

Orange Pie.—For pastry, take one cup flour, quarter cup lard, salt and mix with enough ice water to roll thin. Cream one tablespoon butter and three-quarters cup sugar. Add beaten yolks of three eggs and beaten whites of two, juice and grated rind of one orange, juice and half the rind of one lemon. Bake with one crust, and frost with whites of two eggs beaten stiff, sweetened with a tablespoon sugar. Brown in oven.

Peach Pudding.—Butter size of a large egg, two-thirds pint of flour, one heaping teaspoon baking powder, pinch of salt. Mix with milk until about like biscuit dough. Divide dough into four parts and roll out thin like pie crust. Put sliced peaches and sugar into each one and roll up like dumplings.

Make a sirup of one cup sugar and one cup water. Pour over dumplings and bake 20 minutes. Canned peaches or fresh ones may be used.

Things Worth Knowing.

If you can afford only one thermometer, it is better to keep it in the living room, to see how warm it is inside, than to keep it outdoors to see how cold it is.

If you have an old calendar too pretty to throw away, paste a piece of sandpaper over the calendar pad and use it for a match scratcher; or paste one of the new calendar pads in place of the old one.

Good For Horses.—Take a yellow turnip, cut thin slices, put in a bowl, and cover with brown sugar. Cover and put a weight on top. In about a half hour there will be thick sirup. Take a tablespoonful every hour.

"Well," he said, "we're in for a long, tedious journey."

"Yes," assented Peary.

"I'm going clear through to Atlanta," observed the young man.

"Indeed," said Peary.

"Yes," clear through to Atlanta.

Long, tiresome trip, too."

"Yes," observed Peary.

"Maybe you're not going so far as I am," said the young man.

"Maybe not."

Admiral Robert E. Peary was in the smoking compartment of a train leaving New Orleans for the North. A fussy young man, evidently a commercial traveler on his first trip, came in and sought to make conversation.

"Well," he said, "we're in for a long, tedious journey."

"Yes," assented Peary.

"I'm going clear through to Atlanta," observed the young man.

"Indeed," said Peary.

"Yes," clear through to Atlanta.

Long, tiresome trip, too."

"Yes," observed Peary.

"Maybe you're not going so far as I am," said the young man.

"Maybe not."

Admiral Robert E. Peary was in the smoking compartment of a train leaving New Orleans for the North. A fussy young man, evidently a commercial traveler on his first trip, came in and sought to make conversation.

"Well," he said, "we're in for a long, tedious journey."

"Yes," assented Peary.

"I'm going clear through to Atlanta," observed the young man.

"Indeed," said Peary.

"Yes," clear through to Atlanta.

Long, tiresome trip, too."

"Yes," observed Peary.

"Maybe you're not going so far as I am," said the young man.

"Maybe not."

Admiral Robert E. Peary was in the smoking compartment of a train leaving New Orleans for the North. A fussy young man, evidently a commercial traveler on his first trip, came in and sought to make conversation.

"Well," he said, "we're in for a long, tedious journey."

"Yes," assented Peary.

"I'm going clear through to Atlanta," observed the young man.

"Indeed," said Peary.

"Yes," clear through to Atlanta.

Long, tiresome trip, too."

"Yes," observed Peary.

"Maybe you're not going so far as I am," said the young man.

"Maybe not."

Admiral Robert E. Peary was in the smoking compartment of a train leaving New Orleans for the North. A fussy young man, evidently a commercial traveler on his first trip, came in and sought to make conversation.

"Well," he said, "we're in for a long, tedious journey."

"Yes," assented Peary.

"I'm going clear through to Atlanta," observed the young man.

"Indeed," said Peary.

"Yes," clear through to Atlanta.

Long, tiresome trip, too."

"Yes," observed Peary.

"Maybe you're not going so far as I am," said the young man.

"Maybe not."

Admiral Robert E. Peary was in the smoking compartment of a train leaving New Orleans for the North. A fussy young man, evidently a commercial traveler on his first trip, came in and sought to make conversation.

"Well," he said, "we're in for a long, tedious journey."

"Yes," assented Peary.

"I'm going clear through to Atlanta," observed the young man.

"Indeed," said Peary.

"Yes," clear through to Atlanta.

Long, tiresome trip, too."

"Yes," observed Peary.

"Maybe you're not going so far as I am," said the young man.

"Maybe not."

Admiral Robert E. Peary was in the smoking compartment of a train leaving New Orleans for the North. A fussy young man, evidently a commercial traveler on his first trip, came in and sought to make conversation.

tively worked in black with the design picked out here and there in small jet beads and the fronts fastened with jet buttons.

Short lengths of Oriental embroidery remnants of expensive brocades and rich ribbon are all suited to this sort of work and small pieces of fur are also valuable assets in ornamenting the separate waistcoat. Fur cut in narrow strips is utilized to good advantage as a border to the front closing and may be applied under a row of dull metal galloons, with metal buttons to match. With a fur trimmed waistcoat the coat should have one of the short rolling collars of the same fur.

An adjustable waistcoat for an evening wrap is a practical addition to the wardrobe of the girl who does not always have a carriage at her disposal. Such a waistcoat is adjusted as are the others, by means of several snap hooks at corresponding points on the lining of the wrap and the edge of the waistcoat, but to wear with evening frocks some fullness must be allowed to prevent crushing the soft trimmings and laces beneath the waistcoat.

A good model is of soft satin slightly full at neck and waistline and finished with a heavy cord. Three or four jeweled buttons serve as a closing and as the buttons are the only trimming, these should be as handsome as possible. The new cameo buttons are good for this purpose and so are miniatures surrounded with tiny brilliants.

Two revers may be so placed that they may be crossed and used to protect the throat from exposure. Two narrow bands of marabou or fur may serve the same purpose. When not needed for warmth these may hang softly on each side of the front.

Petticoats for use with evening gowns are indescribably soft, diaphanous affairs, very narrow at the foot and having deep ungathered flounces of sheer embroidery mounted flatly on lined tops of nainsook. Special brassieres, built for use with décolleté bodices, accompany such petticoats and these little evening brassieres, mostly made of all-over embroidery with flat trimmings of Cluny lace, are a distractingly pretty detail of the evening costume, although they are quite invisible in the completed effect. The brassiere must be, necessarily, but a bit of thing, with shoulder straps holding back and front together, for all formal evening gowns are extremely low in cut, but at back and front, folds of tulle or a tucker of chiffon, lace or tulle going inserted in the deeply cut décolletage if modesty is insisted upon by the wearer.

Great use is made of the sash this season to center interest at the back of the costume. One sees tiny sashes which fall at one side or the other of the center-back, long sashes which are really panels, looped under the skirt drape, and jeune fille sashes tied exactly in the center with babyish bows and hanging ends.

Some of the most charming costumes are, fashioned by combining dark blue with white, or silver, and adding a final touch by piping with cerise, orange or canary.

Side by side with the smart Russian blouse which is so becoming to the slim, tall figure, is the extremely short cutaway coat and the short bolero-fronted, habit-basqued Louis costume.

FLORENCE FAIRBANKS.

DINNER STORIES

Admiral Robert E. Peary was in the smoking compartment of a train leaving New Orleans for the North. A fussy young man, evidently a commercial traveler on his first trip, came in and sought to make conversation.

"Well," he said, "we're in for a long, tedious journey."

"Yes," assented Peary.

"I'm going clear through to Atlanta," observed the young man.

"Indeed," said Peary.

"Yes," clear through to Atlanta.

Long, tiresome trip, too."

"Yes," observed Peary.

"Maybe you're not going so far as I am," said the young man.

"Maybe not."

Admiral Robert E. Peary was in the smoking compartment of a train leaving New Orleans for the North. A fussy young man, evidently a commercial traveler on his first trip, came in and sought to make conversation.

"Well," he said, "we're in for a long, tedious journey."

"Yes," assented Peary.

"I'm going clear through to Atlanta," observed the young man.

"Indeed," said Peary.

"Yes," clear through to Atlanta.

Long, tiresome trip, too."

"Yes," observed Peary.

"Maybe you're not going so far as I am," said the young man.

"Maybe not."

Admiral Robert E. Peary was in the smoking compartment of a train leaving New Orleans for the North. A fussy young man, evidently a commercial traveler on his first trip, came in and sought to make conversation.

"Well," he said, "we're in for a long, tedious journey."

"Yes," assented Peary.

"I'm going clear through to Atlanta," observed the young man.

"Indeed," said Peary.

"Yes," clear through to Atlanta.

Long, tiresome trip, too."

"Yes," observed Peary.

"Maybe you're not going so far as I am," said the young man.

"Maybe not."

Admiral Robert E. Peary was in the smoking compartment of a train leaving New Orleans for the North. A fussy young man, evidently a commercial traveler on his first trip, came in and sought to make conversation.

"Well," he said, "we're in for a long, tedious journey."

"Yes," assented Peary.

"I'm going clear through to Atlanta," observed the young man.

"Indeed," said Peary.

"Yes," clear through to Atlanta.

Long, tiresome trip, too."

"Yes," observed Peary.

"Maybe you're not going so far as I am," said the young man.

"Maybe not."

Municipal Affairs Of Vital Interest

HEALTH DEPARTMENT EXPENDITURE LIGHT

That of Milwaukee Costs Less than Thirty-Five Cents Per Capita—Results Gratifying.

It costs Milwaukee taxpayers about 35 cents per capita to run the health department, according to Health Commissioner F. A. Kraft, in an article in the December number of the Healthologist, to be issued this week.

This sum, he points out, insures to the city clean bakeries, sanitary shops, tuberculosis sanatoriums, an isolation hospital, and the hundreds of other activities of the department. He says:

"An efficient health department is a valuable asset in every community. The Milwaukee department has cost citizens the ridiculously small sum of thirty-five cents per capita. This means, in other words, that each resident contributed thirty-five cents to pay for all health department expenses during 1912. This includes the salaries of more than 100 persons; the maintenance of two isolation hospitals; one sanatorium for tuberculosis; the cost of milk inspection in the city and country; the cost of the division of vital statistics, registering births, deaths, marriages and accidents; the cost of child welfare work; the cost of food, sanitary and factory inspection and the cost of the division of education and publications.

"We know from actual experience that since the health department has taken up sanitary work for the benefit of every citizen—since it has taken up the cleaning of bakery shops, candy factories and other shops, candy factories and other factories or stores—the general health conditions of Milwaukee have improved wonderfully. The public has co-operated with the department. Factories and homes are more sanitary than they have been; ventilation is practiced where heretofore it was entirely neglected or unknown. People are no longer afraid of fresh air. The demand for practical literature on sanitary improvements is so great that the health department cannot supply it."

NOW ESTIMATING VALUATION OF OSHKOSH WATER PLANT

(Oshkosh Northwestern.)

W. E. Miller of the engineering department of the Wisconsin railroad commission has arrived in the city under instructions from the commission to begin the work of ascertaining the tentative valuation of the plant of the Oshkosh Water Works company with a view to its purchase by the city, in accordance with a majority vote of the people in the affirmative.

Mr. Miller will take an inventory of the physical property, and submit his report to the engineering department of the railroad commission, and the engineering department will in turn prepare a report fixing the tentative valuation of the plant and present copies of the same to the railroad commission, the city council and the Oshkosh Water Works company. The commission will then fix a date for a hearing as required by law in the matter of the prospective purchase.

Mr. Miller had considerable to do with securing the data upon which the tentative value of the physical property of the water plant was fixed about two years ago and is of the opinion that not many additions have been made since that time, when the valuation was fixed at $546,437.

NEW CITY POWER PLANT TO SAVE TACOMA MONEY

Tacoma, Wash.—The cost of operating the Nisqually power plant has been estimated by Chief Engineer Herman B. Keith at one-fourth of a cent a kilowatt hour, or a full cent less than the city paid the Puget Sound Traction Light & Power Company for current previously. The cost to the city for the first 25 days of operation has been about $2,060, whereas the cost of current when purchased was between $12,000 and $24,000 a month. With these figures before him, the chief engineer said it might be possible inside a year to reduce the cost of current to local consumers. Already the lighting rate is 2 cents a kilowatt, cheaper than in Seattle and the rate is among the lowest in the country. The power rate is the lowest of any, it was said.—Municipal Review.

WOULD CONVERT UNUSED STREETS INTO PLAYGROUNDS

Cleveland, O.—Councilman Durkin has begun a campaign by which he hopes to get many playground sites free. He plans to convert unused streets into places for the children instead of having them vacated by council ordinance and turned over to the building property holders. Durkin obtained Mayor Baker's sanction to have three of these ordinances held up pending the availability of these streets as playground property. "There's no reason why the city should give away to property owners thousands of dollars' worth of vacated streets, some of them paved and others merely de-rated," said Durkin. "We are trying to get more and more playground sites and big bond issues are urged to purchase them. Here we have property that the city already owns."

COLLECTION OF GARBAGE IS PROBLEM IN ROCKFORD

(Register-Gazette.)

The collection of garbage for the coming year is proving a serious problem for the health department. Two sets of bids have been advertised for by the department, but no recommendation is in sight.

The first call for bids brought no satisfactory response and the second call netted little better. The contractors who had the job this year made a proposition at an advance of about $2,000 over their bid of a year ago and it is certain that the work is going to cost the city considerable of an advance for the coming year. The council committee on health is in a quandary over the subject and will refer the matter to the committee of the whole at the meeting slated for Friday night of this week.

MUNICIPAL OPERA HOUSE PLANNED FOR LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal.—The fund of $750,000 for a municipal opera house is now subscribed, and work will be begun to carry the project to completion. The architect has been asked to secure plans of the opera houses at Munich, Stuttgart and Paris, which are the most complete in the world. There are to be three thousand seats in the house, of which two thousand five hundred will be sold for each performance.

BELVIDERE MAY BE CENTER OF A GREAT POWER SYSTEM

Belvidere—Steps have been taken by the Northern Utilities company, owners of the local electric and gas properties, to establish here a big power plant intended to furnish power for a number of surrounding cities. The deal has not gone through as yet, but is likely to materialize in the not distant future. The company is backed by millions and has been buying up properties in various directions from this city.

MOLINE WILL INSTALL A MUNICIPAL LIGHT PLANT

Dissatisfied with service given the city by the United Light and Power Co., East Moline has taken the initial step toward a municipal light plant. The water and light commission, aldermen Lundeen, McDowell and Van Speybroeck, has been empowered to investigate the cost of purchasing a site, erecting an adequate building and the installation and operation of modern equipment and facilities.

May Now Buy Water Works.

Attorneys for the city of Dos Moines and city officials stated that the city may not undertake to exercise its option of buying the city water works under the award of a commission of district judges, for about $2,500,000. She sum awarded is regarded as probably about what the plant is worth, but it is a question whether the city can afford to make the purchase.

JOHNSTOWN

Johnstown, December 28.—Wesley Hawes is enjoying a two weeks' vacation with his parents at Reedsburg.

Otto Schmaling is employed at the creamery for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Dike and Mr. and Mrs. James Haight attended the Christmas reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Calkins, Richmond.

Mr. Kennedy of Janesville, an old friend of the McKewen family, came out for a visit and is ill with an attack of the grippe. Rev. W. A. Goebel was a welcome caller Tuesday.

Leslie Dockhorn, postman on route 9, is receiving congratulations on little Ethel Irene, who is a recent arrival at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harbut are spending the holidays with relatives at Arpin, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Godfrey held a family reunion at their home on Christmas day.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jones entertained at home Christmas day.

P. J. McFarlane and family spent Christmas with Milton relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Koppleman and family ate their Christmas turkey at the home of his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Brad.

School 34 district No. 2 will open Monday, Dec. 30, with Miss McCauley as instructor.

This is tobacco week and a good many have delivered their crops.

Mass Marion Peterson is enjoying a two weeks' vacation from school duties.

Four high school pupils from Evansville, Janesville, Whitewater, Delavan and Milton are enjoying the holiday vacation at home.

CENTER

Center, Dec. 27.—C. E. Fisher, town treasurer, will be at the Leavenworth store Jan. 7 to take in taxes and at the Postville Bank Jan. 9th.

Arthur Schroeder has been suffering a severe attack of colic the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edson Brown, of East Center attended installation of officers of O. E. S. chapter at Footville Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harvey of West Magnolia entertained the following at Christmas dinner: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Davis and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Rosa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Fisher entertained at a family Christmas dinner. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grunsee and son, Delton, and Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Barlow and daughters, Misses Emily and Dorothy were Xmas guests at F. H. Fuller's.

Arthur Schroeder and Jay Fisher attended a Xmas tree at Oxfordville. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Quinby of Footville ate Xmas dinner with W. S. Poynter and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Natz entertained a large party of friends and relatives Xmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brown were Xmas guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Dixon.

Want ads bring results; try them and be convinced.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

WHY WHO'S WHO.

MME. SARAH BERNHARDT is a living example of the golden rule that an actress does not need to be constructed on the lines of a straw tick in order to succeed in her profession. Sarah has something to fall back upon besides amplitude and the set of full, dimpling curves which Robert W. Chambers uses in his magazine novels.

That something is brains, a commodity that does not run riot on the French stage.

Mme. Bernhardt came over this fall to renew her acquaintance with American coin and show a little acting which does not rely upon the lack of costume.

The first time a stranger sees Sarah under way, he is amazed by the feat that she will hold together throughout the first act.

It is evident to all who see her that she is not harboring any adipose tissue. To express it in terms which will not bar this journal from the home circle, Sarah is slender. She has the appearance of one who has set out to beat Dr. Tanner's forty-day fast and is just rounding into the home stretch.

Mme. Bernhardt is a versatile actress, and can play any role except that of Falstaff. Her best hold is Camille, a childlike individual who lies down in the last act and expires in a very satisfactory and wholehearted manner.

Mme. Bernhardt has sent thousands of people home to remove the chills from their spines over a hot-air register and incidentally to look up several long French words. Mme. Bernhardt has excellent command of the French language and can make it sound almost like the real article.

Some time ago Mme. Bernhardt got tired of being bossed around by theatre owners and stage hands and built a play house of her own in Paris, where she can put on anything from "Ben Hur" to a steath gown.

She has lately taken to vaudeville, which has a very soothing salary attached to it in this country. She carries a large cluster of dogs with her, and thinks more of them than some men do of their wives. Mme. Bernhardt's farewell visit is scheduled for 1913.

Some time ago Mme. Bernhardt got tired of being bossed around by theatre owners and stage hands and built a play house of her own in Paris, where she can put on anything from "Ben Hur" to a steath gown.

She has lately taken to vaudeville, which has a very soothing salary attached to it in this country. She carries a large cluster of dogs with her, and thinks more of them than some men do of their wives. Mme. Bernhardt's farewell visit is scheduled for 1913.

Some time ago Mme. Bernhardt got tired of being bossed around by theatre owners and stage hands and built a play house of her own in Paris, where she can put on anything from "Ben Hur" to a steath gown.

She has lately taken to vaudeville, which has a very soothing salary attached to it in this country. She carries a large cluster of dogs with her, and thinks more of them than some men do of their wives. Mme. Bernhardt's farewell visit is scheduled for 1913.

Some time ago Mme. Bernhardt got tired of being bossed around by theatre owners and stage hands and built a play house of her own in Paris, where she can put on anything from "Ben Hur" to a steath gown.

She has lately taken to vaudeville, which has a very soothing salary attached to it in this country. She carries a large cluster of dogs with her, and thinks more of them than some men do of their wives. Mme. Bernhardt's farewell visit is scheduled for 1913.

Some time ago Mme. Bernhardt got tired of being bossed around by theatre owners and stage hands and built a play house of her own in Paris, where she can put on anything from "Ben Hur" to a steath gown.

She has lately taken to vaudeville, which has a very soothing salary attached to it in this country. She carries a large cluster of dogs with her, and thinks more of them than some men do of their wives. Mme. Bernhardt's farewell visit is scheduled for 1913.

Some time ago Mme. Bernhardt got tired of being bossed around by theatre owners and stage hands and built a play house of her own in Paris, where she can put on anything from "Ben Hur" to a steath gown.

She has lately taken to vaudeville, which has a very soothing salary attached to it in this country. She carries a large cluster of dogs with her, and thinks more of them than some men do of their wives. Mme. Bernhardt's farewell visit is scheduled for 1913.

Some time ago Mme. Bernhardt got tired of being bossed around by theatre owners and stage hands and built a play house of her own in Paris, where she can put on anything from "Ben Hur" to a steath gown.

She has lately taken to vaudeville, which has a very soothing salary attached to it in this country. She carries a large cluster of dogs with her, and thinks more of them than some men do of their wives. Mme. Bernhardt's farewell visit is scheduled for 1913.

Some time ago Mme. Bernhardt got tired of being bossed around by theatre owners and stage hands and built a play house of her own in Paris, where she can put on anything from "Ben Hur" to a steath gown.

She has lately taken to vaudeville, which has a very soothing salary attached to it in this country. She carries a large cluster of dogs with her, and thinks more of them than some men do of their wives. Mme. Bernhardt's farewell visit is scheduled for 1913.

Some time ago Mme. Bernhardt got tired of being bossed around by theatre owners and stage hands and built a play house of her own in Paris, where she can put on anything from "Ben Hur" to a steath gown.

She has lately taken to vaudeville, which has a very soothing salary attached to it in this country. She carries a large cluster of dogs with her, and thinks more of them than some men do of their wives. Mme. Bernhardt's farewell visit is scheduled for 1913.

Some time ago Mme. Bernhardt got tired of being bossed around by theatre owners and stage hands and built a play house of her own in Paris, where she can put on anything from "Ben Hur" to a steath gown.

She has lately taken to vaudeville, which has a very soothing salary attached to it in this country. She carries a large cluster of dogs with her, and thinks more of them than some men do of their wives. Mme. Bernhardt's farewell visit is scheduled for 1913.

Some time ago Mme. Bernhardt got tired of being bossed around by theatre owners and stage hands and built a play house of her own in Paris, where she can put on anything from "Ben Hur" to a steath gown.

She has lately taken to vaudeville, which has a very soothing salary attached to it in this country. She carries a large cluster of dogs with her, and thinks more of them than some men do of their wives. Mme. Bernhardt's farewell visit is scheduled for 1913.

Some time ago Mme. Bernhardt got tired of being bossed around by theatre owners and stage hands and built a play house of her own in Paris, where she can put on anything from "Ben Hur" to a steath gown.

She has lately taken to vaudeville, which has a very soothing salary attached to it in this country. She carries a large cluster of dogs with her, and thinks more of them than some men do of their wives. Mme. Bernhardt's farewell visit is scheduled for 1913.

Some time ago Mme. Bernhardt got tired of being bossed around by theatre owners and stage hands and built a play house of her own in Paris, where she can put on anything from "Ben Hur" to a steath gown.

She has lately taken to vaudeville, which has a very soothing salary attached to it in this country. She carries a large cluster of dogs with her, and thinks more of them than some men do of their wives. Mme. Bernhardt's farewell visit is scheduled for 1913.

Some time ago Mme. Bernhardt got tired of being bossed around by theatre owners and stage hands and built a play house of her own in Paris, where she can put on anything from "Ben Hur" to a steath gown.

She has lately taken to vaudeville, which has a very soothing salary attached to it in this country. She carries a large cluster of dogs with her, and thinks more of them than some men do of their wives. Mme. Bernhardt's farewell visit is scheduled for 1913.

Some time ago Mme. Bernhardt got tired of being bossed around by theatre owners and stage hands and built a play house of her own in Paris, where she can put on anything from "Ben Hur" to a steath gown.

She has lately taken to vaudeville, which has a very soothing salary attached to it in this country. She carries a large cluster of dogs with her, and thinks more of them than some men do of their wives. Mme. Bernhardt's farewell visit is scheduled for 1913.

Some time ago Mme. Bernhardt got tired of being bossed around by theatre owners and stage hands and built a play house of her own in Paris, where she can put on anything from "Ben Hur" to a steath gown.

She has lately taken to vaudeville, which has a very soothing salary attached to it in this country. She carries a large cluster of dogs with her, and thinks more of them than some men do of their wives. Mme. Bernhardt's farewell visit is scheduled for 1913.

FRENCH GOVERNMENT FIGHTS CLANDESTINE TRAFFIC IN COCAINE

Extent of Evil Reaches Alarming Extent—Waiters in Cafes Sell Drugs—Many Strikes Occur.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Paris, Dec. 28.—Alarmed by medical reports which show the increasing number of persons in certain sections of Paris who are addicted to the use of cocaine, the police have commenced an energetic campaign to suppress the clandestine sale of the drug. They have a difficult job on their hands.

Dr. Briand, chief of the St. Anne Lunatic Asylum, says that fully one-half of the young women who frequent the cafes of Montmartre and the Latin quarter are victims of the habit and sooner or later come under his care.

"The attraction of cocaine is not easily understood by those who have observed its effects. The original sensation continues for only a brief period, while the after-effects follow swiftly and are terrible.

The law prohibits the sale of the drug except on presentation of a physician's prescription but the illegal methods employed to obtain it are many and ingenious. The waiters at certain cafes make a business of retailing cocaine to customers with whom they come in contact.

Their usual price is 75 cents a gramme. The police recently raided the headquarters of a dealer who occupied a room on the sixth floor of an office building. It had been his practice to supply his patrons by lowering a basket from a window of his room, after the customers had identified himself as a user by whistling in a peculiar manner. The dealer was severely punished.

The result of his arrest, detection and of other sharp police measures has been to raise the price without decreasing the demand for the drug, and it is stated that as much as $8 a gramme has been paid by persons whose cravings were so great that they would not wait to find a cheaper supply.

According to statistics published by the Ministry of Labor there were during 1910 1,502 strikes in France involving 281,425 strikers. Of those 729 were for higher wages. Of the latter, 109 were successful, 264 failed and 296 ended in a compromise.

The winning strikes raised the average daily pay from $1 to $1.25. The 264 strikes which failed involved the 22,791 strikers in a loss from idleness of $29 per man. Putting all the results together and striking an average for the whole 729 strikes successful, unsuccessful and compromised, it was found that the average loss per man for the 93,326 strikers 309 days after resumption of work was over $6. It was only after the 403d day the losses and gains balanced and that the increased wages could be considered as profits to the striking mass.

Seven American makers are well represented at the French automobile exposition this month. The cars and the relatively low prices have excited considerable discussion among French manufacturers as to whether the time has not come to discourage importation by a stiff tariff.

The opinion of the French automobile men is that the American supremacy in cheap and light car manufacture is an industrial one, bound up in their ability to organize factories for turning out large numbers of automobiles of the same model, a thing which it would be next to impossible to carry through with a French factory organization.

According to statistics published by the Ministry of Labor there were during 1910 1,502 strikes in France involving 281,425 strikers. Of those 729 were for higher wages. Of the latter, 109 were successful, 264 failed and 296 ended in a compromise.

The winning strikes raised the average daily pay from $1 to $1.25. The 264 strikes which failed involved the 22,791 strikers in a loss from idleness of $29 per man. Putting all the results together and striking an average for the whole 729 strikes successful, unsuccessful and compromised, it was found that the average loss per man for the 93,326 strikers 309 days after resumption of work was over $6. It was only after the 403d day the losses and gains balanced and that the increased wages could be considered as profits to the striking mass.

Seven American makers are well represented at the French automobile exposition this month. The cars and the relatively low prices have excited considerable discussion among French manufacturers as to whether the time has not come to discourage importation by a stiff tariff.

The opinion of the French automobile men is that the American supremacy in cheap and light car manufacture is an industrial one, bound up in their ability to organize factories for turning out large numbers of automobiles of the same model, a thing which it would be next to impossible to carry through with a French factory organization.

According to statistics published by the Ministry of Labor there were during 1910 1,502 strikes in France involving 281,425 strikers. Of those 729 were for higher wages. Of the latter, 109 were successful, 264 failed and 296 ended in a compromise.

The winning strikes raised the average daily pay from $1 to $1.25. The 264 strikes which failed involved the 22,791 strikers in a loss from idleness of $29 per man. Putting all the results together and striking an average for the whole 729 strikes successful, unsuccessful and compromised, it was found that the average loss per man for the 93,326 strikers 309 days after resumption of work was over $6. It was only after the 403d day the losses and gains balanced and that the increased wages could be considered as profits to the striking mass.

Seven American makers are well represented at the French automobile exposition this month. The cars and the relatively low prices have excited considerable discussion among French manufacturers as to whether the time has not come to discourage importation by a stiff tariff.

The opinion of the French automobile men is that the American supremacy in cheap and light car manufacture is an industrial one, bound up in their ability to organize factories for turning out large numbers of automobiles of the same model, a thing which it would be next to impossible to carry through with a French factory organization.

According to statistics published by the Ministry of Labor there were during 1910 1,502 strikes in France involving 281,425 strikers. Of those 729 were for higher wages. Of the latter, 109 were successful, 264 failed and 296 ended in a compromise.

The winning strikes raised the average daily pay from $1 to $1.25. The 264 strikes which failed involved the 22,791 strikers in a loss from idleness of $29 per man. Putting all the results together and striking an average for the whole 729 strikes successful, unsuccessful and compromised, it was found that the average loss per man for the 93,326 strikers 309 days after resumption of work was over $6. It was only after the 403d day the losses and gains balanced and that the increased wages could be considered as profits to the striking mass.

Seven American makers are well represented at the French automobile exposition this month. The cars and the relatively low prices have excited considerable discussion among French manufacturers as to whether the time has not come to discourage importation by a stiff tariff.

The opinion of the French automobile men is that the American supremacy in cheap and light car manufacture is an industrial one, bound up in their ability to organize factories for turning out large numbers of automobiles of the same model, a thing which it would be next to impossible to carry through with a French factory organization.

According to statistics published by the Ministry of Labor there were during 1910 1,502 strikes in France involving 281,425 strikers. Of those 729 were for higher wages. Of the latter, 109 were successful, 264 failed and 296 ended in a compromise.

The winning strikes raised the average daily pay from $1 to $1.25. The 264 strikes which failed involved the 22,791 strikers in a loss from idleness of $29 per man. Putting all the results together and striking an average for the whole 729 strikes successful, unsuccessful and compromised, it was found that the average loss per man for the 93,326 strikers 309 days after resumption of work was over $6. It was only after the 403d day the losses and gains balanced and that the increased wages could be considered as profits to the striking mass.

Seven American makers are well represented at the French automobile exposition this month. The cars and the relatively low prices have excited considerable discussion among French manufacturers as to whether the time has not come to discourage importation by a stiff tariff.

The opinion of the French automobile men is that the American supremacy in cheap and light car manufacture is an industrial one, bound up in their ability to organize factories for turning out large numbers of automobiles of the same model, a thing which it would be next to impossible to carry through with a French factory organization.

According to statistics published by the Ministry of Labor there were during 1910 1,502 strikes in France involving 281,425 strikers. Of those 729 were for higher wages. Of the latter, 109 were successful, 264 failed and 296 ended in a compromise.

The winning strikes raised the average daily pay from $1 to $1.25. The 264 strikes which failed involved the 22,791 strikers in a loss from idleness of $29 per man. Putting all the results together and striking an average for the whole 729 strikes successful, unsuccessful and compromised, it was found that the average loss per man for the 93,326 strikers 309 days after resumption of work was over $6. It was only after the 403d day the losses and gains balanced and that the increased wages could be considered as profits to the striking mass.

Seven American makers are well represented at the French automobile exposition this month. The cars and the relatively low prices have excited considerable discussion among French manufacturers as to whether the time has not come to discourage importation by a stiff tariff.

The opinion of the French automobile men is that the American supremacy in cheap and light car manufacture is an industrial one, bound up in their ability to organize factories for turning out large numbers of automobiles of the same model, a thing which it would be next to impossible to carry through with a French factory organization.

According to statistics published by the Ministry of Labor there were during 1910 1,502 strikes in France involving 281,425 strikers. Of those 729 were for higher wages. Of the latter, 109 were successful, 264 failed and 296 ended in a compromise.

The winning strikes raised the average daily pay from $1 to $1.25. The 264 strikes which failed involved the 22,791 strikers in a loss from idleness of $29 per man. Putting all the results together and striking an average for the whole 729 strikes successful, unsuccessful and compromised, it was found that the average loss per man for the 93,326 strikers 309 days after resumption of work was over $6. It was only after the 403d day the losses and gains balanced and that the increased wages could be considered as profits to the striking mass.

Seven American makers are well represented at the French automobile exposition this month. The cars and the relatively low prices have excited considerable discussion among French manufacturers as to whether the time has not come to discourage importation by a stiff tariff.

The opinion of the French automobile men is that the American supremacy in cheap and light car manufacture is an industrial one, bound up in their ability to organize factories for turning out large numbers of automobiles of the same model, a thing which it would be next to impossible to carry through with a French factory organization.

According to statistics published by the Ministry of Labor there were during 1910 1,502 strikes in France involving 281,425 strikers. Of those 729 were for higher wages. Of the latter, 109 were successful, 264 failed and 296 ended in a compromise.

The winning strikes raised the average daily pay from $1 to $1.25. The 264 strikes which failed involved the 22,791 strikers in a loss from idleness of $29 per man. Putting all the results together and striking an average for the whole 729 strikes successful, unsuccessful and compromised, it was found that the average loss per man for the 93,326 strikers 309 days after resumption of work was over $6. It was only after the 403d day the losses and gains balanced and that the increased wages could be considered as profits to the striking mass.

Seven American makers are well represented at the French automobile exposition this month. The cars and the relatively low prices have excited considerable discussion among French manufacturers as to whether the time has not come to discourage importation by a stiff tariff.

The opinion of the French automobile men is that the American supremacy in cheap and light car manufacture is an industrial one, bound up in their ability to organize factories for turning out large numbers of automobiles of the same model, a thing which it would be next to impossible to carry through with a French factory organization.

represented at the French automobile exposition this month. The cars and the relatively low prices have excited considerable discussion among French manufacturers as to whether the time has not come to discourage importation by a stiff tariff.

The opinion of the French automobile men is that the American supremacy in cheap and light car manufacture is an industrial one, bound up in their ability to organize factories for turning out large numbers of automobiles of the same model, a thing which it would be next to impossible to that court room day after day echoed the stories of violence, of the discovery of burnt fuses and bursted internal machines, of midnight visits by mysterious men in alleys, in empty houses, in lonely country roads, or on the tops of buildings.

HISTORY OF TESTIMONY IN DYNAMITE TRIAL

(Continued from page 1.)

The vision of a dark spectre with a bomb under his arm became a familiar image in the minds of those who listened. Back of the railings, amid the spectators sat the relatives of the defendants. Three rows deep across the room were the defendants. Among the score of attorneys sat perhaps the most picturesque defendant, massive in build, florid in complexion, always studiously occupied, now copiously filing his notebook when the testimony was exciting; now, when the trial lagged, burying his spectacles in a Latin version of Omar Khayyam. He was Claf A. Tveitmo of San Francisco.

Another man toward whom the eyes of the spectators often strayed was Herbert S. Hockin. He sat apart, between bailiffs, during much of the trial, for he had been branded by the court as "a man who could not be trusted by any one." It was Hockin who was named as having promoted the dynamiting business; it was Hockin who was accused of "holding out" on the pay of the dynamiters; it was he who was said to have caused a quarrel in the ranks of the McNamara and McManigal and it was he who finally was charged with "betraying his own gain" those with whom he once associated and with whom he was affiliated in the iron workers' union.

Gray-haired and old beyond his years sat Frank M. Ryan, president of the iron workers' union, by virtue of which office he was a leader in national labor circles, with a seat in the councils of the American Federation of Labor.

McManigal, the self-confessed dynamiter, for weeks occupied the witness stand, relating calmly, decisively and without any apparent concern for himself a narrative of violence seldom equalled.

Antecedents of Trial.
And what were the antecedents of this trial?

Back in the summer of 1905 dynamite was found at New Haven, Conn., on a job on which non-union workmen were employed. Later the iron workers' union called a strike on several contractors, and the strike became general. That was the beginning, according to the government, of the spread until McNamara organized a "dynamiting crew." Altogether 100 explosions occurred, those at Los Angeles being among the number.

Two striking coincidences attended the trial.

One was that on October 1, 1911, exactly one year after the Los Angeles "Times" building was blown up with a loss of 21 lives, the federal authorities at Indianapolis first considered the possibility of prosecutions for illegal interstate shipment of dynamite and nitro-glycerin on passenger trains. Ortle E. McManigal's confession, obtained after he and the McNamara brothers had been arrested, implicated explosives in suitcases, on trains, or as having entered into a conspiracy. This indicated in District Attorney Charles W. Miller's opinion, the necessity for a grand jury investigation. Indianapolis was the headquarters of John J. McNamara, secretary of the iron workers' union, and the point at which it was charged the conspiracy was entered upon and from which the explosives were carried.

Another coincidence was that the trial began on October 1, 1912, the second anniversary of the "Times" explosion. The federal grand jury, after several months' investigation, returned indictments against 34 non-union labor officials. Before the defense began its case this number had been reduced to 41 on account of various eliminations.

As a motive for the crimes charged the government referred to the strike against employers of non-union labor, consisting of bridge, viaduct and building contractors who maintained an "open shop" policy, employing workmen regardless of whether they belonged to the union or not. This strike never has been called off. It was alleged that a warfare waged by the union spread all over the country until violence was resorted to, or as was stated, "picketing spread to slugging, slugging to dynamite, and dynamite to nitro-glycerin."

McManigal, at the headquarters of the union in Indianapolis, although later named by witnesses as the active perpetrator of the explosions, was then unsuspected by the contractors. But the advent of McManigal and James B. McNamara, brother of the union secretary, as regularly hired dynamiters working under John J.'s direction, and as McNamara charged, with Hockin's leadership, the explosions became so bold as to arouse suspicion that they were the work of an organized band.

Detectives already had been working on the case when the killing of 21 people in Los Angeles by a bomb set off at 1 o'clock in the morning, showed that the desperation of the dynamiters had reached the murder stage.

Much of the evidence that was precluded at Los Angeles by the pleas of guilt of the McNamara brothers came out here. Federal Judge Albert B. Anderson ruled that while the specific charges were illegal transportation all other evidence relative to explosions might be offered as showing a motive. The testimony was that the destruction of the "Times" building was not strictly a part of the campaign against non-union iron and steel work, but was done in an effort to unionize various trades in Los Angeles. James B. McNamara, who set the bomb, was a printer. Witnesses stated that McNamara afterwards expressed little regret that 21 people were killed, and in fact, expressed disappointment that he had not killed Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, proprietor of the "Times"; that the dynamiter was sent to the coast at the solicitation of Tveitmo, a recognized union labor leader, and that Tveitmo furnished David Caplan and M. A. Schmidt, who were also indicted for murder, but who never were captured.

All the 100 explosions came in for scrutiny by the jury here, and the field of operations extended from Boston to Los Angeles.

"Who caused those explosions?" was the question before the jury. Broadly the charges were that J. J. McNamara began them and thought them an effective means of fighting "open shop" contractors. "Make the damage as heavy as possible," McNamara said always were his instructions. Hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property was said to have been destroyed. Finding the maintenance of a hired "dynamiting crew" cost money, McNamara is alleged to have appealed to the union for funds, and in this way, the government charged, others became implicated. For instance, the government set out that the union executive board decided at last to allow McNamara $1,000 a month, for which he would be required to give no accounting. Letters also were written which, the government asserted, showed certain business agents, recognizing the "dynamiting crew" as a regular institution, sent word as to what jobs should be blown up. All the indicted officials were declared in the letters to be "linked together in guilt."

That was the case the government asserted at the opening of the trial, asserted it had to place before the jury. It was stated that the trial, in the number of defendants, in fact that the defendants were allied with labor unions, in the nation-wide extent of the conspiracy, and in its ramifications, was unprecedented. McNamara's confession, detailing 21 explosions which he said he personally caused, was scrutinized to determine in what minute particulars corroborative witnesses were needed.

The witnesses came from almost every city. Dozens of them were brought from the Pacific coast to remain on the stand only a few minutes. A curly-headed, three-cheeked girl, garbed in a pink dress, was called from North Randall, O., to point out in the court room Peter J. Smith and George (Nipper) Anderson, of Cleveland, as men she saw going up a lonely road with a box shortly before an explosion at North Randall. A mechanic came from Hawaii to tell of overhearing certain of the defendants discuss proposed explosions in Detroit. An engineer came from Panama to recount how explosions were carried out in grove livery wagons, chest bags in railway stations, who cared for suitcases, filled with internal machines, hotel clerks who "booked" the McNamara and McManigal for rooms, detectives, stenographers, contractors who suffered explosions, and telephone operators, all related their knowledge of the defendants' conversations or movements, which the government undertook to weave into a complex story to show, at once the individual guilt of each, and collective guilt of all the defendants.

One by one the defendants heard the charges repeated against them. Tveitmo heard his name mentioned often. He was accused as having furnished Caplan and Schmidt to help blow up the "Times" building. He was named as having sent word to McNamara the month after the explosion that "things were all right on the coast," and as having requested the dynamiters again be sent to Los Angeles, later acknowledged as "an explosion there." McNamara said he called at Tveitmo's office in San Francisco, but met only Eugene A. Clancy there. Anton Johansen was mentioned by witnesses as having helped Tveitmo, William J. Burns testified he told Mayor Alexander, of Los Angeles, the day of the explosion that "Tveitmo and Johansen were behind it." Testimony of Johansen was permitted on the ground that though not a defendant, he had been shown to be a conspirator.

J. E. Munsey, Salt Lake City, was charged with harboring the Los Angeles dynamiters for two weeks. A tailor in Salt Lake City said he altered clothes for the dynamiters, and other witnesses said they saw Munsey, also known as "Jack Bright," and McNamara together. Clancy was again mentioned as being in Boston when the Pacific coast explosion occurred, and as having been west after telegraphing "Clear" to the government, meaning, as the government charged, to destroy evidence. H. W. Pohlman, of Seattle, was mentioned as bringing McNamara and Clancy together in that city.

Of all the defendants Herbert S. Hockin was probably the most conspicuous in the testimony. Hockin's story, as told, was: As an organizer for the union he induced McNamara to do dynamiting. Then he began to "hold out" on the day allowed McNamara for jobs. This resulted in quarrels, and the McNamara decided to have little to do with him. Knowing this Hockin went to a contractor in Pittsburgh and betrayed the dynamiters. That was before the loss of life at Los Angeles. Later Hockin worked for Burns, while still remaining as an official of the union, and when the federal jury began work in Indianapolis, Hockin took information to the government.

The testimony at the trial resulted in the increasing of Hockin's bonds, so that he was confined to jail. Hockin asserted that those for whom he was accused as acting as a spy, that he took no part in dynamiting, but witnesses from Muncie, Ind., and at Cincinnati pointed him out as the man to whom they actually sold explosives. Hockin again was the man most mentioned by McNamara. "After he had induced me to blow up a job in Detroit in 1907," said McNamara, "Hockin told me there was no use of my attempting to quit now, as they had the goods on me. I asked him who was going to pay me for my work. He said the executive board had set aside a limited fee of $125 for each job and expenses. I told him it was too little for a thing like that. He replied my family would be taken care of if anything happened. So I went to Bloomville, Ohio, and got an order from Nat. France to Bill Carey, who was the keeper of a magazine where dynamite was stored for use in a stone quarry, and they let me have some without knowing what I was going to do with it. I used it to blow up a derrick at Clinton, Iowa, Feb. 16, 1908."

"Hockin two weeks later visited me again in Chicago and said he did not have enough money to pay expenses for the Clinton job, but for me to go to the hall of the local union, when I went there the secretary, R. H. Houlihan, gave me an envelope containing $165. Houlihan said: 'There is money in that.'"

In July of 1908, according to McNamara, Hockin met him in Buffalo and after pointing out a viaduct, said he wanted to get to Canada before the explosion took place. About 11 o'clock that night McNamara set off the dynamite with a sixty-foot fuse. He said Hockin met him later in Chicago and paid him.

Then Hockin asked McNamara to go to St. Louis, but he refused, and went instead to Holyoke, Mass., where an explosion failed because the dynamite was buried in the ground too long, McNamara said.

"Up to March, 1909 Hockin was the only man who knew me as a dynamiter," said McNamara. "Just before that date he arranged for me to go to Boston and see M. J. Young regarding the job on the Boston Opera House which was blown up." Later on an arrangement from Hockin, McNamara said he went to Hoboken to confer with Frank C. Webb, of New York, about blowing up a viaduct. A dispute arose and McNamara told Webb that Hockin was paying for the work and he proposed to follow instructions.

"Hockin paid me $250 for the Boston and Hoboken jobs," said McNamara. "Then it was arranged I should meet J. B. McNamara for the first time. Hockin had telegraphed me to meet him in Indianapolis. We went from there to Muncie, Ind., where we met J. B. Hockin made all arrangements here about getting rigs, boxes and cans for the nitro-glycerin he was negotiating for. He had me buy a piano box and rent a house, all barrels with sawdust and put them in the house for storing the explosives. Hockin paid me for the rent of the house and arranged with a well-shooter to get nitro-glycerin, which we transferred to the house in Muncie."

"In February, 1910, in Chicago, I received a telegram from Hockin to come to Indianapolis. I did not go, but J. B. McNamara came to Chicago and told me Hockin had sent him to explain a new invention. J. B. explained about the alarm clock arrangement by which we in the future were to regulate the time for exploding bombs. A few days later Hockin wired me to come to Indianapolis, where he and I and J. B. McNamara fully went over the clock scheme. With it I went to Mt. Vernon, Ill., and pulled off a job on a power house, for which Hockin paid me $125."

The show got started and in a few years it was put on cars and was launched out as a big show. The Forepaugh show showed in opposition to Bachelor and Dorris at different times and we always found that the Dorris and Bachelor show was our real opponent and stood well in favor with the public.

The show prospered for several years and some time early in the eighties Billy Bachelor concluded that he had made all the money that he would need if carefully managed and sold out to his partner John B. Dorris. Later the show struck hard luck in first one way and then another and along late in the eighties the John B. Dorris show went on the rocks at St. Louis, Missouri.

Everything was gone and Mr. Dorris never was before the public again as a prominent owner of a show. Dorris was a large, fine looking man with jet black hair and came on the Forepaugh show after his failure and paid a visit to Mr. Forepaugh. And this was the last time I saw John B. Dorris until two years ago last February.

I was passing the Myers House corner when an old gentleman with snow white hair tapped on the window and motioned for me to come in. He shook hands with me and called me by name and then said, "Dave, don't you know me?" I could not place him for a moment until he commenced to smile and I said, "Is it possible this is John B. Dorris?" "Well," he said, "this is the remains."

He was here as advance manager for Mae Robson who was to appear here later at the opera house in "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary." Mr. Dorris had to leave on an early train so that we had but little time to visit, but he told me after his failure in the circus business that he went to New York and got a position as advance manager in theatrical work and had been at it ever since.

He said his home was in Erie, Pennsylvania, where his wife was still living. He said "This is a little different from circus business especially if you were an owner or a manager, but I have always kept with high class attractions, always have had a good salary and perhaps the end may be just as well." He was taking his attraction west as far as the coast and their season he said would probably last about forty-three weeks. Nobody stood higher as advance agent or manager than John B. Dorris, which always assured him of a good position.

In the middle seventies a man by the name of W. C. Coup who for many years had been connected with the Forepaugh show in different ways conceived the idea with other prominent show men of starting out what was known as the New York Hippodrome. P. T. Barnum as well as W. C. Coup and a few others interested started out the greatest hippodrome that ever was put on the road. It was so large they could only show on fair grounds and was a world of expense to get over the road.

In showing in a town down in Illinois an incident happened which I'll tell you about. In announcing the coming of the great show it was advertised in newspapers and along the bill boards that it was such a mammoth institution that it took twenty managers to handle it, while in fact W. C. Coup was the general manager with one assistant.

This morning in the Illinois town the boss canvassman as usual had gone to the lot early and had to wait till the manager came to show him how to front the town with his mammoth tents. After waiting for an hour or more and no manager showing up he jumped into his buggy and drove down to the car to see where the manager was.

Just as he drove up to Mr. Coup's private car Mr. Coup stepped out the rear of the car and said to him in a sharp tone of voice, "Tom what are you doing down here this time of the morning and what do you want?" Tom answered him quickly saying, "Mr. Coup I want to now where some of your twenty managers are?" Mr. Coup smiled and said, "Tom they're on the bills, they're on the bills," and this was where eighteen of them were as there were only two actual managers of the show.

The great New York Hippodrome was a failure, lost a lot of money for its owners and was finally disbanded. C. Coup was always identified with the best shows in the country, but I don't think that he ever became prominent as an owner after this. A few years later he came on to visit Mr. Forepaugh and when he left for home, Mr. Forepaugh handed him a substantial present in the way of cash, which no doubt came handy to him at that time.

Side Lights On The Circus Business

By
D. W. WATT

Back in the early eighties were two young men in the show business, one by the name of John Dorris, and the other William Bachelor. Dorris was a high class advance man who had been in the business several years, always drawing a good salary and saving a goodly part of it. Billy Bachelor was a performer and a high salaried one and he too knew well how to care for his hard earned money.

After the close of the show one fall Dorris and Bachelor got together and made up their minds to put a show on the road, and while they had quite a little pot of money when they came to put in a circus and menagerie on the road the show did not look so much, but they were both high class in their business and made the money count wherever it was possible.

When it started out in the spring all brand new it looked the part of the high class show which it was, but not a very big one. They went by wagon and took in only the small towns and the show was a winner from the start.

The show got started and in a few years it was put on cars and was launched out as a big show. The Forepaugh show showed in opposition to Bachelor and Dorris at different times and we always found that the Dorris and Bachelor show was our real opponent and stood well in favor with the public.

The show prospered for several years and some time early in the eighties Billy Bachelor concluded that he had made all the money that he would need if carefully managed and sold out to his partner John B. Dorris. Later the show struck hard luck in first one way and then another and along late in the eighties the John B. Dorris show went on the rocks at St. Louis, Missouri.

Everything was gone and Mr. Dorris never was before the public again as a prominent owner of a show. Dorris was a large, fine looking man with jet black hair and came on the Forepaugh show after his failure and paid a visit to Mr. Forepaugh. And this was the last time I saw John B. Dorris until two years ago last February.

I was passing the Myers House corner when an old gentleman with snow white hair tapped on the window and motioned for me to come in. He shook hands with me and called me by name and then said, "Dave, don't you know me?" I could not place him for a moment until he commenced to smile and I said, "Is it possible this is John B. Dorris?" "Well," he said, "this is the remains."

He was here as advance manager for Mae Robson who was to appear here later at the opera house in "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary." Mr. Dorris had to leave on an early train so that we had but little time to visit, but he told me after his failure in the circus business that he went to New York and got a position as advance manager in theatrical work and had been at it ever since.

He said his home was in Erie, Pennsylvania, where his wife was still living. He said "This is a little different from circus business especially if you were an owner or a manager, but I have always kept with high class attractions, always have had a good salary and perhaps the end may be just as well." He was taking his attraction west as far as the coast and their season he said would probably last about forty-three weeks. Nobody stood higher as advance agent or manager than John B. Dorris, which always assured him of a good position.

In the middle seventies a man by the name of W. C. Coup who for many years had been connected with the Forepaugh show in different ways conceived the idea with other prominent show men of starting out what was known as the New York Hippodrome. P. T. Barnum as well as W. C. Coup and a few others interested started out the greatest hippodrome that ever was put on the road. It was so large they could only show on fair grounds and was a world of expense to get over the road.

In showing in a town down in Illinois an incident happened which I'll tell you about. In announcing the coming of the great show it was advertised in newspapers and along the bill boards that it was such a mammoth institution that it took twenty managers to handle it, while in fact W. C. Coup was the general manager with one assistant.

This morning in the Illinois town the boss canvassman as usual had gone to the lot early and had to wait till the manager came to show him how to front the town with his mammoth tents. After waiting for an hour or more and no manager showing up he jumped into his buggy and drove down to the car to see where the manager was.

Just as he drove up to Mr. Coup's private car Mr. Coup stepped out the rear of the car and said to him in a sharp tone of voice, "Tom what are you doing down here this time of the morning and what do you want?" Tom answered him quickly saying, "Mr. Coup I want to now where some of your twenty managers are?" Mr. Coup smiled and said, "Tom they're on the bills, they're on the bills," and this was where eighteen of them were as there were only two actual managers of the show.

The great New York Hippodrome was a failure, lost a lot of money for its owners and was finally disbanded. C. Coup was always identified with the best shows in the country, but I don't think that he ever became prominent as an owner after this. A few years later he came on to visit Mr. Forepaugh and when he left for home, Mr. Forepaugh handed him a substantial present in the way of cash, which no doubt came handy to him at that time.

Back in the early eighties were two young men in the show business, one by the name of John Dorris, and the other William Bachelor. Dorris was a high class advance man who had been in the business several years, always drawing a good salary and saving a goodly part of it. Billy Bachelor was a performer and a high salaried one and he too knew well how to care for his hard earned money.

After the close of the show one fall Dorris and Bachelor got together and made up their minds to put a show on the road, and while they had quite a little pot of money when they came to put in a circus and menagerie on the road the show did not look so much, but they were both high class in their business and made the money count wherever it was possible.

When it started out in the spring all brand new it looked the part of the high class show which it was, but not a very big one. They went by wagon and took in only the small towns and the show was a winner from the start.

The show got started and in a few years it was put on cars and was launched out as a big show. The Forepaugh show showed in opposition to Bachelor and Dorris at different times and we always found that the Dorris and Bachelor show was our real opponent and stood well in favor with the public.

The show prospered for several years and some time early in the eighties Billy Bachelor concluded that he had made all the money that he would need if carefully managed and sold out to his partner John B. Dorris. Later the show struck hard luck in first one way and then another and along late in the eighties the John B. Dorris show went on the rocks at St. Louis, Missouri.

Everything was gone and Mr. Dorris never was before the public again as a prominent owner of a show. Dorris was a large, fine looking man with jet black hair and came on the Forepaugh show after his failure and paid a visit to Mr. Forepaugh. And this was the last time I saw John B. Dorris until two years ago last February.

I was passing the Myers House corner when an old gentleman with snow white hair tapped on the window and motioned for me to come in. He shook hands with me and called me by name and then said, "Dave, don't you know me?" I could not place him for a moment until he commenced to smile and I said, "Is it possible this is John B. Dorris?" "Well," he said, "this is the remains."

He was here as advance manager for Mae Robson who was to appear here later at the opera house in "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary." Mr. Dorris had to leave on an early train so that we had but little time to visit, but he told me after his failure in the circus business that he went to New York and got a position as advance manager in theatrical work and had been at it ever since.

He said his home was in Erie, Pennsylvania, where his wife was still living. He said "This is a little different from circus business especially if you were an owner or a manager, but I have always kept with high class attractions, always have had a good salary and perhaps the end may be just as well." He was taking his attraction west as far as the coast and their season he said would probably last about forty-three weeks. Nobody stood higher as advance agent or manager than John B. Dorris, which always assured him of a good position.

In the middle seventies a man by the name of W. C. Coup who for many years had been connected with the Forepaugh show in different ways conceived the idea with other prominent show men of starting out what was known as the New York Hippodrome. P. T. Barnum as well as W. C. Coup and a few others interested started out the greatest hippodrome that ever was put on the road. It was so large they could only show on fair grounds and was a world of expense to get over the road.

In showing in a town down in Illinois an incident happened which I'll tell you about. In announcing the coming of the great show it was advertised in newspapers and along the bill boards that it was such a mammoth institution that it took twenty managers to handle it, while in fact W. C. Coup was the general manager with one assistant.

This morning in the Illinois town the boss canvassman as usual had gone to the lot early and had to wait till the manager came to show him how to front the town with his mammoth tents. After waiting for an hour or more and no manager showing up he jumped into his buggy and drove down to the car to see where the manager was.

Just as he drove up to Mr. Coup's private car Mr. Coup stepped out the rear of the car and said to him in a sharp tone of voice, "Tom what are you doing down here this time of the morning and what do you want?" Tom answered him quickly saying, "Mr. Coup I want to now where some of your twenty managers are?" Mr. Coup smiled and said, "Tom they're on the bills, they're on the bills," and this was where eighteen of them were as there were only two actual managers of the show.

The great New York Hippodrome was a failure, lost a lot of money for its owners and was finally disbanded. C. Coup was always identified with the best shows in the country, but I don't think that he ever became prominent as an owner after this. A few years later he came on to visit Mr. Forepaugh and when he left for home, Mr. Forepaugh handed him a substantial present in the way of cash, which no doubt came handy to him at that time.

lives of men who were famous years ago in the show business and go to show the ups and downs of that kind of a show and the chances they had to take.

In eighteen and eighty-two Sam Watson who was in Europe for Adam Forepaugh discovered a giant in London, England by the name of Henry Cooper. Cooper was brought over to this country on a three year contract with Adam Forepaugh and in the summer time was on exhibition in the side show and in the winter was leased to the museums. He was the greatest giant that this country ever saw, standing eight feet, four inches, not fleshy and yet weighing three hundred and seventy five pounds.

Cooper got a big salary and naturally being a good fellow he was soon a favorite around the show. He finished his three year contract with Adam Forepaugh and later bought out a gentlemen's cafe in Buffalo and retired from show business. Cooper made some money in his new venture, but was not content and later sold out his business in Buffalo and went back into the show business which was more to his liking.

He was here some nine or ten years ago with the Sells Brothers' show and while we were talking over old times Cooper said:

"Dave these are nice people here to travel with, but there was only one man for me and that was old Adam Forepaugh. I never knew anyone who ever worked there and left that they didn't want to get back home. He was certainly one grand old man."

In those days Adam Forepaugh brought many foreign performers over to this country and I never knew one to go back over the water in the fall that they weren't anxious to come back again. They said there was more money here and better treatment than in the European countries.

How many copies of the Review and Chronological edition do you want? Telephone your order to the Gazette office tonight; the price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c.

reverses.
Things do not always go smoothly when five-year-old John dresses himself. "What's the matter, sonny-boy?" asked his mother one morning, as she heard a discouraged sigh.

John surveyed himself with a puzzled frown. "How does it happen?" he inquired tragically. "I've put on these overalls three times, and every time I get 'em on backside beforehand!"

Labor-Saving Device.
A piece of plate glass to lay over the polished surface of the dressing table is a modern fashion which preserves the wood from stains or scorch marks caused by spirit lamps and tongs, while the washing of toilet covers is avoided and dusting simplified.

CRUISE by the
S. S. CLEVELAND
(17,000 TONS)
Leaving San Francisco Feb. 6
Visiting famous cities and countries on a palatial steamship which serves as your hotel. Every luxury and comfort insured.
110 DAYS' CRUISE AT $6 a day and up, including all necessary expenses about and aboard ship, railway fares, hotel, guides, etc.; also railroad fares to and from your home, with the privilege of returning from Hamburg or S. S. Imperator.
Other Cruises to The West Indies and Panama Canal.
Write for illustrated booklet.
HAMBURG-AMERICAN LINE
150 West Randolph St., Chicago, Ill., or Local Agents.

The last two years the supply of copies of the Review and Chronological of the Gazette has been exhausted and many people have been disappointed. The price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c, and orders should be phoned or sent in to the office tonight.

Explanation.
"Mame said the idea of her mother bringing home a new husband made her tired." "I suppose that is why she would not go a step farther."—Baltimore American.

LEGAL NOTICES

STATE OF WISCONSIN.
County Court for Rock County.

Patrick Conway, Plaintiff, against C. M. Smith and Mrs. C. M. Smith, his wife, Ellen Ayres, George H. Ayres and Mrs. George H. Ayres, his wife, and Charles Ayres and Mrs. Charles Ayres, his wife, James Mills and Mrs. James Mills, his wife, and B. D. Mallory and Mrs. B. D. Mallory, his wife, and the heirs, devisees and representatives of all of the above named defendants, as the unknown owners of a strip of land containing two hundred and thirty-nine and one-half feet wide North and South of the South end of lot five (5) in Block (15) in the so-called Village of Footville, Rock County, Wisconsin, defendants.

The State of Wisconsin to the said defendants: You are hereby summoned to appear within twenty days after service of this summons, to defend the above entitled action in the Court aforesaid; and in case of your failure to do so, judgment will be rendered against you according to the demand of the complaint, of which a copy is herewith served upon you.

John Cunningham, Plaintiff's Attorney.
P. O. Address Janesville, Rock County, Wisconsin.

OFFICIAL NOTICE.
Annual Taxes.

Published by authority of the Council of the city of Janesville.

Office of the City Treasurer, Janesville, Wis., Dec. 16, 1912.

To Whom It May Concern: The tax rolls and warrant for collection of the taxes for the city and income taxes for the year 1912, are hereby laid for collection, and all persons interested are requested to make payment thereof at the office of the city treasurer in the city of Janesville on or before January 31st, 1913, or the same will be collected at the cost and expense of the persons liable for the payment of said taxes.

GEO. W. MUENCHOW,
Treasurer City of Janesville.

NOTICE OF HEARING.
STATE OF WISCONSIN.

County Court for Rock County.

In Probate Term of the County Court to be held in and for said County, at the Court House in the City of Janesville, in said County, on the third Tuesday, being the 21st day of January, 1913, at 9 o'clock, a. m., the following matter will be heard and considered: The application of Harry Bishop for the appointment of an Administrator of the estate of Harry Bishop, late of the City of Janesville, in said County, deceased. Dated December 10, 1912.

By the Court: J. W. SAIL,
County Judge.

Jeffrey, Mount, Oestrich & Ayers, Attorneys.

NOTICE OF HEARING.
STATE OF WISCONSIN.

County Court for Rock County.

In Probate Term of the County Court to be held in and for said County, at the Court House in the City of Janesville, in said County, on the third Tuesday, being the 14th day of January, 1913, at 9 o'clock, a. m., the following matter will be heard and considered: The application of Corny May Kramer for the appointment of an Administrator of the estate of Corny May Kramer, late of the City of Janesville, in said County, deceased. Dated December 13th, 1912.

By the Court: J. W. SAIL,
County Judge.

Whitehead & Matheson,
Attorneys for the Petitioner.

NOTICE OF HEARING.
STATE OF WISCONSIN.

County Court for Rock County.

In Probate Term of the County Court to be held in and for said County, at the Court House in the City of Janesville, in said County, on the first Tuesday, being the 7th day of January, 1913, at nine o'clock, a. m., the following matter will be heard and considered: The application of T. J. Birmingham for the appointment of an Administrator of the estate of T. J. Birmingham, late of the City

IF AN OX
TUMBLED WOULD A COWSLIP?

DIPPY DOPE

IF THE WASTE
BASKET CATCHES THINGS WOULD THE PITCHER PITCH?

MELT AWAY
We find that resolutions
That looked so fresh and nice
Are mostly always written On stuff resembling ice.

Where is another backsliff?

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janeville Daily Gazette, Dec. 28, 1892.—Brief Items: The circuit court will adjourn, tonight to meet the 2nd of January, when a short court session will end the present term.

Mineral Point parents are organizing a club room to keep their sons out of saloons. Janeville parents are more in favor of dispensing with a room to make use of a club to accomplish the same purpose.

The snow is badly drifted on the prairie roads. The edge of a snow storm gave us a few scattering flakes today.

John Watson finished filling his mammoth ice house this afternoon.

Chicago and Northwestern: (From the Railroad Gazette.) The rivalry which is likely to exist between this road and the Milwaukee & St. Paul, as soon as the latter company opens its road to this city, promises to make some improvement in the alignment of the former. The short section of 16 miles, which will connect Janeville, Wis., with Evansville, on the Madison division northwest of Janeville, straightens the line between this city and St. Paul, and this section of road is to be built promptly on the opening of spring, when, with the completion of the Madison extension, the company will have the most direct route to the capital of Minnesota. Iron manufacturers from Cleveland and St. Louis are in consultation with the officers of this road, in order to get branch lines constructed to their iron mines in the northern peninsula of Michigan, and this company proposes to foster the business as much as possible. The time is not far distant when there will be developed perhaps the greatest business in iron ore transportation in the world.

neglected in that way. There is nothing more consoling at the setting of the sun, when the evening bells are tolling, than the sense of duty done. And that solace cometh never to the man of backbone weak who postpones all sane endeavor till the middle of next week. Let us then be up and doing, with a heart, for any late, as the poet said, when "shooting acorns from his garden gate. Let us shake ourselves and borrow wisdom from the poet's lay; leaving nothing for tomorrow, doing all our chores today!

How many copies of the Review and Chronological edition do you want? Telephone your order to the Gazette Office tonight; the price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c.

Daily Thought.
A man should never be ashamed to own he has been in the wrong, which is but saying, in other words, that he is wiser today than he was yesterday.—Pope.

UNCLE WALT

The Poet Philosopher
Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams
BY WALT ADAMS

You are merely storing sorrow for the future, sages say, if you put off till tomorrow things which should be done today. When there is a job unpleasant that it's up to me to do, I attack it in the present, give to a whoop and push it through; then my mind is free from troubles, and I go before the fire popping corn or blowing bubbles, or a-whanging at my lyre. If I said: "There is no hurry—that old job will do next week," there would be a constant worry making my old brain-pan creak. For a man knows no enjoyment resting at the close of day, if he knows that some employment is

29 DECEMBER

IF TOMORROW IS YOUR BIRTHDAY.

Some opportunity for advancement is even now upon your horizon. Too much attention to the small annoyances of the present may prevent you from seeing it. A cool temper and an unprejudiced judgment will be your best allies.

Those born today will be nervous and faultfinding, and should not be whippers or indulged in selfish whims. Plain food and plain explanations of the ways of life will help them to bring their health and character up to the level of their mental qualities, which are high.

The last two years of the Review and Chronological of the Gazette has been exhausted and many people have been disappointed. The price is 5c per copy, 6 for 25c, and orders should be phoned or sent in to the office tonight.

Drives Off A Terror.

The chief executioner of death in the winter and spring months is pneumonia. Its advance agents are colds and grip. In any attack by one of these maladies no time should be lost in taking the best medicine obtainable to drive it off. Countless thousands have found this to be Dr. King's New Discovery. "Any husband believes it has kept him from having pneumonia three or four times," writes Mr. George W. Place, Rawsonville, Wis. "and for coughs, colds and croup we have never found its equal." Guaranteed for all bronchial affections. Price 50 cts., and $1.00. Trial bottle free at People's Drug Co.

THE DAILY NOVELETTE
THE STIPPLETIRE MYSTERY
(Synopsis of preceding chapters: Algernon Stippletire, third earl of Treestaple, has been greatly agitated by anonymous letters received each morning in the mails at his ancestral estate at Surrey, near Leicester, Pal Mall. Each letter is signed only with a black hand rudely drawn in charcoal, and each threatens the earl with death at the expiration of the month unless he deposit a thousand pounds, forty shilling and fourpence in a hollow post in Trafalgar Square, Piccadilly, Essex. Though the letters demand absolute secrecy under pain of death even before the expiration of the month, the earl calls in Evelyn McSpooter, the famous detective, who is said to know every crook in London by his first name and many by their last. McSpooter at once suspects the earl's new butler, whom he detects talking pure French to a pie woman at the back entrance to the palace. Clapping a pair of handcuffs on the fellow he takes him to the sunroom in the palace, where the earl is nervously playing a game of solitaire.)

CHAPTER 777V
FOILED
"Who are you, tell me?" cried the earl hoarsely, though it was well known about the palace that he did not have a cold.
"The pseudo butler leered horribly.
"I'm the guy that talked to the gal in Gallic," he hissed.
(The End.)

Blackening Aluminum.
To blacken aluminum alloy, states the Electrical Review, immerse the article in a boiling hot solution of caustic soda of 30 per cent. strength for a few seconds; wash off the excess of caustic, dry in sawdust and polish with a plumbago brush.

SHARON

Sharon, Wis., Dec. 27.—Miss Ida Burgess, who reaches at Preston, spent Christmas with Mrs. Fanny Arnold.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Herron of Clinton spent Christmas with Frank Shunk and family.

Miss Verna Goodrich of Shapere spent Christmas with her uncle, Charles Knilians, and family.

Miss Marjorie Hoard, who teaches at Kenosha, is spending the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Mary Hoard.

Miss Laura Brownson of Ellsworth, Wis., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Brownson.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Woolston of Clinton spent Christmas with Henry Gibbons and family.

Mrs. Ed. Gunning of Beloit is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Simerson.

Miss Grace Knilians was an out of town visitor last week.

Miss Maude Blodgett spent last Saturday giving violin lessons at Walworth.

Carl Fryer and wife of Woodstock spent Christmas with relatives here.

Feline Wisdom.
"If a man could only fall like a cat and land on his feet every time, this world would be a happier place." "No doubt; but if a man wouldn't take so many more chances than a cat does he wouldn't fall so often."

The Secret Terror.
The haunting fear of sickness and helplessness is the secret terror of the working man. The secret is his capital. Kidney diseases sap a man's strength and vitality. They lessen his earning capacity. Foley-Kidney Pills bring back health and strength by healing the disease. They are the best medicine made for kidney and bladder troubles. They act quickly and thoroughly. You can buy nothing better. John Mc Masters, Streator, Ill., says: "I feel better and a great deal stronger than I have for many years, and Foley-Kidney Pills did it." No harmful drugs. Badger Drug Co.

Home Workers Can Find a Ready Sale For Their Products By Using This Page

THE RATE FOR ADVERTISEMENTS in these classified columns is 1/2-cent a word cash each insertion. No order for less than 25 cents. The charge rate is 1 cent per word. Address can be given care of Gazette if so desired.

WANTED
MISCELLANEOUS.

I GUARANTEE satisfactory work with the Auto Vacuum Cleaner. Have taken the agency for "Absorbol," a preparation used by the best families of Janeville and is ahead of anything to brighten or restore rugs and carpets to color. F. H. Porter, New phone White 413. 12-16-3t

WANTED—Washings to do at home. Call New phone 920 Black. 12-23-4t

WANTED—If you want the best agency proposition ever offered wide awake canvassers, write us at once. Exclusive territory. The Wash Pottery Co., Roseville, O. 12-23-4t

WANTED—Client wishes to borrow $300.00 on real estate, 6 per cent. Carter & Morse. 12-26-3t

WANTED—Auto painting and repairing. Frank Broege, 212 Wall St., opposite City Hall. 12-27-16t

WANTED—By a lady hotel meat cook, a situation in country town. 12-24-5t

WANTED—Anyone thinking of purchasing Life Insurance or of changing what they have to investigate Northwestern Mutual Life Institute. F. A. Blackman, District Manager, 202 Jackson Building. 12-24-4t

WANTED—Everybody to dump ashes and dirt on the lot on northeast corner of Cornelia and Walker St. No tin cans, or sheet iron. 10-23-4t

WANTED—Farmers to buy their harness from T. R. Costigan. Best quality goods at lowest prices. 39-11t

WANTED--FEMALE HELP

WANTED—Twelve girls for general work and stitching. Steady employment. Good wages guaranteed beginners. Lewis Knitting Co. 12-23-4t

WANTED—Immediately hotel cook; second girl; girls for private houses and hotels. Old phone 420, New 760 White. 622 W. Milwaukee. 12-23-4t

WANTED—Middle-aged lady as housekeeper, for family of two. Apply in person, 1109 Sharon street. 12-27-3t

WANTED—Housekeeper. Man with three boys attending school. Inquire Old phone 1364. $15.00 per month. 12-27-3t

WANTED—Cook. European Hotel. 12-23-4t

WANTED—20 girls to size tobacco. John Soultman's Warehouse, 630 W. Milwaukee street, Janesville, Wis. 12-23-6t

WANTED—Two women sorters. Apply Shade Department, Hough Shade Corporation. 12-20-2t

WANTED—Thoroughly competent girl for general housework. Mrs. Richard Valentine, 220 South Second St. 12-19-1t

WANTED—Two women sorters. Apply Shade Department, Hough Shade Corporation. 12-20-2t

If you have real estate to sell try want ad as a solicitor

WANTED--MALE HELP

WANTED—Bright active boy 16 years or older. Thoroughgoing & Co. 12-26-3c

WANTED—18-year-old boy. Colvin's Baking Co. 12-27-3t

WANTED—A good delivery boy at once. Inquire Taylor Bros. 12-23-1t

WANTED—A janitor for Christ church and parish house. Apply at the rectory next to church. 12-25-3t

WANTED—Ambitious salesmen, neat appearance, call on merchants in their territory; elegant, solid, convenient to carry, good commissions, prompt remittance. Belmont Mfg. Co. Cincinnati, O. 12-23-1t

WANTED—Salesmen to sell new educational specialty to school boards. Exclusive territory. No competition. Liberal proposition. Union School Furnishing Company, 1034 W. Van Buren St., Chicago, Ill. 12-28-1t

LOCAL REPRESENTATIVE wanted. No canvassing or soliciting required. Good income assured. Address National Co-operative Realty Co., V-1290 Marden Building, Washington, D. C. 12-7-4tSat

WANTED—Men to chop pole wood. Inquire 107 Locust street. Bell phone 398. 12-27-3t

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—Furnished three room flat, also other rooms. 401 W. Milwaukee street. 12-28-3t

FOR RENT—Five room house No. 225 Park St. Enquire Dr. E. B. Loomis, 14 S. Main St. 12-28-4t

FOR RENT—Reasonably Pleasant front room with large closet. With or without part or all board. New phone red 688. 12-28-3t

FOR RENT—Warm modern furnished rooms near depots. 229 N. Jackson. New phone Blue 831. 12-28-5t

FOR RENT—Suite of modern heated furnished rooms for light house-keeping. 28 N. East street, phone 794 White. 12-28-2t

FOR RENT—Furnished housekeeping rooms. $7 per month. 152 Cherry street. 12-27-4t

FOR RENT—Half of double house centrally located, $9. Inquire 829 Milwaukee Ave. 12-27-3t

FOR RENT—Modern house on Main street, good location. Joseph Fisher, Hayes block. 12-26-3t

FOR RENT—Front upstairs room. Bath, heat and entirely modern. 338 So. Main street. 12-16-4t

FOR RENT—House and barn. Inquire Reilly's bakery. 12-13-4t

FOR RENT—Furnished room with bath. 212 So. Bluff street. 12-7-4t

FOR RENT—Furnished room. 415 No. Bluff street. 10-10-4t

FOR SALE
MISCELLANEOUS.

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE for what have you. Edison mimeograph. Prints 30 copies per minute. Price now $4. Can be seen at 319 W. Milwaukee street. 12-28-3t

WE HAVE NOTHING in the way of jewelry and watches that cannot be found in any up-to-date jewelry store. Our prices are lower. Price all. A. V. Lyle, 319 W. Milwaukee. 12-27-2t

FOR SALE—Sterilized. Best antiseptic on the market. Excellent for catarrh, colds, etc. Mrs. Duncan Whyte, 235 So. Main street. 12-27-0t

FOR SALE—Piano boxes, cheap, at Kimball's store. 12-26-3t

FOR SALE—A second-hand "Vose" piano in good condition. A bargain if taken at once. Kimball's store. 12-26-3t

FOR SALE—All household goods including stoves, furniture, dishes, etc. Call 1272 Old phone or 307 North Academy. 12-29-3t

FOR SALE—Two pair single bob sides. Good, safe, size 23x33, 40 inches high. Call 67 New phone. 12-26-3t

HOUSEHOLD GOODS, FOR SALE cheap. 111 Court street, flat No. 2. 12-26-3t

FOR SALE—One Freeman Feed Cutter, 16 inches. One G. H. P. Stover engine, in first class condition. Will sell cheap. Nitscher Implement Co. 12-23-6t

FOR SALE—Walnut parlor organ $4.00. A. V. Lyle, 319 W. Milwaukee. 12-24-5t

FOR SALE—One 4-roll McCormick shredder in good condition, cheap. Nitscher Implement Co. 12-23-6t

FOR SALE—Complete set of plumbing and pump tools, cuts thread from 1-4 to 3 inches. Inquire W. H. Smith, Lowell Hardware Store. 12-19-4t

FOR SALE—Two ice plows. City Ice Co., or call Old phone 1076, New phone 333. 12-7-1mo

FOR SALE—At St. Joseph's Convent a new set of Rosary beads, Medallions, Statues, Crucifixes and Prayer Books at reasonable prices. 12-6-4t

FOR SALE—$50. Eastman folding pocket film camera with tripod. Size 4 1/2x6 1/2. Has an exceptional lens. Price $25. Address "Camera" Gazette. 11-23-1t

FOR SALE—One S-H. P. Gasoline saw engine. Nitscher Implement Co. 12-23-6t

FOR SALE—All kinds of stoves at reasonable prices. Janesville Housewrecking Co., 54 So. River, Old phone 457, New phone 793 Red. 12-4-1mo

FOR SALE—Onions 75 cents bushel, cabbage 30 cents dozen. Will deliver. J. F. Newman, Both phones. 12-23-2t

FOR SALE—Fine home made candies. Janesville Candy Kitchen. Homsey Bros., Prop. 11-27-26t

FOR SALE—Lot of strong packing boxes at Gazette office. 12-23-2t

FOR SALE—All kinds of wood. Coal and coke. Willet T. Decker. 10-19-4t

FOR SALE—Heavy wrapping paper for laying under carpets. Gazette office. 9-27-4t

QUALITY CANDIES AT RAZOOK'S. 27-4t

FOR SALE--REAL ESTATE

TO THE MAN WITH THE PRICE, will sell best forty-five acres of land in Rock Co., Wis. H. H. Black. 12-26-3t

FOR SALE—574 acres partly improved, 3-4 mile river frontage, good soil, good crops. D. S. Walter, owner, Terry Mont. 12-26-wk10t

FOR SALE—Cherry street lot, 1300 block, Monterey, being lot 52, 3 1/2 times addition. Will sacrifice for cash, or sell on easy terms. Make an offer, buy at your own price. Might trade for something else. Have also Sacramento Valley farm and fruit lands to sell or exchange for local property. Call or write, R. C. Messner, Real Estate, Rockford, Ill. 12-26-3t

FOR SALE—Several well located homes in Janesville for sale on terms or will exchange for good Rock County farms. E. H. Peterson, Sutherland Block, Janesville, Wis. 12-23-1t

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE—Several choice 40 acre tracts, farms and timber lands. Address E. H. Peterson, Sutherland Block, Janesville, Wis. 10-14-4t

FOR SALE—A very good 210 acre farm in Rock county, all good soil. No. 1 buildings, good fences and owner will take a good house in part payment. John E. Kennedy, Sutherland Block. 12-11-4t

FOR SALE—574 acres partly improved, 3-4 mile river frontage, good soil, good crops. D. S. Walter, owner, Terry Mont. 12-26-10t

FOR SALE, OR EXCHANGE—125 acre farm located in the best tobacco belt, and agricultural district in Rock County at a price less than the market value of any of the surrounding farms. E. H. Peterson, Sutherland Block, Janesville, Wis. 12-23-4t

FOR SALE—Several choice Rock county farms well located and in size from 40 acres to 600 acres. E. H. Peterson, Sutherland Block. 12-4t

FOR SALE—General store and building in live country town doing good business; fine opening for right party. E. H. Peterson, Sutherland Block, Janesville. 10-14-4t

FOR SALE--LIVE STOCK
2,000 FARMERS READ THESE WANTED ADS.

FOR SALE—Horse and one half steam boiler and stationary engine with pulleys and belts in good working order. Just the thing for a small power. Inquire at 327 Terrace street. 12-28-3c

FOR SALE—Some good young cows to freshen soon. Inquire 107 Locust street. Bell phone 398. 12-27-3t

FOR SALE—Full blood Poland China hogs, two yearling sows. Pedigrees furnished. Chas. S. Maltby, Wisconsin phone 649. 12-5-TFS

FOR SALE—A good sound work horse. Inquire 107 Locust street. Bell phone 398. 12-27-3t

FOR SALE—Pony, trap and harness. Safe for children. Weight 600 lbs. C. W. Kemmerer. 12-26-3t

POULTRY

WANTED—At once, 100 chickens, ducks and geese. E. A. Strampe, old phone, 119; new, red 681. 12-26-3t

FOR SALE—Light Brahma cockerels, nice large birds, $1.00 each. Rose Comb White Leghorn cockerels, 75 cents each. New phone. W. C. Huginin R. F. D. 12-17-4t

FOR SALE—50 single comb White Leghorn hens and pullets at 75 cents each. New phone. W. C. Huginin. 12-14-4t

LOST

LOST—Kodak No. 2 A at Northwest-ern depot. Christmas Day. Finder return to Janesville Floral Co. 12-28-3t

LOST—Party bag marked "I. A. S.", containing fan, and silver chain. Finder please leave at Gazette Office. Reward. 12-27-2t

LOST—Bunch of keys between Schmidly Flats and Grubb Flats. Finder please return to Gazette office. 12-27-3t

LOST—Left at Flower Shop, first of this week, 4 packages. Owner may have same by calling and paying for this ad. 12-27-3t

LOST—Silver, open face watch, Elgin works. Finder please leave at this office and receive a reward. 12-26-3t

FOUND

FOUND—Small female bull dog wearing collar. Call Bell phone 542. 12-28-3t

MISCELLANEOUS

MONEY TO LOAN on real estate security. F. L. Clemmons, 205 Jackson Bldg. 51-1t

WILLOW RIVER, B. C.—Main line "G. T. P. and P. & H. B. Ry.," entrance great Peace River Country. Write Pa. Land & Townsites Co., Ltd., 86 Pac. Bldg., Vancouver, B. C., for maps, plots, printed matter. Agts. wanted. 12-26-5t

PIANO, TUNING AND repairing. Herbert W. Adams, 425 Center Ave., Both phones, 12-5-TFS-4 wks

HORSE SHOEING and general blacksmithing. E. J. Howland, near Doty's Mill. 12-20-31t

WANTED—Hahnemann Hospital of the City of Chicago, Training School for nurses, 2814 Groveland Ave., Chicago, Illinois, offers a three year course in Medical, Surgical and Obstetrical nursing to young women. A monthly allowance is made to accepted pupils. Address as above for circular of information. 12-14-12t

COAL, UNLOADED and ashes hauled at reasonable prices. New phone 371 Red. 12-29-1t

MONEY TO LOAN—Farm security, first mortgages. Phone 1403. 11-26-5t

HARDWARE
If it is good hardware McNamara has it.

Humphrey & Bauer
Real Estate, Loans, Fire Insurance, Collections and Rentals. 421 Hayes Bldg.

WINDOW GLASS.
We fill all orders for replacing broken windows and putting in new glass at once. No waiting. WM. HEMMING. S. Franklin St.

J. E. KENNEDY
Real Estate, Loans and Fire Insurance, Western Farm Lands a Specialty. SUTHERLAND BLOCK. Janesville, Wis.

BAKER'S BRONCHINE
THE RELIABLE COUGH CURE
25c a Bottle.
KEEP A BOTTLE IN THE HOUSE.
J. P. BAKER

ready for business consisting of 60 Barred Rock hens and pullets and 40 L. C. B. Leghorn hens. These hens are well bred and show good laying qualities. Also a number of good breeding cockerels in the following breeds from 75c to $2.00.
B. P. Rocks.
S. C. B. Minorcas.
S. C. R. I. Reds.
S. C. B. Leghorns.
1 nice pen R. C. B. Leghorns at $5. If you are looking for laying or breeding stock don't fail to look up these birds.
ALLAN G. WELCH
107 Locust St. Janesville, Wis. Bell Phone 398.

FOR SALE
80-acre farm, five miles from Janesville, good buildings, good soil. Owner will accept house and lot as first payment; balance 5 years time at 5 per cent interest.
JOSEPH FISHER.
Hayes block.

Auction Bills
The Printing Department of the Gazette is equipped with the very newest, latest type and material for producing auction sale bills. A well printed bill makes a better sale for you. Five line classified advertisement, free in the Daily Gazette with each order of bills.
GAZETTE PRINTING DEPT.

SCOTT & JONES,
REAL ESTATE AND LOANS
415 Hayes Block.
Rock Co. Phone 297.
Bell Phone 197.

NOTICE TO FARMERS AND TRAPPERS.
Highest prices paid for mink, skunk and muskrat and all other furs, hides and pelts.
L. E. KENNEDY.
Removed to 119 North Main St.

PRINTING
The Gazette Printing Department is equipped with:
Three Cylinder Presses, best machines made.
Three Platen Presses, One Embossing Press, Gilbert-Harris Zinc Overlay Outfit.
Four Linotype Machines, New Type Faces, Best Mechanics to be found anywhere.
And are in a position to produce the highest grade of printing at very moderate figures.
Books, catalogues, booklets, folders, stationery, in from one to three colors.
Any person who has any printing need or those interested in the production of high class work invited to see the splendid lot of samples of work produced in this department.
Estimates on work furnished. Call Rock County Phone 27 or Wisconsin, 77-4 rings and a representative will call on you.
Gazette Printing Co.
Printing Dept.

Travel
ALL ABOUT
WHERE TO GO
HOW TO GO
AND WHEN TO GO
AT THE GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU.
Folders, Time Tables, Official Guide.
ALL INFORMATION FREE FOR THE ASKING.
GAZETTE OFFICE.

PUBLIC NOTICE
Persons Answering Fraudulent Advertisements Asked to Notify Gazette.
The Gazette is desirous of keeping out of its columns fraudulent advertising and asks the assistance of its patrons to that end.
There are many number of concerns in the country who make a living through a nicely worded advertisement, offering golden opportunities, and these unscrupulous people find fertile ground for work among the masses.
Many orders are received in the Gazette mail for advertising which are returned as objectionable and where there is a question as to the qualifications the advertisement is omitted. All newspapers have this experience.
But even with the utmost care there will be an occasional advertisement which will pass the scrutiny of the business department of the paper and find its way into the columns.
The Gazette will deem it a favor if you will report to the office any trouble which may have been experienced through the answering of such an advertisement.

Let The Gazette Travel Bureau Assist You.
In making plans for travel this winter.
You can obtain time tables, folders and plenty of descriptive literature regarding travel to most any part of the country, or practically any part of the world, by calling at THE GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU for information regarding travel.

BRANCH OFFICE FOR GAZETTE AT BAKER & SON.
For the convenience of its patrons and the public generally, The Gazette has opened a branch office with the J. P. Baker & Son, Drug Store, corner West Milwaukee and Franklin streets.
Copy for classified advertisements orders for papers, subscriptions and matters of this nature, as well as items of news may be left at the Baker Drug store, and will receive the same prompt attention as if they were sent direct to the office.
Either telephone line, number 10, will reach the Baker Drug Store if it is desired to call them in connection with The Gazette's business.
Papers on sale each evening at the store.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—But anyway Mother knows more about gems now than she did before.

MOLLY McDONALD

A TALE OF THE FRONTIER

By RANDALL PARRISH
Author of "Keith of the Border," "My Lady of Doubt," "My Lady of the South," etc., etc.

Illustrations by J. L. Barnes

COPYRIGHT 1912 BY A. C. MCCLURE & CO.

CHAPTER VI.

The Condition in the Coach.

Mechanically—scarcely conscious of the action—the Sergeant slipped fresh cartridges into the hot rifle chamber, swept the tumbled hair out of his eyes with his shirt sleeve, and stared into the night. He could hardly comprehend yet that the affair was ended, the second attack repulsed. It was like a delirium of fever; he almost expected to see those motionless bodies outstretched on the grass spring up, yelling defiance. Then he gripped himself firmly, realizing the truth—it was over with for the present; away off there in the haze obscuring the river bank those indistinct black smudges were fleeing savages, their voices wailing through the night. Just in front, formless, huddled where they had fallen, were the bodies of dead and dying, smitten ponies and half-naked men. He drew a deep breath through clenched teeth, endeavoring to distinguish his comrades.

The interior of the coach was black,

All He Really Knew Was That Those Devils Were Coming, Leaping, Crowding.

and soundless, except for some one's swift, excited breathing. As he extended his cramped legs to the floor he touched a motionless body. Not until then had he realized the possibility of death also within. He felt downward with one hand, his nerves suddenly throbbing, and his finger touched a cold face—the Mexican. It must have been that last volley, for he could distinctly recall the sharp bark of Gonzales' revolver between his own shots.

"The little devil," he muttered soberly. "It was a squarer death than he deserved. He was a game little cock."

Then he thought of Moylan, wondering why the man did not move, or speak. That was not like Moylan. He bent forward, half afraid in the stillness, endeavoring to discover space on the floor for both his feet. He could perceive now a distant star showing clear through the ragged opening jabbed in the back of the coach, but no outline of the sutler's burly shoulders.

"Moylan!" he called, hardly above a whisper. "What is the trouble? Have you been hit, man?"

There was no answer, no responding sound, and he stood up, reaching kindly over across the seat. Then he knew, and felt a shudder run through him from head to foot. Bent double over the iron back of the middle seat, with hands still gripping his hot rifle, the man hung, limp and lifeless. Almost without realizing the act, Hamlin lifted the heavy body, laid it down upon the cushion, and unclasped the dead fingers gripping the Winchester stock.

"Every shot gone," he whispered to himself dazedly, "every shot gone! Ain't that hell!"

Then it came to him in a sudden flash of intelligence—he was alone.

better to tell her frankly. "He was shot, and is beyond our help. But come," and he reached over and took her hand, "you must not give up now." She offered no resistance, but sat motionless, her face turned away. Yet she knew she trembled from head to foot, the reaction mastering her. A red tongue of flame seemed to slit the outside blackness; there was a single sharp report, echoing back from the bluff, but no sound of the striking bullet. Just an instant he caught a glimpse of her face, as she drew back, startled.

"Oh, they are coming again! What shall we do?"

"No," he insisted, still retaining her hand, confident in his judgment. "Those fellows will not attempt to rush us again tonight. You must keep cool, for we shall need all our wits to get away. An Indian never risks a night assault, unless it is a surprise. He wants to see what he is up against. Those bucks have got all they want of this outfit; they have no reason to suppose any of us were hit. They are as much afraid of us as we are, but when it gets daylight, and they can see the shape we're in, then they'll come yelling."

"But they can lie out there in the dark and shoot," she protested. "That shot was aimed at us, wasn't it?"

"I reckon it was, but it never got here. Don't let that worry you; if an Indian ever hits anything with a gun it's going to be by pure accident." He stared out of the window. "They're liable to bang away occasionally, and I suppose it is up to us to make some response just to tell them we're awake and ready. But they ain't firing."

(To be continued.)

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Rejoice, for fortune favors you, and blessings will fall on your pathway. Some cause in which you are interested will gain favor and advance materially.

Those born today will have high ambitions and the ability to realize them. They will be helped by some of their relatives and hindered by others. Fits of deep depression will sometimes seize them and they will need the influence of some one who can encourage them at these times.

The last two years the supply of copies of the Review and Chronological of the Gazette has been exhausted, and many people have been disappointed. The price is 50¢ per copy, 6 for 25¢, and orders should be phoned or sent in to the office tonight.

"Have to Guess the Distance," He Muttered in Explanation.

ing expecting to do damage—only to attract attention while they haul off their dead. There's a red snake yonder now creeping along in the grass—see!"

"No," hysterically, "it is just black to me."

"You haven't got the plainsman's eyes yet. Watch, now; I'm going to stir the fellow up."

He leaned forward, the stock of the Henry held to his shoulder, and she clutched the window-casing. An instant the muzzle of the rifle wavered slightly, then steadied into position.

"Have to guess the distance," he muttered in explanation, and pulled the trigger.

There was a light flash, a sharp ringing report, a yell in the distance, followed by the sound of scrambling. Hamlin laughed, as he lowered his gun.

"Made him hump, anyway," he commented cheerfully. "Now what comes next?"

"I-I do not know," she answered, as though the question had been asked her, "do you?"

Somehow she was not as frightened as she had been. The calm steady coolness of the man was having its natural effect, was helping to control her own nerves. She felt his strength, his confidence, and was beginning to lean upon him—he seemed to know exactly what he was about.

"Well, no, honestly I don't; not yet," he returned, hesitating slightly. "There is no use denying we are in a mighty bad hole. If Moylan hadn't got shot we might have held out till help arrived; I've got about twenty cartridges left; but you and I alone never could do it. I've got to think it out, I reckon; this has been a blind fight so far; nothing to it but blazing away as fast as I could pull trigger. Now, maybe, I can use my brains a bit."

She could not see him, but some instinct led her to put out her hand and

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS

On the Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Dr. Linscott For the International Press Bible Question Club.

Copyright, 1911, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.

Dec. 29, 1912.

[Copyright, 1912, by Rev. T. S. Linscott, D. D.]

REVIEW.

Golden Text—If any man willeth to do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself. John vii:17.

The following questions may be used as an original lesson or as a review of the twelve preceding lessons.

The date and title of each lesson, where found, Golden Text, and one question from each lesson follow.

Oct. 6. Jesus Walking on the Sea. Mark vi:45-50. Golden Text—Straightway Jesus spake unto them, saying, Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid. Matt. xiv:27.

(1) Verses 47-48—Why is it that God permits contrary winds and tumultuous seas in the experience of so many of his children?

Oct. 13. Clean and Unclean. Mark vii:1-23. Golden Text—For the Kingdom of God is not meat and drink, but righteousness and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost. Rom. xiv:17.

(2) Verses 24—What evil effects are brought about by useless forms and ceremonies?

Oct. 20. Mission to the Gentiles. Mark vii:24-30; Matt. vii:5-13. Golden Text—He that cometh to me I will in no wise cast out. John vi:37.

(3) Verses 25-26—What difference is there if any between the natural heart hunger for God of an educated heathen and of an educated Christian?

Oct. 27. Wanderings in Decapolis. Mark vii:31—viii:10. Golden Text—He hath done all things well; he maketh both the deaf to hear and the dumb to speak. Mark viii:27.

(4) Verse 36—Why did Jesus want this miracle kept secret?

Nov. 3. The Sign and the Leaven. Mark viii:1-21. Golden Text—Jesus spake unto them, saying, I am the light of the world; he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life. John viii:12.

(5) Verse 11—How do you account for the fact that religious differences generally stir much antagonism?

Nov. 10. World's Temperance Sunday. Hos. vii. Golden Text—Woe unto them that rise up early in the morning that they may follow strong drink; that tarry late into the night, till wine inflame them. Isa. vi:11.

(6) Verse 7—In these days how many good, God-fearing men are there that use wine as a beverage?

Nov. 17. The Great Question. Mark vii:27—ix:1. Golden Text—Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God. Matt. xvi:16.

(7) Verse 31—Was it God's original purpose or not, and why, that the Jews should reject and crucify Jesus? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Nov. 24. The Transfiguration. Mark ix:2-13. Golden Text—A voice came out of the cloud, saying, This is my son, my chosen; hear ye him. And when the voice came, Jesus was found alone. Luke ix:35.

(8) Verse 4—Would you say or not, and why, that the spirits of the dead are sometimes seen and conversed with today?

Dec. 1. The Lunatic Boy. Mark ix:14-20. Golden Text—And Jesus said unto him, If thou canst! All things are possible to him that believeth. Mark ix:23.

(9) Verse 15—What is the reason that the person and the name of Jesus have such fascination for people today?

Dec. 8. The Child in the Midst. Matt. xviii:1-14. Golden Text—In heaven their angels do always behold the face of my Father which is in heaven. Matt. xviii:10.

(10) Verses 2-3—From Jesus' estimate of a child would you say that all children are members of the kingdom of heaven? Why?

Dec. 15. Forgiveness. Matt. xviii:15-25. Golden Text—Be ye kind one to another, tender-hearted, forgiving each other, even as God also in Christ forgave you. Eph. iv:32.

(11) Verse 17—What should be our personal attitude to those who will insist upon doing us injury?

Dec. 22. Christmas Lesson. Isa. ix:1-7. Golden Text—Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given. Isa. ix:6.

(12) Verse 2—What is the great light which finally came to the Jews and to the world?

Lesson for Sunday, Jan. 5, 1913. The Creation. Gen. i:1—ii:3.

Popular Sun Bath.

The sun bath is said to be so popular at present in Germany that in several cities one can buy a ticket for a sun bath just as in America one buys a ticket for a bath in the surf.

The sun bath ticket entitles the holder to a room for disrobing, a bathing suit and a "place in the sun."

Convincing Testimony

Given by Many Janesville People. Experiences told by Janesville people.

Those who have had weak kidneys—Who used Doan's Kidney Pills—Who found the remedy effective—Such statements prove merit.

You might doubt an utter stranger. You must believe Janesville people. Here's Janesville proof. Verify it. Read. Investigate. Be convinced. You'll find why Janesville folks believe in Doan's.

Mrs. William Mohr, 310 N. Academy St., Janesville, Wis., says: "About two years ago I had an attack of kidney trouble and at that time I got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at the People's Drug Co. The use of only two boxes cured me. Other members of my family have taken Doan's Kidney Pills with satisfactory results and I therefore know this remedy to be a reliable one. I gladly confirm my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. They permanently rid me of kidney complaint and during the past two years I have had no further need of a kidney medicine."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's and take no other.

Proof. "Does he love his wife?" "Devotedly. If he held out as much as a nickel of his salary his conscience would hurt him so he couldn't sleep."

LIVER PILLS

Sugar-coated and all vegetable. Dose, only one pill at bedtime. For constipation, bilious headache, indigestion. Ayer's Pills. Sold for 60 years. Ask Your Doctor.

Piano Tuning

RALPH R. BENNETT.

1047 Park Ave. Beloit, Wis.

PLAYER PIANO EXPERT

Leave orders at Baker's Drug Store.

Professional Cards

DR. EDITH BARTLETT

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON

Office hours 1 P. M. to 5 P. M.

Both Phones in office. Residence phone 973.

B. H. WARREN, M. D.

DISEASES OF DIGESTION,

407 Jackson Bldg.

Janesville, Wis.

EDWIN HOLDEN

MECHANOTHERAPIST

322 Hayes Bldg.

Dry hot air, vibro and light therapy combined with mechanotherapy.

Special Appointments.

Hours: 9-12 A. M., 2-5 P. M.

Office Phone, Bell 83. Residence 592.

OSTEOPATHY

DR. K. W. SHIPMAN

402 Jackson Bldg.

Office: Residence:

Black 224. New Red 924. Old, 281

Office Hours: 9 to 12 a. m.; 2 to 5 p. m.

Evenings and Calls by Appointment.

Office Phone, Bell 83. Residence 592.

DR. Wm. H. McGUIRE

304 Jackson Block

Janesville, Wis.

G. M. LARSON

MECHANOTHERAPIST

Electric Light Bath, Turkish Bath,

Mechanical treatments.

Ladies every Tuesday, and every forenoon except Saturday.

Phone Red 485. 109 S. Main St.

Travel

ALL ABOUT

WHERE TO GO

HOW TO GO

AND WHEN TO GO

AT THE GAZETTE

TRAVEL BUREAU.

Folders, Time Tables,

Official Guide.

ALL INFORMATION FREE

FOR THE ASKING.

GAZETTE OFFICE.

FLORIDA

There is no better time to go than now and there is no better way to go than via Chicago, Cincinnati, Chattanooga and Lookout Mountain, the most interesting scenic route.

There is no better train to take than the

CHICAGO-FLORIDA LIMITED

Leaves Chicago . . . 11:55 p. m.

Sleepers ready for occupancy 9:30 p. m.

Arrives Jacksonville . . . 8:40 a. m.

Second morning following.

A solid electric-lighted through train with the latest departure from Chicago, insuring connection with trains of all other lines from the North and West and arriving Jacksonville in time to connect with trains for all Florida points.

New York Central Lines

Big Four Route

in connection with

Queen & Crescent Route and Southern Railway

For tickets and all information apply to your local agent, or call on our address

J. R. Hurley, General Agent Passenger Department

New York Central Lines

102 Wisconsin Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin

Stanton Curtis, Northwestern Passenger Agent

Southern Railway

56 West Adams Street, Chicago, Illinois

COAL DEALERS

USE POCHONTAS FOR KITCHEN STOVE OR FURNACE. ONE TRIAL WILL CONVINCE

P. H. QUINN

Peoples Coal Co. Wood, Coal and Coke

S. Soverhill, Pres. E. M. Calkins, V. Pres.

S. B. Heddles, Sec. Treas.

Phones

Bell 133

Black 965

Phones

Bell 2061.

New 293.

Merchants and Manufacturers

WILL find it profitable to their business, as well as beneficial to Janesville, which will be given wide-spread publicity through use of liberal space in the Big Chronological Edition of the Gazette

To Be Issued Tuesday, December 31st.

This edition will be a retrospective of the year containing a record of the births, deaths, marriages, fires, as well as a chronological review of the important events of Janesville for the last year with a review of the important news of the year. It will be profusely illustrated and will contain many interesting features.

The Chronological number is looked forward to with interest by thousands of people and by many it is kept as reference.

Extra copies can be obtained at this office for 5c each, mailed to any address in the United States or Canada for the same price. Orders for extra copies should be placed in advance.

Janesville's interests are at heart in this big edition. Janesville's industries should be well represented.

No Advance in Advertising Rates

Regardless of the large extra circulation that will be given this particular issue there will be no advance in the advertising rates. Regular card rates will apply.

Copy for advertisements should be received at this office not later than Monday afternoon.